CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS.

Mr. CLAPP. I introduce a bill and ask that it be read.

The bill (S. 7647) to limit the use of campaign funds in presidential and national elections was read the first time by its title and the second time at length, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That hereafter it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, association, or committee, or any officer or agent of any person, firm, corporation, association, or committee, to send any money or other thing of value from any State or Territory of the United States to any person, firm, corporation, association, or committee in any other State or Territory of the United States, including the District of Columbia, or from any insular possession of the United States to any person, firm, corporation, association, or committee in any State or Territory of the United States, including the District of Columbia, to be used or expended for and on behalf of the nomination or election of a President or Vice President of the United States, or of any Member of the House of Representatives or any Member of the United States Senate: Provided, That this act shall not apply to the payment of bills incurred by a national campaign committee in the fitting out and maintenance of speaking campaigns by a candidate for the office of President or Vice President where a train is fitted out and maintained by the national committee; nor shall it include the transportation and hotel expenses of speakers sent out by a national committee, the expenses of literature distributed by a national committee, advertisements marked as such paid for by a national committee, or campaign funds raised for and sent to a national committee properly reported as required by law.

SEC. 2. Any person violating the provisions of the foregoing section shall, upon conviction thereof, be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by imprisonment of not less than six months nor more than one year.

Mr. CLAPP. I ask that the bill be referred to the subcommittee of the Committee on Privileges and Elections created under resolutions 79 and 386 of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. It will be so referred, without objection.

Mr. CLAPP. Mr. President, I simply desire at this time to say that the bill is aimed to meet the vice of gathering funds in large centers and in sending them to distant States to influence presidential, congressional, and senatorial elections.

It recognizes the continued existence of the national committee. It recognizes the right of the national committee to receive money from any portion of the country and to use those funds in the maintenance of speakers, literature, and advertising.

It would seem, of course, as though there were many exceptions to the general prohibition. These exceptions are included so as to leave it in the hands of the committee to use the funds for these specified purposes and at the same time to prevent the gathering of large sums in money centers and sending those sums to distant States and Territories.

I have no pride of opinion in the expressions of the bill. I have introduced it, and those who take an interest in the subject may consider the bill, and perhaps as the result of consideration and discussion the bill may be materially perfected.

AMENDMENT TO DEFICIENCY APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. CLAPP submitted an amendment proposing to pay the balance due the depositors of the Freedmen's Savings & Trust Co., intended to be proposed by him to the general deficiency appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Education and Labor and ordered to be printed.

OMNIBUS CLAIMS BILL.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The morning business is closed.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I ask that the Senate may resume consideration of House bill 19115, known as the omnibus claims bill.

There being no objection, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the bill (H. R. 19115) making appropriation for payment of certain claims in accordance with findings of the Court of Claims, reported under the provisions of the acts approved March 3, 1883, and March 3, 1887, and commonly known as the Bowman and the Tucker Acts.

Mr. OLIVER. I offer proposed amendments to the pending bill.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The amendments will lie on the table until they are reached in order.

Mr. TOWNSEND. I desire to offer an amendment to the pending bill, to be inserted after line 22, page 264.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair is informed that there is now a pending amendment. The Senator from Michigan will withhold his amendment until that is disposed of. The pending amendment is the amendment offered by the Senator from Alabama [Mr. JOHNSTON].

Mr. JOHNSTON of Alabama. I ask the Senator from South Dakota if he has had an opportunity to examine the amendment?

Mr. CRAWFORD. I understood the Senator to say that he offered it with a view to having it printed, so that we might examine it, and I expected the printed copy to be here this morning. I understand that it proposes to repeal a general statute, and is hardly within the scope of this bill.

Mr. JOHNSTON of Alabama. It is exactly within the scope of the bill, because it repeals the statute as to longevity pay only. But if the Senator from South Dakota desires to wait until the printed amendment comes in I shall be perfectly content with that course.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The amendment has been printed. There is a copy of the amendment at the desk.

Mr. JOHNSTON of Alabama. The Senator from South Dakota asks that the amendment be again printed?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. It is now in print.

Mr. CRAWFORD. This amendment was proposed by the Senator from Alabama, I think, before the close of the last session.

Mr. JOHNSTON of Alabama. Yes.

Mr. CRAWFORD. And at that time it was printed. I presume the copy offered yesterday was one of the old copies, printed last spring. The committee in charge of the bill never considered the amendment as printed and offered at the last session. They had no opportunity to do that, because, as I recollect it, the bill had gone through consideration by the committee and the report was all made up and printed, if not actually made when the Senator from Alabama offered the amendment; so it was never considered by the committee. I had not even remembered that it had been proposed until the Senator offered it again yesterday. Whether we have enough old copies to go around I do not know, but the committee have lost track of it. It did not come into their possession until after they acted on the bill and made their report. I suggested yesterday that it be again printed, so that copies could be furnished to the Members, and I expected to find a copy on my desk this morning, but have not done so.

I do not feel that under those circumstances the committee as a committee can accept the amendment. It has not been considered by the committee. Its purpose is to repeal some statute that has not been considered at all, and it seems to me it would be better to have it presented as an independent proposition and considered as such.

Mr. JOHNSTON of Alabama. Independent of this bill?

Mr. CRAWFORD. Independent of this bill.

Mr. JOHNSTON of Alabama. It is directly in line with this bill. It carries a repeal of that section so far as the items preceding it in this bill are concerned.

Mr. CRAWFORD. What I am seeking to do is to avoid, so far as it is possible to do so, subjects that may involve us in differences and in debate. If we get many such questions in here in connection with the consideration of the bill, I shall have a good deal of doubt about our getting it through.

I do not express any opinion whatever as to the merits of the amendment proposed by the Senator from Alabama, but I do say that it repeals an existing statute. I have not had an opportunity to see that existing statute. It could, it seems to me, more properly be considered if it was presented as an independent proposition to repeal that statute, and it should be considered as an independent bill. Otherwise I do not know how much discussion it may provoke or what it may open up in the way of debate. On that account, I do not feel like consenting.

Mr. JOHNSTON of Alabama. Mr. President, I want to say that this is a modified repeal of section 3480. It has been heretofore passed twice by the Senate as an independent proposition; first, on the 8th of March, 1907; and, again, on the 1st of April, 1908. So the Senate has fully considered the matter in a broader sense than it is offered here to-day, because it is only offered to-day in connection with this longevity pay.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Mr. President, would the Senator from Alabama kindly state in a few words the nature of the amendment and just what it is intended to repeal?

Mr. JOHNSTON of Alabama. I shall be glad to do that. Section 3480 requires the accounting officers to refuse to audit the claims that arose prior to April 13, 1861, which covered all the longevity pay of officers of the Army. Amongst those officers of the Army were a number who went South on the breaking out of hostilities. This amendment simply proposes to repeal that section so far as those officers are concerned. It has no operation upon any others.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I will ask the Senator from Alabama if, as to every officer who was in the Confederate Army and who had taken the military course at West Point, it would not establish the precedent that all of them should come in and receive what we call the longevity allowance, and if it would not involve an expenditure, according to my recollection as to what the Senator from Alabama stated yesterday, of $190,000?

Mr. JOHNSTON of Alabama. Something like that.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Mr. President, that simply means that we are opening the door to the allowance of claims amounting to at least $100,000. It is a matter of conjecture whether it would be $100,000 or a good deal more than $100,000. Without saying one word against the merit of the proposition—it may be that this should be done—I do not believe that, without the matter having been considered by the committee and without its coming in under any existing law, we ought, in considering this bill, to repeal a statute of that kind. If the Senate has acted on it once or twice it may act upon it favorably again; but it seems to me that it would be better to have an independent bill dealing with that repeal standing alone and have it acted upon by this body.

Mr. JOHNSTON of Alabama. Mr. President, the Senator from South Dakota has properly said that this amendment applies only to officers of the Army who resigned and went South to take part in the war between the States. This bill opens the door to all those who remained in the Army. The question of loyalty has long since passed out, and most of those officers are dead and the money will go to their children. It involves a small amount of money—a little over $100,000—and applies to no other class in the world. I do not see why we should hesitate here to grant to these officers for the services they rendered the United States before they retired from the Army the pay that was due them under the laws of the United States.

Mr. CULLOM. I have amendments for two longevity claims at the desk, not from the South, but from the North.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. WORKS in the chair). There is an amendment pending at the present time.

Mr. CULLOM. I supposed that amendment had been objected to for the present.

Mr. JOHNSTON of Alabama. I am willing for it to lie over for the present until the printed amendment comes in. I shall then insist upon the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Illinois [Mr. CULLOM] offers an amendment, which will be stated.

Mr. CULLOM. I suppose there will be no objection to these longevity claims.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I hope the Senator from Alabama [Mr. JOHNSTON] will not urge his amendment in connection with this bill. I say that not as one unfriendly, but because I do not think it is fair to the committee, the matter never having been before the present committee in any form. The former bills on this subject were not before the committee and never have been considered by it. I do not think it is fair to the committee to have the amendment put in with this vast number of claims, upon which we have acted at the expenditure of a great deal of time and labor. If the amendments proposed by the Senator from Illinois [Mr. CULLOM] cover longevity claims that have been reported by the Court of Claims—

Mr. CULLOM. Both of them have been so reported.

Mr. CRAWFORD. If they are exactly the same as those allowed yesterday, I shall not object to them.

Mr. CULLOM. They are exactly the same.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I ask that they be read.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The first amendment proposed by the Senator from Illinois will be read.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I desire also that the findings of the Court of Claims be read.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment proposed by the Senator from Illinois will first be stated.

The SECRETARY. On page 263, after line 9, under the heading "Illinois," it is proposed to insert:

To Susan Dye Baylies, daughter and only surviving child of William McEntire Dye, deceased, late of the United States Army, and Pearl Walter Dye, widow and sole legatee of John Henry Dye, deceased, who was a son of said William McEntire Dye, $1,616.72, to be proportioned as follows:

To Susan Dye Baylies, of Chicago, Ill., $1,077.81.

To Pearl Walter Dye, $538.91.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I ask that the findings of the Court of Claims be read.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Secretary will read as requested.

The Secretary read as follows:

FINDINGS OF FACT.

I. The claimant Susan Dye Baylies is the daughter and only living child of William McEntire Dye, who died intestate in November, 1899, and Pearl Walter Dye is the widow and sole heir under the will of John Henry Dye, a deceased son of said William McEntire Dye. Said John Henry Dye died in April, 1903, leaving a will by which he bequeathed all his property, real and personal, to his widow, Pearl Walter Dye, who is still living. He left no children. Annette M. Dye, the only other child of said William McEntire Dye, died intestate in March, 1904, never having been married and leaving as her sole heir her sister, the said Susan Dye Baylies. The widow of said William McEntire Dye died in 1901.

II. Claimant's decedent, William McEntire Dye, was during his lifetime an officer in the United States Army, having entered the Military Academy as a cadet July 1, 1849. He graduated therefrom and was appointed brevet second lieutenant of Infantry July 1, 1853; was promoted to second lieutenant, Eighth Infantry, November 9, 1854; first lieutenant, February 1, 1856; captain, May 14, 1861; and major, January 14, 1866, and was discharged at his own request September 30, 1870. He served as colonel Twentieth Iowa Infantry from August 1, 1862, to July 26, 1865.

III. Said decedent was paid his first longevity ration from July 1, 1858, and one additional ration for each five years subsequent thereto, and third 10 per cent increase from July 15, 1870.

Under the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S., 80) said decedent would be entitled to additional longevity allowances, as reported by the Auditor for the War Department, amounting to $1,616.72, which would be divided two-thirds ($1,077.81) to Susan Dye Baylies and one-third ($538.91) to Pearl Walter Dye.

Chief Clerk Court of Claims.

Mr. CRAWFORD. That is satisfactory. The amendment comes within the rule.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the amendment proposed by the Senator from Illinois [Mr. CULLOM], which has just been read.

The amendment was agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The next amendment proposed by the Senator from Illinois will be stated.

The SECRETARY. It is also proposed, on page 263, after the amendment just adopted, to insert:

To Thomas J. Medill, of Rock Island, administrator de bonis non of the estate of Thomas J. Rodman, deceased, $2,113.54, as reported by the Court of Claims in House Document No. 850, Sixty-second Congress, second session.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Now I desire that the Secretary read the findings in that case.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Secretary will read as requested.

The Secretary read as follows:

FINDINGS OF FACT.

I. The claimant is the duly appointed administrator de bonis non of the estate of Thomas J. Rodman, late brigadier general, United States Army.

II. The claimant's intestate entered the United States Military Academy as a cadet July 1, 1837; was appointed brevet second lieutenant of ordnance July 1, 1841; promoted first lieutenant March 3, 1847; captain, July 1, 1855; major, June 1, 1863; lieutenant colonel, March 7, 1867; and died June 7, 1871, at Rock Island Arsenal, Ill.

III. Claimant's intestate was paid his first longevity ration from July 1, 1846, and one additional ration for each five years subsequent thereto. December 22, 1890, the accounting officers of the Treasury disallowed his claim for longevity increase on account of service as a cadet at the Military Academy.

IV. Under the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S., 80) said claimant would be entitled to additional allowance, as reported by the Auditor for the War Department, as follows:

|---|----------|
| First longevity ration, July 1, 1842, to June 30, 1846  | $292.20 |

| Sixth longevity ration, July 1, 1867, to July 14, 1870  | 333.00   |

Making a total of ----- 2,183.60

ARCHIBALD HOPKINS,
Chief Clerk Court of Claims.

Mr. CRAWFORD. The committee will accept that amendment, Mr. President.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. TOWNSEND. I now ask that the amendment which I proposed be stated.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment proposed by the Senator from Michigan will be stated.

The SECRETARY. On page 264, after line 22, under the head of "Michigan," it is proposed to insert:

To Sophie M. Guard, executrix of Alexander McCook Guard, deceased, late of the United States Army, $1,499.58.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Secretary will read the findings in that case.

The Secretary read as follows:

FINDINGS OF FACT.

I. The claimant, Sophie M. Guard, is a citizen of the United States, residing in Chippewa County, State of Michigan, and is the widow and executrix of Alexander McCook Guard, late an officer in the United States Army.

II. Said decedent, Alexander McCook Guard, entered the United States Military Academy as a cadet July 1, 1866. He was graduated therefrom June 12, 1871, and was appointed second lieutenant, Nineteenth United States Infantry, but did not take the oath of office until August 10, 1871, at which time he was still on graduating leave. He was promoted to be first lieutenant March 20, 1879; captain, February 20, 1891; was placed on the retired list with the rank of major September 8, 1899, and died July 19, 1905.

III. Said decedent was paid his first longevity increase from June 12, 1876, and each subsequent longevity increase was made to commence at intervals of five years following that date. In a settlement by the accounting officers of the Treasury June 29, 1885, he was allowed longevity increase under the Morton and Tyler decisions counting his cadet service from February 24, 1881, and no longevity increase for cadet service prior to that date was allowed by said officers.

IV. Claimant's decedent was paid the difference between the pay of a captain and major, amounting to $784.03, for exercising the command of a major by reason of seniority from June 12, 1898, to March 29, 1899, and this amount would not now, under the act of March 3, 1911 (36 Stats., 1039), be deducted by the accounting officers of the Treasury from any amount found due on account of longevity pay.

V. If the accounting officers of the Treasury now had jurisdiction to settle this claim for longevity allowances there would be deducted from any amount found due the following sums, to wit:

|  |          |

VI. Under the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S., 80) said decedent's longevity periods should begin on the following dates: First period, July 1, 1871; second period, July 1, 1876; third period, July 1, 1881; fourth period, July 1, 1886; and the difference between the amounts actually paid to him and the amounts to which he would be entitled under said decision is $1,642.72, from which would be deducted the $143.14 referred to in Finding V, leaving a balance of $1,499.58.

If the amount paid to decedent for difference in pay of a captain and major for exercising higher command by reason of seniority, amounting to $784.03, as set forth in Finding IV, should be deducted from any amount found due on account of longevity pay, the balance would be $715.55.

VII. In June, 1908, a claim was filed with the accounting officers of the Treasury for longevity pay for the period prior to February 24, 1881, in accordance with the decision in the Watson case, but same was not considered for the reason that a previous settlement had been made. The claim was presented to the Sixtieth Congress, and Senate bill 6998, for the relief of the claimant herein, was by resolution of the United States Senate referred to this court under the provisions of the Tucker Act, and said claim was given docket No. 13318, congressional, and was afterwards consolidated with the present claim.

Except as above stated, the claim was never presented to any officer or department of the Government prior to its presentation to the Sixty-second Congress and reference to this court as hereinbefore set forth, and no evidence is adduced to show why claimant did not earlier prosecute said claim.

CONCLUSION.

Upon the foregoing findings of fact the court concludes that the claim herein, not having been filed for prosecution before any court within six years from the time it accrued, is barred. The claim is an equitable one against the United States in so far as they received the benefit of the services of said decedent while a cadet at the Military Academy, which service the Supreme Court, in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S., 80), decided was service in the Army.

Mr. CRAWFORD. There is no objection to that amendment. The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. JOHNSON of Maine. I offer the amendment which I send to the desk.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be stated.

The SECRETARY. On page 263, after line 20, it is proposed to insert:

To George Lemuel Turner, of Portland, Me., $654.61.

Mr. CRAWFORD. What is the last paragraph of the findings of fact in that case.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Secretary will read.

The Secretary read as follows:

FINDINGS OF FACT.

I. The claimant herein was officer in the United States Army, having been appointed a cadet at the United States Military Academy July 1, 1870. He graduated therefrom and was appointed second lieutenant Eighteenth United States Infantry June 17, 1874, promoted to be first lieutenant January 16, 1884, and was dismissed November 20, 1890.

II. In the settlement of said claimant's account by the accounting officers of the Treasury he was paid first longevity increase from June 17, 1879, and he was also paid longevity increase for the period from February 24, 1881, to June 30, 1884, and thereafter, but said officers refused to count the service of said claimant as a cadet at the Military Academy in computing longevity pay and allowances for service prior to February 24, 1881.

III. Under the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S., 80) said claimant's first longevity increase should begin July 1, 1875, and the difference between the amounts actually paid to him and the amount to which he was entitled under said decision is $654.61.

Mr. CRAWFORD. The committee will accept the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the amendment is agreed to.

Mr. JOHNSON of Maine. At the request of the junior Senator from New York [Mr. O'GORMAN], I offer the amendments which I send to the desk, being claims for longevity pay, together with the findings of the court.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I ask that the amounts be read and then the findings, without all the details.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The first proposed amendment will be stated.

The SECRETARY. On page 209, after line 4, it is proposed to insert:

To Frank H. Fletcher, $61.52.

To Octavia Cavendy, widow of Joseph S. Cavendy, $73.44.

Mr. CRAWFORD. There are two cases there?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There are two cases.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Are they both longevity claims or are they overtime claims for work in navy yards? I inquire if the Senator from Maine knows.

Mr. JOHNSON of Maine. The information I have is that they are all for longevity pay.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair is informed that they are for longevity pay.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I ask that the findings of the court be read.

The Secretary proceeded to read from the findings of the Court of Claims.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I think this is an overtime navy-yard claim, but it has the same merit.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Secretary will continue to read the findings, as requested.

The Secretary resumed and concluded the reading, as follows:

FINDINGS OF FACT.

I. Between the 21st day of March, 1878, and the 22d day of September, 1882, the claimants herein or their decedents, and each of them, were in the employ of the United States in the navy yard at Brooklyn, N. Y., during which time the following order was in force:

Circular No. 8.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
Washington, D. C., March 21, 1878.

The following is hereby substituted, to take effect from this date, for the circular of October 25, 1877, in relation to the working hours at the several navy yards and shore stations:

The working hours will be—

From March 21 to September 21, from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m.; from September 22 to March 20, from 7.40 a. m. to 4.30 p. m., with the usual intermission of one hour for dinner.

The departments will contract for the labor of mechanics, foremen, leading men, and laborers on the basis of 8 hours a day. All workmen electing to labor 10 hours a day will receive a proportionate increase of their wages.

The commandants will notify the men employed, or to be employed, of these conditions, and they are at liberty to continue or accept employment under them or not.

R. W. THOMPSON,
Secretary of the Navy.

II. Said claimants and each of them or their decedents while in the employ of the United States as aforesaid worked on the average the number of hours set opposite their respective names in excess of 8 hours a day and at the wages below stated, to wit:

No. 89. Frank H. Fletcher:

150 hours at $1.76 per day.

131 hours at $1.78 per day, and 2½ hours less than 8 hours a day at $1.76 per day.

No. 101. Joseph S. Cavendy:

132 hours at $2.76 per day.

77 hours at $3 per day, and 2½ hours less than 8 hours a day at $2.76 per day.

III. If it is considered that 8 hours a day constituted a day's work during the period from March 21, 1878, to September 22, 1882, under said Circular No. 8, then the claimants or their decedents have been underpaid as follows:

Frank H. Fletcher, $61.52.

Octavia Cavendy, widow of Joseph S. Cavendy, $73.44.

IV. The claims herein were never presented to any department or officer of the Government prior to the presentation to Congress and reference to this court as hereinbefore set forth, and no evidence is adduced to show why said claimants did not earlier prosecute their claims.

CONCLUSION.

Upon the foregoing findings of fact the court concludes that the claims herein are not legal ones against the United States, and are equitable only in the sense that the United States received the benefit of the services of said Frank H. Fletcher and said Joseph S. Cavendy in excess of 8 hours a day as above set forth.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the amendment is agreed to.

The next amendment, submitted by Mr. JOHNSON of Maine for Mr. O'GORMAN, was stated by the Secretary as follows:

On page 266, after line 5, it is proposed to insert:

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Secretary will read:

III. Under the principle of the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S., 80), and the decision of this court in the case of Stewart v. United States (No. 20810, 34 C. Cls. |  |          |
|--|----------|
| First additional ration from May 31, 1866, to Dec. 2, 1866       | $93.00  |

| Fourth 10 per cent increase from Oct. 25, 1875, to June 18, 1878 | 795.00   |

From which the following should be deducted:

Revenue tax

$47.50

Amount paid by settlement 6196 of Sept. 10, 1883

Leaving a balance of

From a debit and credit statement of claimant's account he is entitled to an additional credit of $7.53 for short payments of pay and allowances during his service, which sum, added to the above-named balance, makes $3,351.29.

To Maria T. Knox, administratrix cum testamento annexo of the estate of George T. Balch, deceased, of Troy, $1,017.66.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I ask that the findings of the court be read.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Secretary will read as requested.

The Secretary read as follows:

FINDINGS OF FACT.

I. Claimant's decedent, George Thatcher Balch, was during his lifetime an officer in the United States Army, having entered the United States Military Academy as a cadet July 1, 1847. He graduated therefrom and was appointed second lieutenant July 1, 1851; promoted to be first lieutenant July 1, 1854; captain, November 1, 1861, and resigned to take effect December 1, 1865.

II. In the settlement of his accounts the accounting officers of the Treasury allowed said decedent his first longevity ration from July 1, 1856, and one additional ration for each subsequent five years, and made no allowance in computing his longevity allowances for his services as a cadet at the Military Academy.

III. Under the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S., 80) said decedent would be entitled to additional allowances, as reported by the Auditor for the War Department, amounting to $1,137.96, from which would be deducted the sum of $120.30 due by him to the United States, leaving a balance of $1,017.66.

Mr. MARTINE of New Jersey. Mr. President, I present a similar amendment for longevity pay, together with the findings of the court.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be stated. The SECRETARY. On page 263, after line 2, it is proposed to insert:

To the Washington Loan & Trust Co., administrator of the estate of James W. Cuyler, deceased, of Washington, $2,431.89.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I ask that the findings of fact be read.

The Secretary read as follows:

FINDINGS OF FACT.

I. The claimant, the Washington Loan & Trust Co., of the District of Columbia, is the duly appointed administrator of the estate of James W. Cuyler, deceased, who, during his lifetime, was an officer in the United States Army, having entered the Military Academy as a cadet July 1, 1860. He graduated therefrom and was appointed first lieutenant of Engineers June 13, 1864; was promoted to be captain March 7, 1867; major, July 17, 1881; and died April 16, 1883.

II. Said decedent was paid his first longevity ration June 13, 1869, and one additional ration for each five years subsequent thereto, and by settlements of the accounting officers of the Treasury, in 1884 and 1885, he was allowed longevity increase under the Tyler and Morton decisions.

Under the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S., 80) said decedent would be entitled to additional allowances, as reported by the Auditor for the War Department, amounting to $2,444.67, from which would be deducted overpayment of $12.78, leaving a balance of $2,431.89.

III. The claim was presented to the accounting officers of the Treasury at various times and was disallowed in 1883, 1884, 1885, and again in 1910. Except as above stated, the claim was never presented to any officer or department of the Government prior to the presentation to Congress and reference to this court as hereinbefore set forth.

CONCLUSION.

Upon the foregoing findings of fact the court concludes that the claim herein, not having been filed for prosecution before any court within six years from the time it accrued, is barred.

The claim is an equitable one against the United States in so far as they received the benefit of the services of said decedent while a cadet at the Military Academy, which service the Supreme Court, in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S., 80), decided was service in the Army.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be stated.

The SECRETARY. On page 153, after line 12, under the heading "District of Columbia," it is proposed to insert:

Alfred C. Cassell, $223.38.

Mr. CRAWFORD. What is the finding?

Mr. GALLINGER. The finding is precisely as in the other cases.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Very well; the committee accepts the amendment.

Mr. GALLINGER. I ask that the findings be inserted in the RECORD without reading.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I ask that in each of these cases the clause of the findings which gives the amount be inserted in the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, that order will be entered. The findings in the case covered by the last amendment will be inserted in the RECORD.

The matter referred to is as follows:

FINDINGS OF FACT.

I. Between the 21st day of March, 1878, and the 22d day of September, 1882, the claimant herein was in the employ of the United States in the navy yard at Washington, D. C., during which time the following order was in force:

Circular No. 8.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
Washington, D. C., March 21, 1878.

The following is hereby substituted, to take effect from this date, for the circular of October 25, 1877, in relation to the working hours at the several navy yards and shore stations:

The working hours will be—
From March 21 to September 21, from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m.; from September 22 to March 20, from 7.40 a. m. to 4.30 p. m., with the usual intermission of one hour for dinner.

The departments will contract for the labor of mechanics, foremen, leading men, and laborers on the basis of eight hours a day. All workmen electing to labor 10 hours a day will receive a proportionate increase of their wages.

The commandants will notify the men employed, or to be employed, of these conditions, and they are at liberty to continue or accept employment under them or not.

R. W. THOMPSON,
Secretary of the Navy.

II. Said claimant, while in the employ of the United States as aforesaid, worked on the average the number of hours set opposite his name in excess of eight hours a day, and at the wages below stated, to wit: 533½ hours, at $1.50 per day; 231½ hours, at $1.75 per day; 145½ hours, at $2 per day.

III. If it is considered that eight hours constituted a day's work during the period from March 21, 1878, to September 22, 1882, under said Circular No. 8, then the claimant has been underpaid the sum of $223.38.

IV. The claim was never presented to any officer or department of the Government prior to the presentation to Congress and reference to this court as hereinbefore set forth, and no evidence is adduced to show why claimant did not earlier prosecute his said claim.

CONCLUSION.

Upon the foregoing findings of fact the court concludes that the claim herein is not a legal one against the United States, and is equitable only in the sense that the United States received the benefit of the services of said claimant in excess of eight hours a day as above set forth.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the amendment offered by the Senator from New Hampshire is agreed to.

Mr. STONE. I offer the amendment I send to the desk.

MISSOURI.

To Simon Lyon, administrator of the estate of John A. Campbell, deceased, of Kansas City, $785.66.

To Martha R. Hitchcock, widow and executrix of Ethan Allen Hitchcock, deceased, of St. Louis, $754.79.

To Louis J. Garesche, of Washington, administrator of the estate of Julius P. Garesche, deceased, $1,366.11.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Is each one of these a longevity case?

Mr. STONE. Each is a longevity claim. I have sent the findings of the court to the desk. These claims are in the exact condition of those which have been accepted by the committee.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Is there a finding in each case?

Mr. STONE. In each case. They are exactly on a par, I will say to the Senator, with the other claims of this kind.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I want the record made complete; that is all.

Mr. STONE. I ask that the report in each case be printed in the RECORD.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I will ask that the reports be printed, and I will not detain the Senate in asking that they be read. But I will state that after they have been printed I will inspect them, and if I find any reason for doing so, I shall move to strike out any item that I may find erroneous.

Mr. STONE. That is all right, but I can not see why the Senator from South Dakota can not say now what the committee will do. He has done so in every other instance.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Certainly. I simply mean to save the time which would be consumed by having the finding in each case read. I certainly do not mean any reflection upon the Senator from Missouri.

Mr. STONE. I give the Senator from South Dakota the assurance that they are on that exact line.

Mr. CRAWFORD. If there is any error, I want the privilege of making the motion to strike out.

Mr. STONE. What disposition is now to be made of the amendment?

Mr. CRAWFORD. The committee is willing to accept it in that way.

Mr. STONE. That is all I ask.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the amendment will be adopted and the reports indicated will be printed in the RECORD.

The reports are as follows:

[House Document No. 803, Sixty-second Congress, second session.]

SIMON LYON, ADMINISTRATOR.

LETTER FROM THE ASSISTANT CLERK OF THE COURT OF CLAIMS TRANSMITTING A COPY OF THE FINDINGS FILED BY THE COURT IN THE CASE OF SIMON LYON, ADMINISTRATOR OF THE ESTATE OF JOHN A. CAMPBELL, DECEASED, AGAINST THE UNITED STATES.

COURT OF CLAIMS, CLERK'S OFFICE,
Washington, May 31, 1912.

HON. CHAMP CLARK,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

SIR: Pursuant to the order of the court, I transmit herewith a certified copy of the findings of fact filed by the court in the aforesaid cause, which case was referred to this court by the Committee on War Claims, House of Representatives, under the act of March 3, 1883, known as the Bowman Act.

I am, very respectfully, yours,

JOHN RANDOLPH,

Assistant Clerk Court of Claims.

[Court of Claims. Congressional, No. 15062: Simon Lyon, administrator of the estate of John A. Campbell, v. The United States.]

STATEMENT OF THE CASE.

The claim in the above-entitled case for arrears of increase of pay due on account of the services of John A. Campbell in the United States Army was transmitted to the court by the Committee on War Claims of the House of Representatives on the 12th day of January, 1912.

The case was brought to a hearing on its merits on the 1st day of April, 1912.

Lyon & Lyon appeared for the claimant and the Attorney General, by George M. Anderson, his assistant, and under his direction, appeared for the defense and protection of the United States.

The claimant in his petition makes the following allegations:

That he is a citizen of the United States and a resident of the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, and is the administrator of the estate of John A. Campbell, who died while serving in the United States Army on the 29th day of October, 1875.

That the aforesaid John A. Campbell, deceased, entered the military service of the United States as a cadet at the Military Academy on the 29th day of October, 1863; appointed second lieutenant June 17, 1867, Second United States Artillery; first lieutenant July 24, 1874, which grade he held until his death on the aforesaid date, and by reason of such service is entitled to longevity pay, computing the time he served at the Military Academy as a cadet, in accordance with the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States as laid down in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S. Rep., p. 80) and United States v. Tyler (105 U. S. Rep., p. 244), which has never been paid to the deceased officer or his heirs.

That application for such longevity increase pay was made to the accounting officers of the Treasury Department by Sophia B. Campbell, his widow, then and now residing at Kansas City, Mo., but said claim was disallowed on the 13th day of July, 1896, on the ground "service as a cadet under the existing laws and decisions can not be counted in computing longevity pay and allowances for services prior to February 24, 1881," contrary to the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States in the cases of Watson and Tyler above stated.

Application was again made for same longevity increase pay in accordance with the decision of the Comptroller of the Treasury in the case of Alexander O. Brodie (14 Comp. Dec., p. 795), but this application was disallowed on the 27th day of September, 1909, on the ground that there was no authority of law to reopen an adverse settlement made by a predecessor, irrespective of the fact that the law now favors the settlement of this class of cases.

That there is due the claimant under the law as decided by the Supreme Court of the United States in the cases of United States v. Watson and Tyler, above stated, the following amount of longevity increase pay:

|   |          |
|---|----------|
| First longevity ration, Oct. 19, 1868, to July 14, 1870-----      | $190.20 |
| First 10 per cent increase, July 15, 1870, to June 16, 1872-----  | 269.11   |
| Second 10 per cent increase, Oct. 19, 1872, to Oct. 29, 1875----- | 336.17   |

|                                |        |
|--------------------------------|--------|
| Total-----                     | 795.48 |
| Less internal-revenue tax----- | 9.82   |

Leaving net amount due officer----- 785.66

That the court, upon the evidence and after considering the briefs and arguments of counsel upon both sides, makes the following FINDINGS OF FACT.

I. Claimant's decedent, John A. Campbell, after having served as an enlisted man in the Fifth and Third Missouri Infantry, was appointed a cadet in the United States Military Academy and entered same October 19, 1863. He graduated therefrom and was appointed second lieutenant, Second Artillery, June 17, 1867; was promoted first lieutenant July 24, 1874, and died October 29, 1875.

II. In the settlement of said decedent's accounts by the accounting officers of the Treasury he was paid his first longevity increase from June 17, 1872.

Under the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S., 80) he would be entitled to additional longevity allowances as follows:

|   |          |
|---|----------|
| First longevity ration, Oct. 19, 1868, to July 14, 1870-----      | $190.20 |
| First 10 per cent increase, July 15, 1870, to June 16, 1872-----  | 269.11   |
| Second 10 per cent increase, Oct. 19, 1872, to Oct. 29, 1875----- | 336.17   |

|            |        |
|------------|--------|
| Total----- | 795.48 |

from which should be deducted $9.82 internal-revenue tax, leaving a balance of $785.66.

BY THE COURT.

MARTHA R. HITCHCOCK, EXECUTRIX.

LETTER FROM THE ASSISTANT CLERK OF THE COURT OF CLAIMS, TRANSMITTING A COPY OF THE FINDINGS FILED BY THE COURT IN THE CASE OF MARTHA R. HITCHCOCK, WIDOW AND EXECUTRIX OF ETHAN ALLEN HITCHCOCK, DECEASED, AGAINST THE UNITED STATES.

COURT OF CLAIMS, CLERK'S OFFICE,
Washington, May 31, 1912.

Hon. CHAMP CLARK,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

SIR: Pursuant to the order of the court, I transmit herewith a certified copy of the findings of fact filed by the court in the aforesaid cause, which case was referred to this court by the Committee on War Claims of the House of Representatives, under the act of March 3, 1883, known as the Bowman Act.

I am, very respectfully, yours,

JOHN RANDOLPH,
Assistant Clerk Court of Claims.

[In the Court of Claims. Congressional, No. 15078. Martha R. Hitchcock, widow and executrix of Ethan Allen Hitchcock, v. The United States.]

STATEMENT OF THE CASE.

The claim in the above-entitled case for arrears of increase of pay due on account of the services of Ethan Allen Hitchcock in the United States Army, was transmitted to the court by order of the Committee on War Claims of the House of Representatives on the 30th day of January, 1911.

The case was brought to a hearing on its merits on the 1st day of April, 1912.

Lyon & Lyon appeared for the claimant, and the Attorney General, by George M. Anderson, his assistant and under his direction, appeared for the defense and protection of the United States.

The claimant in her petition makes the following allegations:

That she is a citizen of the United States and at this time residing in the city of Washington in the District of Columbia, and is the widow and executrix of Ethan Allen Hitchcock, who deceased August 5, 1870.

That the aforesaid Ethan Allen Hitchcock, deceased, entered the military service of the United States as a cadet at the Military Academy on the 11th day of October, 1814; promoted third lieutenant, Corps Artillery, July 17, 1817; second lieutenant, Eighth Infantry, February 13, 1818; first lieutenant, October 31, 1818; regimental adjutant, July, 1819, to June 1, 1821; transferred to First Infantry, June 1, 1821; regimental adjutant, July 16, to September 16, 1821; captain, December 31, 1824; major, Eighth Infantry, July 7, 1838; lieutenant colonel Third Infantry, January 31, 1842; colonel Second Infantry, April 15, 1851; resigned October 18, 1855; major general, Volunteers, February 10, 1862; honorably mustered out October 1, 1867; died August 5, 1870, and by reason of such service is entitled to longevity pay computing the time he served at the Military Academy as a cadet in accordance with the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States as laid down in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S. Rept., p. 80) and United States v. Tyler (105 U. S. Rept., p. 244), which has never been paid to the deceased officer or his heirs.

That application for such longevity increase pay was made to the accounting officers of the Treasury Department, but said claim was disallowed on the 20th day of November, 1890, on the ground "service as a cadet under the existing laws and decisions can not be counted in computing longevity pay and allowances for services prior to February 24, 1881," contrary to the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States in the cases of Watson and Tyler above stated.

Application was again made for same longevity increase pay in accordance with the decision of the Comptroller of the Treasury in the case of Alexander O. Brodie (14 Comp. Dec., p. 795), but this application was disallowed on the 20th day of April, 1909, on the ground that there was no authority of law to reopen an adverse settlement made by a predecessor, irrespective of the fact that the law now favors the settlement of this class of cases.

That there is due the claimant under the law as decided by the Supreme Court of the United States in the cases of United States v. Watson and Tyler above stated, the following amount of longevity increase pay:

|  |          |
|--|----------|
| Fifth longevity ration, Oct. 11, 1839, to July 16, 1842-----   | $202.00 |
| Sixth longevity ration, Oct. 11, 1844 to July 16, 1847-----    | 201.80   |
| Seventh longevity ration, Oct. 11, 1849, to July 16, 1852----- | 202.00   |
| Eighth longevity ration, Oct. 11, 1854, to Oct. 18, 1855-----  | 74.60    |
| Ninth longevity ration, Mar. 2, 1867, to Oct. 1, 1867-----     | 64.20    |
| Longevity increase on travel pay-----                          | 14.10    |

|               |        |
|---------------|--------|
| Less tax----- | 758.70 |
| Balance-----  | 3.91   |

That the deceased officer was loyal to the United States throughout the War of the Rebellion, he having served in the United States Army through the entire period of said rebellion, and the claimant was born subsequent to said War of the Rebellion.

The court, upon the evidence and after considering the briefs and arguments of counsel upon both sides, makes the following FINDINGS OF FACT.

I. Claimant's decedent, Ethan Allen Hitchcock, during his lifetime was an officer in the United States Army, having entered the United States Military Academy as a cadet on October 11, 1814. He graduated therefrom and was appointed a third lieutenant, Corps of Artillery, July 17, 1817; promoted to be second lieutenant, February 13, 1818; first lieutenant, October 31, 1818; captain, December 3, 1824; major, Eighth Infantry, July 7, 1838; lieutenant colonel, January 31, 1842; colonel, April 15, 1851, and resigned October 18, 1855.

II. In the settlement of said decedent's longevity pay and allowances the accounting officers of the Treasury refused to count the time he served as a cadet at the Military Academy.

III. Under the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S., 80) there would be due to said decedent the sum of $754.79.

LOUIS J. GARESCHÉ, ADMINISTRATOR.

LETTER FROM THE ASSISTANT CLERK OF THE COURT OF CLAIMS, TRANSMITTING A COPY OF THE FINDINGS FILED BY THE COURT IN THE CASE OF LOUIS J. GARESCHÉ, ADMINISTRATOR OF J. P. GARESCHÉ, DECEASED, AGAINST THE UNITED STATES.

COURT OF CLAIMS, CLERK'S OFFICE,
Washington, May 31, 1912.

Hon. CHAMP CLARK,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

SIR: Pursuant to the order of the court, I transmit herewith a certified copy of the findings filed by the court in the aforesaid cause, which case was referred to this court by the Committee on War Claims, House of Representatives, under the act of March 3, 1883, known as the Bowman Act.

I am, very respectfully, yours,

JOHN RANDOLPH,
Assistant Clerk Court of Claims.

[Court of Claims of the United States. Congressional, No. 15529. Louis J. Garesché, administrator of Julius P. Garesché, deceased, v. The United States.]

STATEMENT OF CASE.

The claim in the above-entitled case for longevity pay, alleged to be due on account of the service of said decedent in the United States Army, was transmitted to the court by the Committee on War Claims of the House of Representatives on the 18th day of August, 1911, under the act of March 3, 1883, known as the Bowman Act.

The case was brought to a hearing on its merits on the 8th day of May, 1912.

Richard R. McMahon, Esq., appeared for the claimant, and the Attorney General, by George M. Anderson, Esq., his assistant and under his direction, appeared for the defense and protection of the interests of the United States.

The claimant in his petition makes the following allegations:

That he is a citizen of the United States, residing in Washington, D. C., and is the duly appointed administrator of Julius P. Garesché, late a lieutenant colonel, United States Army.

That said Julius P. Garesché entered the United States Military Academy as a cadet July 1, 1837; was appointed second lieutenant Fourth United States Artillery July 1, 1841; first lieutenant June 18, 1846, and served as such until February 14, 1856; brevet captain and assistant adjutant general November 9, 1855; brevet major and assistant adjutant general May 14, 1861; major and assistant adjutant general August 3, 1861; lieutenant colonel July 17, 1862; he was killed at the battle of Stone River, Tenn., December 31, 1862.

That during the period of the service of said Julius P. Garesché the following statutory provision respecting longevity pay was in force:

"That every commissioned officer of the line or staff, exclusive of general officers, shall be entitled to receive one additional ration per diem for every five years he may have served or shall serve in the Army of the United States." (Act of July 5, 1838, sec. 15, 5 Stat. L., p. 258.)

In the settlement of said decedent's accounts the accounting officers of the Treasury did not count his service at the Military Academy from July 1, 1837, to July 1, 1841, in computing his longevity allowances.

That upon the construction of the act of July 5, 1838, by the Supreme Court of the United States, in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S., 80), application was made to the proper accounting officers of the Treasury for a settlement of the longevity pay and allowances due claimant's decedent in accordance with said decision, and, under the rulings then in force, said claim was disallowed October 18, 1890.

That upon the revocation of the ruling of the comptroller that service as a cadet could not be counted in computing longevity pay and allowances, May 18, 1908, the claimant made application to the accounting officers of the Treasury for settlement of the longevity pay and allowances due under the act of July 5, 1838, but, January 14, 1909, the Auditor for the War Department refused to reconsider the settlement of 1890.

That by this action of the accounting officers there has been withheld from claimant's decedent the sum of $1,500 which is justly due.

That the claim has not been assigned or transferred, in whole or in part, and that claimant has all his life been loyal to the Government of the United States.

The court, upon the evidence and after considering the briefs and arguments of counsel on both sides, makes the following

FINDINGS OF FACT.

I. The claimant is the duly appointed administrator of the estate of Julius P. Garesché, late an officer of the Army of the United States.

II. Claimant's decedent entered the United States Military Academy as a cadet July 1, 1837; was graduated therefrom and appointed second lieutenant Fourth Artillery July 1, 1841; first lieutenant, June 18, 1846; brevet captain and assistant adjutant general, November 9, 1855; brevet major and assistant adjutant general, May 14, 1861; major and assistant adjutant general, August 3, 1861; lieutenant colonel and assistant adjutant general, July 16, 1862; and was killed at the battle of Stone River, Tenn., December 31, 1862.

III. In the settlement of said decedent's accounts by the accounting officers of the Treasury he was paid on account of longevity periods as follows: First period, from July 1, 1846; second period, from July 1, 1851; third period, from July 1, 1856; fourth period, from July 1, 1861. November 17, 1890, said accounting officers, under their then existing ruling, refused to count the service of said decedent at the Military Academy in computing his longevity pay and allowances after he became a commissioned officer.

IV. Under the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S., 80), said decedent's longevity periods should begin on the following dates: First period, July 1, 1842; second period, July 1, 1847; third period, July 1, 1852; fourth period, July 1, 1857; fifth period, July 1, 1862; and the difference between the amounts paid him and the amounts to which he was entitled under said decision for said periods is as follows:

|   |          |
|---|----------|
| First longevity ration, July 1, 1842, to June 30, 1846  | $292.20 |
| Second longevity ration, July 1, 1847, to June 30, 1851 | 292.20   |
| Third longevity ration, July 1, 1852, to June 30, 1856  | 292.20   |
| Fourth longevity ration, July 1, 1857, to June 30, 1861 | 438.30   |
| Fifth longevity ration, July 1, 1862, to Dec. 31, 1862  | 55.20    |

|  |          |
|--|----------|
| Making a total of                            | 1,370.10 |
| From which the following should be deducted: |          |
| Revenue tax                                  | $1.10   |
| Other debits of pay and allowances           | 2.89     |
|  | 3.99     |

Mr. CRAWFORD. I will say the same in reference to these claims. I will not detain the Senate by asking to have the findings read. I will ask that the findings in each case be printed, and I will accept the amendments on behalf of the committee with the understanding that after the findings are printed, if, on looking them over, I find any error, I reserve the privilege of calling up the matter.

Mr. CURTIS. I offer an amendment to be inserted on page 233, under the heading "Kansas."

The SECRETARY. On page 233, after line 17, it is proposed to insert:

KANSAS.

To regents of the University of Kansas, $20,000.

Mr. CURTIS. I have sent for the findings of fact in that case, and I hope the chairman will permit the amendment to go in.

Mr. CRAWFORD. If the committee should accept these amendments which have not been before the committee, on all divers and sundry claims, we never would get through. My recollection is, although I am not sure about it, that this claim has been before the committee, and the action of the committee was adverse. What is the title?

Mr. CURTIS. It is for the relief of the State University of Kansas on account of the destruction of the Free State Hotel in the city of Lawrence.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Yes.

Mr. CURTIS. It was reported by the committee four years ago, and the chairman is right; it has been before this committee, but I think no action was taken.

Mr. CRAWFORD. No; the action of this committee was against putting it in the bill.

Mr. SMOOT. It was an adverse report.

Mr. CRAWFORD. It was an adverse report.

Mr. CURTIS. I desire leave to print the findings in the RECORD. I have sent for them; and if there is no objection, I should like to have them printed.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does the Senator from Kansas withdraw the amendment for the present?

Mr. CURTIS. No, sir; I do not. I ask for a vote on it.

Mr. CRAWFORD. If I can find it, I think there is a report against the proposed amendment. Unless the Senator from Kansas desires to debate it—I know it has been considered by the committee and the decision of the committee was adverse—I will ask the Senate to sustain the committee in rejecting it.

If the Senator desires to debate it, I will get the records and discuss it.

Mr. CURTIS. I do not think it is necessary to debate it. I want to print the findings in the RECORD. I am perfectly willing to submit the question on a viva voce vote. Whatever the Senate wants to do about it it may do. We discussed the bill five years ago very thoroughly, and of course if the committee has acted unfavorably on the measure—

Mr. CRAWFORD. It has.

Mr. CURTIS. It is likely that the Senate would sustain the committee. I do not think they are right in it. I think they ought to pay this claim.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I call for a vote on the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the amendment proposed by the Senator from Kansas.

The amendment was rejected.

Mr. CURTIS. Let the findings of fact be printed in the RECORD.

The findings of fact are as follows:

FINDINGS OF FACT.

I. The claimant, the regents of the University of Kansas, is a corporation created under the laws of the State of Kansas, and was such corporation on the 17th day of February, 1897, and is a State institution for the higher education of young men and women of the State of Kansas who are sufficiently prepared for university work. It has no commercial features and is supported in the main by appropriation made by the Legislature of Kansas. It has also a small income from an endowment fund, receives the proceeds of sale of certain public lands, and has some income from small fees paid by the students of the university.

II. On the 21st day of May, 1856, the New England Emigrant Aid Co. was a corporation duly organized and existing by virtue of an act of the Legislature of the State of Massachusetts and was the owner in fee simple of lots 21 and 23 on Massachusetts Street, city of Lawrence, Territory of Kansas, on which it had theretofore erected and then owned a certain hotel structure with necessary outbuildings, known as the Free State Hotel, or Eldridge House, which building, exclusive of its furniture and exclusive of the land upon which it stood, was reasonably worth the sum of $20,000.

III. On the 5th day of May, 1856, Judge Lecompte convened the United States district court at the town of Lecompton, State of Kansas, and delivered a charge to the grand jury of that court, a portion of which was as follows:

"This Territory was organized by an act of Congress, and so far its authority is from the United States. It has a legislature elected in pursuance of that organic act. This legislature, being an instrument of Congress, by which it governs the capital territory, has passed laws. These laws, therefore, are of the United States authority and making, and all that resist these laws resist the power and authority of the United States, and are therefore guilty of high treason. Now, gentlemen, if you find that any persons have resisted these laws, then you must, under your oaths, find bills against such persons for high treason."

After having been charged by the judge as aforesaid, the grand jury made the following presentation on the said 5th day of May, 1856:

"The grand jury, sitting for the adjourned term of the first district court in and for the county of Douglas, in the Territory of Kansas, beg leave to report to the honorable court that from evidence laid before them, showing that the newspaper known as the Herald of Freedom, published at the town of Lawrence, has from time to time issued publications of the most inflammatory and seditious character, denying the legality of the Territorial authorities, addressing and commanding forcible resistance to the same, demoralizing the popular mind and rendering life and property unsafe, even to the extent of advising assassination as a last resort.

"Also, that the paper known as the Kansas Free State has been similarly engaged, and has recently reported resolutions of a public meeting in Johnson County, in this Territory, in which resistance to the Territorial laws, even unto blood, has been agreed upon; and that we respectfully recommend their abatement as a nuisance.

"Also, that we are satisfied that the building known as the Free State Hotel, in Lawrence, has been constructed with a view to military occupation and defense, regularly parapeted and portoled for the use of cannon and small arms, and could only have been designed as a stronghold of resistance to law, thereby endangering a public safety and encouraging rebellion and sedition in the country, and respectfully recommend that steps be taken whereby this nuisance may be removed.

"OMER C. STEWART, Foreman."

A search of the records of the said district court, as they have been preserved, was made by one of the witnesses during the year 1906, but said search failed to disclose that any warrant or process of any kind was issued against the said Free State Hotel by reason of said presentment or indictment so found by the grand jury.

IV. On the 11th day of May, 1856, United States Marshal J. B. Donelson issued the following proclamation:

PROCLAMATION.

To the people of Kansas Territory:

Whereas certain judicial writs of arrest have been directed to me by first district court of United States, etc., to be executed within the county of Douglas; and

Whereas an attempt to execute them by the United States deputy marshal was violently resisted by a large number of citizens of Lawrence; and as there is every reason to believe that any attempt to execute these writs will be resisted by a large body of armed men:

Now, therefore, the law-abiding citizens of the Territory are commanded to be and appear at Lecompton as soon as practicable and in numbers sufficient for the proper execution of the law.

Given under my hand this 11th day of May, 1856.

J. B. DONELSON,

United States Marshal for Kansas Territory.

On said 11th day of May, 1856, a committee of the citizens of the town of Lawrence, Kans., presented the following letter to the governor of the Territory of Kansas:

LAWRENCE CITY, May 11, 1856.

DEAR SIR: The undersigned are charged with the duty of communicating to your excellency the following preamble and resolutions adopted at a public meeting of the citizens of this place at 7 o'clock last evening, viz:

Whereas we have the most reliable information from various parts of the Territory and the adjoining State of Missouri of the organization of guerrilla bands, who threaten the destruction of our town and its citizens: Therefore

Resolved, That Messrs. Topliff, Hutchinson, and Roberts constitute a committee to inform His Excellency Gov. Shannon of these facts and to call upon him in the name of the people of Lawrence for protection against such bands by the United States troops at his disposal.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Very truly, etc.,

C. W. TOPLIFF,
W. Y. ROBERTS,
JOHN HUTCHINS.

Gov. Shannon replied to said letter on May 12, 1856, as follows:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
Lecompton, Kans. T., May 12, 1856.

GENTLEMEN: Your note of the 11th instant is received, and in reply I have to state that there is no force around or approaching Lawrence, except the legally constituted posse of the United States marshal and sheriff of Douglas County, each of whom, I am informed, have a number of writs in their hands for execution against persons now in Lawrence. I shall in no way interfere with either of these officers in the discharge of their official duties.

If the citizens of Lawrence submit themselves to the Territorial laws and aid and assist the marshal and sheriff in the execution of process in their hands, as all good citizens are bound to do when called on, they or all such will entitle themselves to the protection of the laws. But as long as they keep up a military or armed organization to resist the Territorial laws and the officers charged with their execution I shall not interpose to save them from the legitimate consequence of their illegal acts.

I have the honor to be, yours, with great respect,

WILSON SHANNON.

On May 14, 1856, the following letter was presented by the said committee to said United States marshal:

LAWRENCE, May 14, 1856.

DEAR SIR: We have seen a proclamation issued by yourself, dated 11th day of May, and also have reliable information this morning that large bodies of armed men, in pursuance of your proclamation, have assembled in the vicinity of Lawrence.

That there may be no misunderstanding, we beg leave to ask respectfully that we may be reliably informed what are the demands against us. We desire to state most truthfully and earnestly that no opposition whatever will now or at any future time be offered to the execution of any legal process by yourself or any person acting for you. We also pledge ourselves to assist you, if called upon, in the execution of any legal process.

We declare ourselves to be order-loving and law-abiding citizens, and only await an opportunity to testify our fidelity to the laws of the country, the Constitution, and the Union.

We are informed also that those men collecting about Lawrence openly declare that their intention is to destroy the town and drive off the citizens. Of course we do not believe that you give any countenance to such threats; but in view of the exciting state of the public mind we ask protection of the constituted authorities of the Government, declaring ourselves in readiness to cooperate with them for the maintenance of the peace, order, and quiet of the community in which we live.

Very respectfully,

ROBERT MORROW,
LYMAN ALLEN,
JOHN HUTCHINSON.

J. B. DONELSON,

United States Marshal for Kansas Territory.

To said letter last above, dated May 14, 1856, said United States marshal replied by letter, in which, after making certain charges against the citizens of Lawrence, he used the following language:

"But I must take the liberty of executing all processes in my hands as the United States marshal in my own time and manner, and shall only use such power as is authorized by law."

On the 17th day of May, 1856, the following letter was sent by a committee of the citizens of Lawrence to the United States marshal:

J. B. DONELSON,

United States Marshal, Kansas Territory.

DEAR SIR: We desire to call your attention, as citizens of Kansas, that a large force of armed men have collected in the vicinity of Lawrence and are engaged in committing depredations upon our citizens, stopping wagons, arresting, threatening, and robbing unoffending travelers upon the highway, breaking open boxes of merchandise and appropriating their contents, have slaughtered cattle, and terrified many of the women and children.

We have also learned from Gov. Shannon that there are no armed forces in the vicinity of this place but the regularly constituted militia of the Territory. This is to ask you if you recognize them as your posse and feel responsible for their acts. If you do not, we hope and trust you will prevent a repetition of such acts and give peace to the settlers.

On behalf of the citizens.

C. W. BABCOCK,
LYMAN ALLEN,
J. A. PERRY.

To this letter there was no reply by the marshal.

On said 17th day of May, 1856, a letter as follows was presented to Gov. Shannon by the proprietors of the aforesaid Free State Hotel:

LAWRENCE, KANS. T., May 17, 1856.

GENTLEMEN: Having learned that your reason for assembling so large a force in the vicinity of our town to act as posse in the enforcement of the laws rests on the supposition that we are armed against the laws and the officers in the exercise of their duties, we would say that we hold our arms only for our own individual defense against violence and not against the laws or the officers in the execution of the same. Therefore, having no further use for them than our protection is otherwise secured, we propose to deliver our arms to Col. Sumner so soon as he shall quarter in our town a body of troops sufficient for our protection, to be retained by him so long as such force shall remain among us.

Very truly, etc.,

His Excellency WILSON SHANNON, Governor, and
J. B. DONELSON, Esq., United States Marshal for Kansas Territory.

V. That on the 21st day of May, 1856, said United States marshal, J. B. Donelson, having in his hands a writ for the arrest of certain persons then residing in said city of Lawrence, organized a posse of several hundred armed men under the pretense of needing the same for making said arrests, and proceeded to said city of Lawrence and camped with said posse near said city; and on the forenoon of said day, leaving said posse in camp, proceeded into said city and made arrests under said writ. That on the afternoon of said day, while the marshal was present, a man went through said posse and dismissed it with the statement that the marshal had no further use for its services, thanking the men and telling them to make out the number of days they had served and that they would be paid. This same man immediately summoned the same men as the posse of Sheriff Jones, the sheriff of Douglas County. That on the afternoon of said day said posse, under the command of the said sheriff, proceeded in a body into said city and destroyed the Free State Hotel by fire, said marshal appearing to give countenance to the same by his presence at the time, and said sheriff announcing immediately prior to the burning of the hotel, while the United States marshal was present, that he was a deputy United States marshal and that he was acting under an order of the United States court for Douglas County, and had a writ from that court; but further than this statement by the sheriff and the fact of the marshal's presence and giving countenance to the acts of the sheriff and the posse, it does not appear that the said sheriff had any official connection with the United States.

VI. On the 22d day of May, 1856, the said posse was again enrolled as the posse of the said United States marshal.

Also, on the said 22d day of May, 1856, a committee of said town of Lawrence, Territory of Kansas, set forth all of the foregoing facts concerning the conduct of said governor, marshal, deputy marshal, and posse in a memorial addressed to His Excellency Franklin Pierce, President of the United States, which was on said last-mentioned day forwarded to said President.

VII. During the said period of time from May 5, 1856, to and including May 21, 1856, there was no armed force in said town of Lawrence making resistance to the laws of the United States, and there was no concerted action among the citizens of the said town of Lawrence, nor any action by the owners of the said hotel building in opposition to the said laws of the United States.

VIII. The said New England Emigrant Aid Co. presented to the Thirty-seventh Congress of the United States, third session, a claim against the United States for the value of said hotel building in the sum of $25,000.

Said company frequently memorialized subsequent Congresses of the United States in different efforts to secure payment of this claim.

IX. On the 17th day of February, 1897, by its deed, the said New England Emigrant Aid Co. assigned and transferred the said claim to the present claimant, the regents of the University of Kansas.

X. This claim was presented to the Fifty-fifth Congress in the sum of $20,000, where it was Senate bill 2677, upon which bill a favorable report was made by the Senate Committee on Claims, being Report No. 763, Fifty-fifth Congress, second session, and the said bill was passed by the Senate of the United States.

A similar bill, S. 76, was presented to the Fifty-sixth Congress, first session, which bill was also reported upon favorably by the Committee on Claims in Report No. 179 of said Congress and session.

The claim was again presented to the Fifty-seventh Congress, first session, where it was Senate bill 687, which last-named bill was on the 12th day of March, 1903, referred to this court for a hearing and determination of facts under and in accordance with the provisions of the act of Congress approved March 3, 1887, as hereinbefore set forth.

JOHN RANDOLPH,
Assistant Clerk Court of Claims.

Mr. OVERMAN. I offer an amendment on behalf of the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. Watson]. I will say that this is a case which does not fall within the rule adopted by the committee. I do not suppose the Senate, in view of the course adopted, will agree to the amendment. I hope at another time we will get this and similar amendments adopted, because they have merit in them. But just at this time the committee have ruled out all cases of this kind. I want to be frank with the Senate and say that. But on behalf of the Senator from West Virginia, who is not here, I offer the amendment.

The SECRETARY. The Senator from North Carolina [Mr. Overman], on behalf of the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. Watson], offers an amendment, on page 216, after line 18, to insert:

To the trustees of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, Ravenswood, W. Va., $300.

To the county court of Randolph County, $2,000.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Mr. President, to accept those two amendments would simply mean that we would change the entire character of the report and admit a whole class of claims that the committee declined to insert in the bill, and the Senate has already sustained the committee in that respect. On that account the committee can not accept these amendments, and I shall feel obliged to oppose them.

Mr. BANKHEAD. I should like to ask the chairman of the committee if he is willing to state to the Senate why, on what ground, for what reason, the committee rejected all these claims—these church claims—the justice of which everybody concedes. They ought to be paid. I should like to have the chairman state.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Mr. President, if the Senator from Alabama will do the committee the honor to read their report, in which they have very fully reviewed these claims, he will find exactly what is the position of the committee.

Mr. BANKHEAD. Mr. President—

Mr. CRAWFORD. I will simply say this, if the Senator will permit me to conclude my statement—

Mr. BANKHEAD. Certainly; I will be glad to have the Senator do that.

Mr. CRAWFORD. The Committee on Claims decided that they would follow the rule which has been followed since the first report was made, by Senator Hoar, in regard to educational institutions destroyed during the war, and allow the claims, according to the findings, for all educational institutions, eleemosynary institutions, and churches that were destroyed by the armies of the United States or the military authorities during the war, where the destruction was not the result of war necessity, in battle; and all claims of that character are reported favorably in this bill.

Mr. President, there are a great many claims in the bill as it passed the House that are not for churches destroyed—claims which are not within the rule laid down by Senator Hoar in the case concerning the William and Mary College—but are cold-blooded claims for rent. There is nothing in the rule pertaining to the conduct of war in this country or in any other country, under the rule laid down by Senator Hoar, or in the rules that have been declared since his great report in regard to the college of William and Mary was made, that furnishes any basis whatever for distinguishing a mere commercial claim for the rent of a church from a claim for the rent of a warehouse or the rent of a store.

Now, here is a large class of claims for the rent of churches, and, Mr. President, in the large majority of these cases the findings do not show even when the churches were occupied. The findings do not show whether a church was occupied 24 hours or 4 years. The findings do not show that it was damaged one dollar in the occupation. The findings do not show what kind of church building it was, whether it was 75 years old or 1 year old, whether it cost $20,000 or $500. The findings are absolutely silent with reference to any of these details or any information of that kind and character.

And, Mr. President, that is not all. Oftentimes the men who claim to represent church organizations and are asking for appropriations here are representing church organizations that have been out of existence for years. Some man has himself appointed a trustee 45 or 50 years after the war, and presents an old claim for the rent of a church, and does not even state the year in which it was occupied, does not even state the length of time it was occupied, does not even undertake to specify what kind of building it was; but, claiming to be an elder or trustee of a defunct organization, he brings in a cold-blooded commercial claim here for dollars and cents.

Now, that opens a big question here. The House passed such claims, and we have rejected them. They will have to be considered in conference. The conference committee will have to thrash out these differences and decide which of them they will allow and which they will not allow.

I will say this to the Senator from Alabama: There are some of those claims that personally I would not be adverse to allowing, not because they relate to churches, but because the parties have given us evidence which we ought to have and which we ought to require from them just as we require it from the owner of a store or a warehouse. They have described the building. They have said it was a substantial church building, erected just before the war, 40 feet long, so many feet wide, with a gallery inside, and have described how it was furnished. They have shown that it was occupied, it may be, by the troops of Gen. Sherman as a hospital from the 1st of January of such a year down to the 1st of January of such a year; that the building was worth so much money, that its use and occupation was reasonably worth so much. There we have some facts.

But to throw a lump collection upon Congress, saying that during the war the military forces of the United States occupied a church building at Culpeper or Washington Court House, or in some county somewhere, without saying what kind of a building it was, and not even showing that the organization is now in existence, and appropriate for such claims, is a reckless way to dispose of money out of the United States Treasury.

That is the class of cases and claims that are in dispute, and if we open the door to discuss them here—and there are hundreds of them—this bill will never pass the Senate. If the Senator sustains the committee, and lets the conference between the two Houses take up these cases and thrash them out, sifting each case, and the conferees can come to a conclusion that in this case the Senate amendment ought not to be sustained and in that case it ought to be sustained, we can bring some conclusion back to the Senate and perhaps pass this bill. So I ask the Senator to assist others in sustaining the policy that is followed by this committee.

Mr. BANKHEAD. Mr. President—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does the Senator from South Dakota yield to the Senator from Alabama?

Mr. CRAWFORD. I do.

Mr. BANKHEAD. The Senator, the chairman of the committee, has been discussing a question that is not in this proposed amendment at all. It is simply a proposition to pay the Presbyterian Church of Huntsville, not for use and occupation of the church during the war, or anything like that, but for destruction of the church. This church had just been completed, at the beginning of the war, at a cost of $30,000. The Army came into Huntsville and did not occupy this church, but deliberately tore it down and used the brick and material in building chimneys, bake ovens, and other necessary matters around the camp. That is this case.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Will the Senator call my attention to the particular case that he is now mentioning?

Mr. BANKHEAD. It is the Presbyterian Church at Huntsville. I have sent for the papers and the findings of the court.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Was it in the bill as it passed the House?

Mr. BANKHEAD. No. I want to put it in the bill in the Senate.

Mr. CRAWFORD. That is a different thing. Was it ever submitted to the committee?

Mr. BANKHEAD. No.

Mr. CRAWFORD. That is an altogether different thing. If a church at Huntsville, Ala., was destroyed for the purpose of using the material to build a bridge—

Mr. BANKHEAD. It was not to build a bridge.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Or for the construction of winter quarters or for any purpose of that kind, we have allowed claims of that character; but I do not think we should be asked here, after the bill is made up and our report has been presented, to consider such claims which were not submitted to us and which are presented after the bill was made up. There is another time for claims of that character, without bringing such claims in at this time when there is no opportunity on the part of the committee to examine them.

Mr. BANKHEAD. I recognize the force of the suggestion of the chairman of the committee. This claim is 4 or 6 years old—I am not quite sure which—and doubtless it would have been presented to the House but for the fact that the Member representing that district was in very poor health and was unable to attend the sessions of the House when the bill was made up. It never came to my knowledge until within the last few days. I know I ought not to insist on making an exception in this case, but it is a meritorious one if there are merits in any of these cases.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I would not pass judgment upon a report of that kind, but I will simply say to the Senator that we must have a point at which to stop in deciding on the items which shall go in one of these bills. At a later date important matters can be taken up which we have had no opportunity whatever to examine.

Mr. BANKHEAD. I thought from the nature of the Senator's argument the committee, especially the chairman of the committee, had made up their minds that none of these church claims were of much merit and perhaps it was the policy of the committee to reject them at all times. I thought if that was the case we had as well settle it in the Senate now as at any other time. But it appears that I misconstrued the attitude of the chairman of the committee, and in view of the suggestion he has made and in view of the further fact that there will be another Congress in session after this one, I will not ask the Senate to vote on the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the amendment offered by the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. OVERMAN].

Mr. BURTON. Mr. President—

Mr. CRAWFORD. The amendment offered by the Senator from North Carolina was an item for West Virginia. He was offering it for the Senator from West Virginia.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It was offered by the Senator from North Carolina.

Mr. CRAWFORD. The committee can not accept that amendment, and it was obliged to oppose it because of the rule we have followed in making up this bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does the Senator from Ohio desire to speak to the amendment?

Mr. BURTON. No; I was not aware that any amendment was pending, the Senator from Alabama having, as I understood him, withdrawn his amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The pending amendment had been previously offered by the Senator from North Carolina, and it has not been acted upon. The question is on agreeing to the amendment offered by the Senator from North Carolina.

The amendment was rejected.

Mr. BURTON. I desire to offer an amendment which I think will not cause any discussion,

Mr. CRAWFORD. What is it?

Mr. BURTON. It is a claim for longevity pay.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be stated. The SECRETARY. On page 266, after line 6, insert:

To J. Nelson Caldwell, administrator of the estate of James N. Caldwell, deceased, of Cincinnati, $2,096.82.

Mr. CRAWFORD. The committee can accept that amendment. I have here the finding of the court sustaining it, and it is exactly the same as the other. I will ask that the finding be printed in the RECORD in connection with it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The finding will be printed in the RECORD, without objection, and the amendment adopted. The matter referred to is as follows:

[In the Court of Claims. Congressional, No. 15512. J. Nelson Caldwell, administrator de bonis non of the estate of James N. Caldwell, v. The United States.]

STATEMENT OF THE CASE.

The claim in the above-entitled cause for arrears of increase of pay due on account of the services of James N. Caldwell in the United States Army was transmitted to the court by the Committee on War Claims of the House of Representatives on the 3d day of August, 1911. The case was brought to a hearing on its merits on the 8th day of May, 1912.

Lyon & Lyon appeared for the claimant and the Attorney General, by George M. Anderson, his assistant, under his direction, appeared for the defense and protection of the United States.

The claimant in his petition makes the following allegations:

That he is a citizen of the United States and a resident of the city of Cincinnati in the county of Hamilton, in the State of Ohio, and is the administrator de bonis non of the estate of James N. Caldwell, who died while serving in the United States Army on the 12th day of March, 1886.

That the aforesaid James N. Caldwell, deceased, entered the military service of the United States as a cadet at the Military Academy on the 1st day of July, 1836; brevetted second lieutenant, Second Infantry, July 1, 1840; second lieutenant, First Infantry, August 5, 1840; first lieutenant, March 31, 1847; captain, October 25, 1860; major, Eighteenth Infantry, February 27, 1862; retired December 29, 1863, which grade he held until his death on the aforesaid date, and by reason of such service is entitled to longevity pay, computing the time he served at the Military Academy as a cadet, in accordance with the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States as laid down in the case of The United States v. Watson (130 U. S. Rep., p. 80), which has never been paid to the deceased officer or his heirs.

That application for longevity increase pay was made to the accounting officers of the Treasury Department, but said claim was disallowed on the 11th day of November, 1890, on the ground "service as a cadet, under the existing laws and decisions, can not be counted in computing longevity pay and allowances for service prior to February 24, 1881," contrary to the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the aforesaid Watson case above cited.

Application was again made for the same longevity increase pay, in accordance with the decision of the Comptroller of the Treasury in the case of Alexander O. Brodie (14 Compt. Dec., p. 795), but this application was again disallowed on the 5th day of February, 1909, on the ground that there was no authority at law to reopen an adverse settlement made by a predecessor, irrespective of the fact that the law now favors the settlement of this class of cases.

That there is due the claimant, under the law as decided by the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of The United States v. Watson aforesaid, the following amount of longevity pay:

|   |          |
|---|----------|
| First longevity ration, July 1, 1841, to June 30, 1845  | $292.20 |
| Second longevity ration, July 1, 1846, to June 30, 1850 | 292.20   |
| Third longevity ration, July 1, 1851, to June 30, 1855  | 292.20   |
| Fourth longevity ration, July 1, 1856, to June 30, 1860 | 438.30   |
| Fifth longevity ration, July 1, 1861, to June 30, 1865  | 438.30   |
| Sixth longevity ration, Mar. 2, 1867, to June 30, 1870  | 382.70   |

|----------------------------------|----------|
| Less pay and allowances overpaid | $8.24   |
| Less internal-revenue tax        | 30.84    |
| Total                            | 2,135.90 |

|-----------------------------|----------|
| Leaving balance due officer | 2,096.82 |
|-----------------------------|----------|

That the court, upon the evidence and after considering the briefs and arguments of counsel upon both sides, makes the following

FINDINGS OF FACT.

I. The claimant, James Nelson Caldwell, is a citizen of the United States, residing in Cincinnati, State of Ohio, and is the administrator de bonis non of the estate of James N. Caldwell, deceased, who during his lifetime was an officer in the United States Army, having entered the United States Military Academy as a cadet July 1, 1836. He was graduated therefrom and appointed brevet second lieutenant, Second Infantry, July 1, 1840; promoted to be second lieutenant, First Infantry, August 5, 1840; first lieutenant, March 31, 1847; captain, October 26, 1850; major, Eighteenth Infantry, February 27, 1862; and was retired December 29, 1863. He died March 12, 1886. He was on active duty from December 29, 1863, to January 18, 1866; from May 25, 1867, to December 31, 1867; and from August 19, 1868, to February 28, 1869.

II. Said decedent was paid his first longevity ration from July 1, 1845, and one additional ration for each five years subsequent thereto, and the accounting officers of the Treasury refused to count his service at the Military Academy in computing his longevity pay and allowances.

III. Under the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S., 80), there would be due said decedent additional longevity allowances, as reported by the Auditor for the War Department, amounting to $2,096.82.

JOHN RANDOLPH,
Assistant Clerk Court of Claims.

Mr. SMITH of Arizona. I offer an amendment, which I ask may be read.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be read.
The SECRETARY. On page 8, after line 7, insert:

ARIZONA.

To John T. Brickwood, $14,950; Edward Gaynor, $29,000; Theodore Gebler, $10,600; Lee W. Mix, $5,100; Arthur L. Peck, $5,580; Thomas D. Casanega, $900; Joseph de Lusignan, $6,125; and Joseph H. Berger, $4,000, out of any money in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, in full compensation for the losses incurred by the destruction in 1899 of their buildings and other property and their removal by the United States authorities from the premises severally owned and occupied by them on what is commonly called the International Strip, in the town of Nogales, Ariz.

Mr. SMITH of Arizona. Mr. President, from the date mentioned in the amendment up until now these men have been struggling to recover the property that they lost by the act of the Government in removing from the international boundary line in the town of Nogales 60 feet of property then owned, controlled, and occupied by the residents of the city whose names appear in the amendment. This property in the town of Nogales had been on what was known or believed to be a Mexican land grant. These owners had purchased from the Mexican authorities and after it was decided that this particular part was not within the grant, the city applied for a town-site patent. Every resident in that city obtained a patent to his land except those on this international boundary on the 60 feet from which their houses were taken and their property utterly destroyed, and the land dedicated to public use. They were the only men in the city who lost by it. In fact, those abutting on them gained by it. The town site went to patent, and these men have been left from that day to this without any relief whatever.

A hearing was had as to the value of this property and it was submitted to the Court of Claims. The Court of Claims, in its findings, said they had no title to the land, which was true enough, and that they had no title whatever to any recovery, but suggested what improvements were on the land and intimated that it would not be altogether wrong to pay for those.

I did not have time to have this placed as a charter amendment in the bill. I made application to go before the committee on my advent to this body in order to present these claims to that committee. This is a question which is going to involve the findings of the court, and at this time, in the present condition of the Senate, I do not wish to delay the proceedings nor to retard the consideration of the pending bill, because it would take me at least an hour to show the Senate that these men are entitled to every cent they claim. I have no doubt that the chairman will inform me whether or not he expects within a reasonable time to bring before the Senate another of these claims bills.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Mr. President, of course I can not answer upon that point, because there will undoubtedly be a new chairman of the Committee on Claims after the 4th of March and the personnel of the committee will change. The Senator from Arizona was very courteous and very considerate about these claims. He came to the chairman of the committee about it last year after he came here. I appreciate his situation in relation to it. The committee has investigated it, however. For instance, in the Brickwood case, here is the finding of the court:

VI. Claimant never had any title to the real estate upon which said buildings and improvements were situated.

And their conclusion is:

Upon the foregoing findings of fact the court concludes that the claim herein is neither a legal nor an equitable one against the United States, and payment rests in the bounty of Congress.

That is practically the situation with reference to the other claims. It would take some time if the Senator from Arizona and myself were to undertake to review each of these cases. I simply desire to say that there was before the committee this report from the Court of Claims, to which the claims had been referred, and the committee investigated the findings in each case, and came to the conclusion that the claims should not go into this bill. Of course I feel obliged to adhere to that conclusion of the committee and to resist the adoption of an amendment which would incorporate the claims in the bill at this time.

Mr. SMITH of Arizona. But, Mr. President, I can not permit the case to leave the present consideration of the Senate without some explanation of the findings of this court. In the Potomac Flats case of this town, reported in One hundred and seventy-fourth United States, under exactly the same conditions, the Supreme Court of the United States held that while they did not have a legal title to the land they held it under a color of title and made improvements in good faith on it and were entitled to recover the value of their improvements, and they did recover in the Potomac Flats case in this city under exactly similar conditions.

The finding of the Court of Claims that these people had no title is technical and unjust, because the record proof in the case shows that most of those people for 25 years had been residents in good faith of that property, one of them receiving a rental of from five to seven hundred dollars a month on his property, and they allow him $2,300 for that. The proof in this record shows that the holdings were worth $20,000, and it is proved by every neighbor he had and every real estate expert there in that part of the country. Though he did not have a valid title from the United States he had lived on this ground under its grace, with the right to claim title ultimately when it gave patents, as it did to every one of his neighbors except him, and they dedicated this to public use.

The Court of Claims say that these people had no legal or equitable title to that ground, in the face of the fact that they gave to every other man in the city a direct Government title to his land and withheld it from these claimants. The Court of Claims come in to tell Congress that the claimants here have no legal or equitable title to anything and that it is a matter merely for the grace of Congress to give them some compensation for this injury done them.

I shall attempt, I think, a shorter cut. At the very first opportunity I shall introduce a bill to relieve these men directly and avoid any questions that can be raised on the Court of Claims finding, for I appreciate the attitude the chairman is in and the difficulties his bill is already giving, not only to himself, but to the Senate and to the House.

So I will for the present withdraw the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment offered by the Senator from Arizona is withdrawn.

Mr. MARTINE of New Jersey. Mr. President, yesterday I presented an amendment, which has been printed. It is for longevity pay, and I have here the court findings.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from New Jersey offers an amendment, which will be read.

Mr. MARTINE of New Jersey. It is the one I offered yesterday and which has been printed.

Mr. CRAWFORD. It is a claim for longevity pay growing out of the service of an Army officer.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be read.

The SECRETARY. On page 265, after line 9, insert:

To Jane W. Laidley, widow, and Jane A. Oberly, daughter and only child, of Theodore T. S. Laidley, deceased, late of the United States Army, $2,057.95, to be proportioned as follows:

To Jane W. Laidley, of Elizabeth, N. J., $685.98.

To Jane A. Oberly, of Elizabeth, N. J., $1,371.97.

Mr. MARTINE of New Jersey. The court findings I have sent to the desk.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Let the Secretary read the conclusion of the findings.

The Secretary read as follows:

CONCLUSION.

Upon the foregoing findings of fact the court concludes that the claim herein not having been filed for prosecution before any court within six years from the time it accrued is barred.

The claim is an equitable one against the United States in so far as they received the benefit of the service of said decedent while a cadet at the Military Academy, which service the Supreme Court in the case of United States v. Watson (130 U. S., 80) decided was service in the Army.

Mr. CRAWFORD. The committee accepts the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the amendment is agreed to.

Mr. SMITH of Maryland. I offer the following amendment, and I also send to the desk the findings of the Court of Claims.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be read.

The SECRETARY. On page 50, after line 9, insert:

To the rector of St. Augustine's Roman Catholic Church, of Williamsport, Md., $425.

Mr. CRAWFORD. This amendment was proposed by the Senator from Maryland, as I recall it, at the last session. The claim was considered in the committee, and the findings of the Court of Claims were considered by the committee, and the amendment was not adopted by the committee. It is a case in a class. If it is allowed, a great many others of the same character and kind ought to be allowed.

It was the decision of the committee that the facts as reported with reference to the use and occupation of the church did not bring it within the rule laid down by the late Senator from Massachusetts in the Williams and Mary College case for the destruction of educational buildings or buildings used for religious purposes, but it is a purely commercial claim for rent. Without a finding as to the period during which it was occupied, showing how long it was occupied, with no specification as to the damages, not discriminating at all, I will say to the Senator, against his State or his claim, it is a part of a class which the committee decided adversely upon.

Mr. SMITH of Maryland. Do I understand the Senator from South Dakota to say that claims shall be rejected, regardless of the recommendation of the Court of Claims? It will be seen by the finding of the Court of Claims that this amount has been recommended as due. I take it for granted that the court investigated the matter and found that it was due by the Government, for they have so stated.

It certainly seems to me that the Court of Claims is of very little use, when after a proper investigation they recommend a claim as a just claim and one that should be paid by the Government, if their recommendation is to be ignored. It does seem to me that their finding ought to be recognized by the Senate. The claim is recognized by the Court of Claims as a proper one, and recommendation is made for its payment.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I will say to the Senator from Maryland that that is hardly a fair statement as to what the Court of Claims has done. The Court of Claims renders no judgment in these cases. The Court of Claims simply reports the facts which they find, and those facts are sent here for the enlightenment of Congress in determining whether or not it will appropriate money.

In many, many of the reports from the Court of Claims they make no recommendation. They find no judgment; they simply report certain facts; and oftentimes they do not report facts which are sufficient to give to Congress the information that is necessary and which ought to be reported before the money is paid out of the United States Treasury.

For instance, with reference to the rent, I think if the Senator as a successful business man were asked to make a payment in the absence of any lease, in the absence of any specific contract to pay for the use and occupation of some building somewhere in his vast business, which he may have had no personal knowledge of but which is reported to him by one of his employees, before he would consent to pay a specific sum of money for the use and occupation of the building he would at least require the claimant to show him how long he had occupied the building. He would simply require the claimant to show him what sort of a building it was, and if the claim was made that his men were occupying it and had done damage to it he would certainly require some specifications as to what the damages were.

I am not discussing this particular case so much as I am cases that come within the class we have acted upon, where, for instance, a claimant puts in a blanket claim for the rent of a church. Claimants do not tell us the year when it was occupied; they just use the general language "during the war"; and they do not tell us what kind of a building it was. I presume you could sell some of these negro churches for $25, and yet they bring in claims here for use and occupation of their building. Whether they were 100 years old or new and substantial buildings, there is absolutely nothing in the findings to show.

I have absolutely no prejudice about this matter. I was only 2 years old when the war began, and there is none of the old feeling about it, so far as I am concerned; but I do insist that when we are paying money out of the Treasury of the United States on these claims, the claimants or their attorneys ought at least to present us the essential facts that are necessary, and would be required between business men when they are asked to pay an obligation. I think the trouble is due to the incompetency and the recklessness of attorneys, who themselves have practically no faith in these claims, but who are just taking a snapshot at them, thinking "we may get something and we may not." If they were trained lawyers they certainly ought to have known how to draw up findings that would cover the necessary facts in a case upon which they were asking an appropriation of money. Over and over again what purport to be findings coming here from the court do not furnish the facts which should be required as the basis for appropriating money out of the United States Treasury.

Mr. SMITH of Maryland. Mr. President, I would say to the Senator from South Dakota that I have no idea that he has any prejudice whatever in this matter. I am quite sure that he is inclined to do his duty as he sees it; but in regard to his suggestion that in many instances no special church was specified, I will say that in this instance the church was specified; the name of it was given and the location was given.

Mr. CRAWFORD. If the Senator will permit me, he is right about that point. I wish to say to him that there are only a few such cases; but there are some claims for church rent where they did describe the building, give its size, and give us some information. I regard those as rather in a class by themselves.

Mr. SMITH of Maryland. I will say to the Senator that this claim is one of that class. This church has been specified—

Mr. CRAWFORD. And we treated them all alike, if the Senator please.

Mr. SMITH of Maryland. And the Court of Claims has decided that this is an equitable claim and that the money is due for rent. Inasmuch as the Government has appointed a Court of Claims to investigate these matters, I assume they have investigated this case; I assume that they found that this church was occupied; I assume that they found that the damage to the church was equal to the amount asked for; and they have made a report here stating that this amount of money is due to this church. It does seem to me that the Court of Claims amounts to nothing if, after they have investigated and reported upon a case, their report should be turned aside.

I would not for a moment question the Senator's feelings in regard to the matter; I am sure he wants to do what is right; I know he does; but it is a matter of judgment as to what is right. I feel that this is a proper claim; I feel that it has been properly adjudicated; that it has been properly examined and reported upon by the Court of Claims; and they say in their report that it is an equitable claim and should be paid.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Mr. President, this is one of the very late findings; I think it was made in January, 1912. There are some claims of a similar character in the bill which have been rejected and will have to be determined in conference.

I hope the Senator from Maryland will be satisfied to allow this claim to remain out of the bill and have these cases which belong to a similar class determined between the two Houses. If they should then decide to allow them, it would give the Senator from Maryland a precedent for his claim; if they should decide against them, the Senator would then know what to expect with reference to his claim. The findings are very recent—January, 1912, as I recall. That is 50 years after 1862. These findings come here in relation to the rent of a church 50 years after the war began. I think the Senator ought to allow this claim to rest in the class with the others.

Mr. SMITH of Maryland. I have no disposition to do anything that would cause confusion, but at the same time I feel that this is a just claim and that it should be allowed. I have no disposition whatever to interfere with the working of the committee; but this is certainly a claim which should be allowed, and so I feel that it is my duty to press it to the furthest extent.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Mr. President, I ask that the amendment be rejected.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the amendment offered by the Senator from Maryland.

The amendment was rejected.

Mr. LODGE. Mr. President, I have an amendment here which I desire to offer in regard to a Philippine claim. I send the amendment to the desk. I will say to the Senator from South Dakota that it will take some little time, as I wish to say something about it, and I do not think we have the opportunity to consider the amendment now.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be read.

The SECRETARY. It is proposed to insert:

D. M. Carman, representing the estate of Luis R. Yangko, for rent and repairs of 10 cascos used by the Quartermaster's Department of the United States Army in Manila Bay, $2,876.42.

Mr. LODGE. The amendment has not been adopted by the committee, but the committee, I notice, does not say anything in the report in condemnation of it.

Mr. CRAWFORD. The trouble is that it was not submitted to us until after our main report was made up. I should not want to accept the amendment in behalf of the committee, because the committee never acted upon it. If the Senator from Massachusetts will permit me, the facts reported here are the facts which I reported as a little addendum to the report authorized by the committee, simply for the information of the Senate.

Mr. LODGE. Mr. President, there is no time to go on with the consideration of the amendment now, but I know about this claim because it came before the Philippine Committee, of which I was chairman for many years. We investigated it carefully and reported it favorably, I think, at least once. I believe it is a thoroughly good claim and that it ought to be paid. It has been held equitable by the Court of Claims; it has been approved by the Quartermaster General and by the Secretary of War, and I should like the opportunity to lay it before the Senate because I think it will be adopted by the Senate. The Committee on Claims has not acted upon it. It has simply come in too late for them to embody it in their report. I ask that the amendment may go over now, as it is within a minute of half past 1 o'clock.

Mr. SANDERS. On behalf of the Senator from Kentucky [Mr. BRADLEY], I offer the amendment which I send to the desk. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be stated. The SECRETARY. It is proposed to insert, under the heading "Kentucky," the following:

To the wardens of Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, Bowling Green, $300.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I will ask that that amendment be printed and lie on the table.

Mr. LODGE. I did not intend to withdraw my amendment. I thought the bill was going over, and I wanted it to go over with my amendment pending, as it is an amendment which I wish to take a few moments to explain, and we have no time now.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It was understood that the amendment offered by the Senator from Massachusetts was to go over temporarily.

Mr. LODGE. To go over with the bill and be the pending amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. With the bill, exactly.

Mr. CRAWFORD. That is entirely satisfactory. I ask that the amendment submitted by the Senator from Tennessee [Mr. SANDERS] on behalf of the Senator from Kentucky [Mr. BRADLEY] be printed and lie on the table so that I may have an opportunity to examine it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It will be so ordered.

Mr. Manager DAVIS. Call Mr. Conn.

Charles F. Conn, having been previously sworn, was further examined, and testified as follows:

Q. (By Mr. Manager DAVIS.) Mr. Conn, when the Senate adjourned last evening we were discussing the draft of the agreement submitted to you by Judge Archbald and produced by Mr. Worthington. You stated that you had made a request of Judge Archbald that you might be permitted to reinspect that paper. When did you make that request?

The WITNESS. Did I make that statement?

Mr. Manager DAVIS. I think I quoted you in substance. Shall I refresh your memory from the RECORD?

Mr. WORTHINGTON. What page? I have the RECORD here.

Mr. Manager DAVIS. I will read from the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD of this morning. The question was asked you:

Had you made a request that you might see it?

And you answered:

I had.

Q. Of whom had you made that request?—A. I think I asked Judge Archbald if I might see it.

Now, the question is, When did you make that request of Judge Archbald, and where?—A. A short time after I testified in the proceedings here I met Judge Archbald on the street in Scranton, and he stated to me that "You were in error in saying that you had not seen the draft of contract"; and he stated that it was in his possession and that I might see it.

Q. Do you remember approximately the date of that interview?—A. I do not.

Q. Have you stated before the Committee on the Judiciary that no draft of such an agreement had ever been submitted to you?—A. I so stated.

Q. You were in error, were you not, in making that statement?—A. I was in error.

Q. How long after that tender on the part of Judge Archbald was it before the paper was exhibited to you?—A. I saw the paper Tuesday morning of this week.

Q. In the city of Washington?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Why did you wait that length of time before asking for the paper or going to see it?—A. I do not know that I can give any reason.

Q. At the time Judge Archbald told you of his possession of the paper, did he tell you when and how it had come into his possession?—A. I think not.

Q. Did you ask him how it came to be in his possession?—A. I do not think I did. I think I did not.

Q. Was there nothing said which would refresh your recollection as to the manner in which that paper had got out of your custody and again into his?—A. I think not.

Q. You say you think not, Mr. Conn. Can you not be sure as to whether there was or was not any information of that sort communicated to you?—A. No; I can not be sure.

Q. Have you no recollection whatever touching that matter?—A. My recollection is that nothing was said at that time, but I am not positive.

Q. Have you any better recollection than you had yesterday as to the manner in which that paper, having been submitted to you by Judge Archbald, was by you redelivered to him or some representative of his?—A. Not of my own knowledge.

Q. Has anyone refreshed your recollection about it?—A. Not since yesterday.

Q. Well, has anyone refreshed your recollection about it at any time?—A. After Judge Archbald made this statement to me that I was in error in my testimony I went to Wells & Torrey's office, attorneys for the railroad company, and asked Mr. Wells about this contract. My recollection is that he stated that the contract had been given to Judge Archbald's attorneys by him or by the firm.

Q. Who were Judge Archbald's attorneys?—A. Mr. Martin and Mr. Price.

Q. And when had it been given to them by him?—A. That I do not know.

Q. Had it been given to them by him before or after your testimony before the Committee on the Judiciary of the House?—A. I do not know.

Q. Do you know whether it had been given to them by your attorney, Mr. Wells, before or after this inquiry began?—A. I do not.

Q. Do you know when Messrs. Martin and Price first became the attorneys of Judge Archbald?—A. I do not.

Q. They were his attorneys, were they not, and present at the time of the examination had before the Committee on the Judiciary?—A. They were.

Q. And was it not after the beginning of that inquiry that your counsel, Mr. Wells, delivered this paper to them?—A. I do not know.

Q. Does that not refresh your recollection about it? I will withdraw that question and put it in another form. Were Messrs. Martin and Price counsel for Judge Archbald at any time in connection with your purchase of this culm bank and your negotiations with him about it?—A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. In all that transaction Judge Archbald, of course, appeared as his own representative?—A. He did.

Q. Was there any matter, so far as you know, in which they were Judge Archbald's attorneys other than this proceeding?—A. Not so far as I know.

Q. In this contract itself, Mr. Conn, I observe that your company is described as the Erie & Wyoming Valley Railroad Co. Is that a correct designation?—A. No, sir.

Q. What is the corporate name of your concern?—A. The Lackawanna & Wyoming Valley Railroad Co.

Q. It does, however, have a physical connection with the tracks of the Erie Railroad Co., does it?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. And a traffic arrangement with that railroad company?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were to pay for this coal, according to the proposition you made, 27½ cents per ton royalty? That is correct, I believe?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was your estimate of the cost of the coal to you after that royalty had been paid and the coal had been won from this bank?—A. About 65 cents.

Q. You were at the time purchasing coal from the Erie Railroad Co. and its subsidiaries?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. What were you paying to them per ton at that time?—A. $1.

Q. Did you have any knowledge of the price which had been fixed by the Erie Railroad Co. upon its holdings in the option given to Archbald and Williams?—A. I had.

Q. Before the negotiations were concluded?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. At the time the negotiations were begun had you that knowledge?—A. Not at the beginning of the negotiations; no, sir.

Q. When did you acquire that knowledge?—A. Soon after I received the first letter introducing Mr. Williams I went to Capt. May's office to get information concerning the culm bank and there learned the price of the Hillside interest.

Q. Did Capt. May at that time tell you anything about Judge Archbald's connection with the transaction?—A. I think not.

Q. Will you fix for us again, if possible, the exact date when your attorneys advised you that they would not recommend the title to this property?—A. I can not state that date positively.

Q. You had a conversation with Judge Archbald on the 29th day of November, 1911, in which you and he agreed as to price and terms. How long after that date was it, approximately, when your attorneys gave you this advice?—A. Within a week.

Q. How long was it after they gave you this advice before you communicated it to Judge Archbald?—A. I think that was also within a week.

Q. And after that you heard nothing further from Judge Archbald until you had received the letter from Williams on the 13th of March, 1912, and he came to your office within a few days thereafter. Is that correct?—A. I think I had heard from him during that period, either in conversation, meeting him on the street, or by telephone.

Q. With reference to this transaction?—A. That he was attempting to negotiate for an option from the Everhart heirs.

Q. When did he make the statement to you?—A. I have no way of fixing the time.

Q. How often during that interval did he communicate with you on the subject?—A. Perhaps two or three times.

Q. When was your attention called to the fact that you had made an error in your testimony before the committee with reference to the existence of this paper?—A. I can not fix the date.

Q. Was it before or after you left the city of Washington?—A. It was in Scranton, after I had left Washington.

Q. After you had left Washington. Was Judge Archbald present at your examination before the committee in the city of Washington?

Mr. WORTHINGTON. It is admitted that he was.

Mr. Manager DAVIS. Let me refresh the witness's recollection.

The WITNESS. At the examination of this contract?

Q. (By Mr. Manager DAVIS.) Yes. Was Judge Archbald present at your examination before the Committee on the Judiciary in Washington?—A. He was; yes, sir.

Q. Were Messrs. Martin and Price, his counsel, present at the same time and place?—A. They were.

Mr. Manager DAVIS. You may inquire, gentlemen.

Cross-examination:

Q. (By Mr. WORTHINGTON.) Mr. Conn, when this former contract, which is Exhibit No. 22, was read yesterday, the interlineations were not read. We all understood they were not to be read. I wish you would now read them and state in what lines they occur and what they are, so that the record will show the contract and the interlineations.

And I would like to suggest, Mr. President, that this contract be reprinted in the record of this trial to-day with the interlineations, showing where they occur. Otherwise there will be no means by which the Members of the Senate can tell about these interlineations without going to a great deal of trouble.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. There is no objection to that, Mr. President. We want all the facts as they are to appear.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it will be so ordered.

[U. S. S. Exhibit 22.]

[Words in brackets stricken through and words inserted in lieu thereof in italics.]

This agreement, made this — day of December, A. D. 1911, by and between Edward J. Williams and R. W. Archbald, of Scranton, Pennsylvania, of the one part.

And the [Erie and Wyoming Valley Railroad Company] Lackawanna & Wyoming Valley Power Co., a corporation of the State of Pennsylvania, of the other part, witnesseth:

Whereas the said parties of the first part are the owners of a certain culm dump or bank of waste coal and refuse, produced in the mining operations of the late firm of Robertson and Law, at the so-called Katy-did mines and colliery, which dump or bank is located in the vicinity of Moosic, Pennsylvania, and known and called the "Katy-did" culm dump; and whereas the party of the second part is desirous of purchasing the same:

Now, this agreement witnesseth, that for and in consideration of the terms and conditions hereinafter mentioned the parties of the first part do hereby grant, bargain, sell, and convey unto the party of the second part, its successors and assigns, all of the said culm dump, with the right to take, remove, and dispose of the same, subject always as follows; that is to say:

1. It is the purpose of the said party of the second part, and it hereby undertakes and agrees, at some convenient place along the line of [its] the L. & W. V. railroad to erect and construct a so-called washery or building, with suitable screens, rolls, chutes, and other appliances for the handling, screening, sorting, cleaning, and preparing for use the coal and material obtained from the said culm dump, with or without the use of water; [and the same to equip with proper scales to the end that an accurate record may be kept of the weight and quantity of the said coal derived from the material taken from the said dump or bank;] all of which material, excepting rock, shall be taken and be passed through the said washery, and afterwards weighed at scales of R. R. Co. at Scranton the said washery in the cars when ready for use or, in default thereof shall be accounted and paid for according to the gross ton of material removed from the said dump.

2. For each ton of coal of two thousand two hundred and forty (2,240) pounds obtained from the said dump as aforesaid which will pass over a screen of — inches, square mesh, being of the size commonly known as rice, barley, or bird's-eye, or larger, the said party of the second part shall pay at the rate or royalty of twenty-seven and a half cents (27½¢) a ton; all the material which passes through said screen being regarded as dirt or waste, for which no payment is to be required:

Provided, however, That in the screening, sorting, cleaning, washing, or preparing the said material it shall not be broken down or crushed by the said party of the second part, so as purposely to make any such dirt or waste: and

Provided further, That any such waste material that is used or sold by the said party of the second part for steam or fuel purposes shall be paid for at the same rate as though of the size aforesaid.

3. The said party of the second part shall render monthly statements of the number of tons passed through or cleaned and prepared at the said washery, which statements, in duplicate, shall be mailed to the said parties of the first part, severally, on or before the tenth day of each calendar month for the month then next preceding; and on the twentieth day of each month shall make payment therefor, one-half to each of the said first parties, which the said parties of the first part shall severally receipt for by signing and returning proper vouchers therefor.

4. The said party of the second part agrees to pay at the rate per ton aforesaid for at least twenty thousand (20,000) tons per annum, in equal monthly installments, whether that quantity shall have been removed and obtained from said dump or bank and washed and prepared or not, until all the said material, other than rock, composing the said dump shall have been removed and disposed of, or all the coal to be derived therefrom shall have been paid for. When royalties have been paid in advance and, in the opinion of the party of the second part, payment has been made at the rate aforesaid for all of the coal capable of being obtained from said dump, if there is any dispute between the parties hereto with regard to the same, the matter shall be submitted to three arbitrators, one of whom shall be chosen by the parties of the first part, one by the party of the second part, and the two arbitrators so chosen shall agree on the third arbitrator, and the decision of any two of them shall be binding and conclusive. In case of the neglect or refusal of either party to appoint an arbitrator, the appointment may be made at the instance of the other party by the court of common pleas of Lackawanna County.

5. Where, in the screening, sorting, cleaning, and preparing the said material, any coal above the size of pea coal is obtained, the party of the second part, in addition to the royalty of twenty-seven and a half cents (27½¢) per ton to be paid to the parties of the first part, shall pay to the Hillside Coal and Iron Company, on account of the owners of lot No. "46," from which the said coal was originally mined, the sum of five cents (5¢) per gross ton, in accordance with the terms on which the said culm dump is sold to the parties of the first part by the said Hill-side Coal and Iron Company.

6. The party of the second part shall pay to the parties of the first part, on the execution and delivery of this agreement, the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) as advance royalties, for which the party of the second part, without further payment, shall be entitled to such number of tons of coal, at the rate of twenty-seven and a half cents (27½¢) a ton, as shall be the equivalent thereof.

7. In case of the failure of the party of the second part for thirty days after the same are due to make the payments herein provided for, or to otherwise, for a like period, comply with any of the terms of this agreement, the parties of the first part may forfeit this agreement on thirty days' notice, in writing, of their intention so to do.

8. This agreement shall take effect as of December 1, 1911, from which date the minimum herein provided for shall begin to run.

9. When this agreement shall have been fully complied with by the party of the second part, the parties of the first part, at its request, shall execute an acknowledgment releasing and discharging the said party of the second part from any further obligation thereon.

10. The terms and conditions of this agreement shall be binding upon and operate in favor of the executors, administrators, and assigns of the parties of the first part, and of the successors and assigns of the party of the second part, as though in each instance severally and expressly mentioned.

In witness whereof the parties of the first part have hereunto set their hands and seals, and the party of the second part has hereunto affixed its corporate seal, attested by the signature of its president and secretary, on the day and year first above written.

The WITNESS. The words "Erie and Wyoming Valley Railroad Company" are crossed out and the words "Lackawanna & Wyoming Valley Power Co." are substituted. That is on the first page, second paragraph.

In section 1 the word "its" is stricken out and "the L. & W. V." substituted.

In the margin of the second page "scales of R. R. Co. at Scranton" are inserted.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. After what word is that insertion?

Mr. WORTHINGTON. It is not after any word. It is in the margin.

The WITNESS. It is in the margin of the page, intended to take the place of these words:

And the same to equip with proper scales to the end that an accurate record may be kept of the weight and quantity of the said coal derived from the material taken from the said dump or bank.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. That gives me the information that I desire.

The WITNESS. In section 7 the words "after the same are due" are inserted after these words:

7. In case of the failure of the party of the second part for 30 days.

Q. (By Mr. WORTHINGTON.) Are those all?—A. All except two interrogation marks which are in the margin of the paper.

Q. Are all those interlineations which you have just read in lead pencil?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. And the body of the paper is in typewriting, I believe?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. And are all those interlineations in your handwriting?—A. They are.

Q. And how about the interrogation marks? Are you able to identify them?—A. I think they are mine.

Q. Since you have seen that paper and recognized your handwriting, do you now recall having had the paper in your possession and suggesting those changes in the contract in that way?—A. I know, of course, that the paper was in my possession, but I have no recollection of it.

Q. You do not recognize making those changes?—A. I do not.

Q. Or having the paper at all?—A. No, sir.

Q. About how the paper got out of your possession, if I can refresh your recollection, do you not recall that when you saw Judge Archbald in Scranton immediately after the 13th of March last, when you showed him that letter of March 13—that is, since you refused to go on with the contract or consider it any further—he asked you to return that paper to him and you then did so?—A. I have been told I did so. I have no recollection of it.

Q. You have no recollection of it?—A. I have no recollection of returning that paper.

Q. As to the paper being sent around Scranton and sent to your office—you said it was sent to your office while you were away, and by your attorneys, I think you said—Messrs. Wells & Torrey?—A. One of the junior partners of Wells & Torrey brought the paper to my office.

Q. Did you not learn at the same time that the object of that was to find out in whose handwriting these pencil memoranda are?—A. No, sir.

Q. You did not know what the purpose was?—A. No, sir.

Q. When you saw that paper last Tuesday, in whose hands was it?—A. Mr. Archbald, jr.

Q. You said Wells & Torrey were the attorneys for the railroad company. What company did you mean?—A. The Lackawanna & Wyoming Valley Railroad Co.

Q. Mr. Martin and Mr. Price, I believe, are members of the bar of Scranton? That is their residence?—A. They are.

Q. You know them very well, and I presume that they know Judge Archbald?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. When you saw Judge Archbald just after the 13th of March last and showed him the letter of that date from E. J. Williams, did the judge say whether or not that was the first he knew of that letter being sent?—A. Not in those words.

Q. What is your recollection now as to what he did say about it when you exhibited that letter to him?—A. That he had no knowledge of the letter.

Q. If that letter of yours of September 30, 1911, to Judge Archbald, which is in evidence, was photographed at some time, do you have any knowledge as to how it came to be photographed?—A. None whatever.

Q. Was it out of your possession or custody from the time you received it until it was given to the Judiciary Committee?—A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. Did Judge Archbald ever ask you to return any of his letters to you relating to this matter?—A. I think not. He did not.

Q. And, as a matter of fact, you had them in your possession until they were turned over to the Judiciary Committee?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. When Mr. Williams came to your office on or about the 30th of September, 1911, with the letter of that date from Judge Archbald, did you know that he was accompanied by another man, who sat just outside the door where you and Williams were, and was listening to your conversation?—A. I do not think I noticed that there was anyone with him.

Q. Do you know Mr. Pryor, who was examined as a witness here yesterday?—A. I do.

Q. Do you know whether or not he came with Mr. Williams and sat just outside the door while you were talking with Pryor?—A. I could not say.

Q. And listening to your conversation?—A. I do not know.

Q. Had Mr. William P. Boland had any conversation with you about this culm bank before you had any conversation with Judge Archbald about it?—A. He had spoken to me of a culm bank a short time before these negotiations began, but I am not sure whether he identified this particular property or not.

Q. When you say "shortly before these negotiations began" what do you refer to?—A. The receipt of the letter introducing Mr. Williams.

Q. What was your conversation with Mr. Boland about a culm bank, whether he mentioned the particular bank or not?—A. He asked if we would be interested in the purchase of a culm bank which could be reached from our own tracks, and I answered that we would be.

Q. Did you have any knowledge at the time of this transaction that the letter of Judge Archbald to you was the result of a suggestion that Mr. William P. Boland made to Williams, after his talk with you?—A. None whatever.

Q. You did not know it?—A. No, sir.

Q. If I understand about the price you were paying or were to pay if you had taken this Katydid bank, you were to pay 27½ cents per ton of coal?—A. Of coal.

Q. It was not for material in the bank, but only for the coal, was it?—A. Coal shipped.

Q. Was the price you were to pay the estimate you had made of the quantity of it? Did you make any computation as to how you would come out as compared with how you would stand when buying the same quantity of coal from the Erie Railroad or its subsidiaries?—A. I figured that we would save 30 or 35 cents a ton.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. Mr. Secretary, will you show the witness the letter of March 13, 1912? I have not the number of the exhibit.

Mr. SIMPSON. Exhibit No. 4.

Q. (By Mr. WORTHINGTON [exhibiting paper].) I want you to designate that the top of the paper on which that letter was written appears to have been cut off. I wish to ask you whether or not that was done while the paper was in your possession?—A. It was not.

Q. It is in the same condition now as when you received it?—A. Precisely.

Q. Was any suggestion made to you at any time by Judge Archbald that his connection with this matter was to be kept quiet and covered up in any way?—A. No, sir.

Q. Was any such suggestion made to you by anybody?—A. No, sir.

Q. Was there, in fact, any concealment of his connection with the matter, on your part or on the part of anybody, so far as you know?—A. There was not.

Q. As a matter of fact, did you not tell Mr. Rittenhouse when you engaged him to look at the bank and tell you what the quantity of coal was, or estimate it for you, you sent him to Judge Archbald to get information about the title or something else connected with the bank?—A. I do not recall doing that.

Q. You do not remember that?—A. No, sir.

Q. You were asked yesterday by one of the Senators as to whether Judge Archbald told you he had a personal interest in this matter. You recollect that in his letter of September 30 he said that he and Mr. Williams were the parties interested?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did he at any time limit or alter the statement he had made to you in that way in the letter which opened the negotiations?—A. No, sir.

Q. In this connection, do you recollect whether or not in the contract as it was submitted to you and as prepared by him, coming from him, it said:

This agreement made this — day of December, A. D. 1911, by and between Edward J. Williams and R. W. Archbald, of Scranton, Pa., of the one part—

And so on?

Mr. Manager DAVIS. The agreement itself is the best evidence of the contract.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. Perhaps that is true; but I want to have that appear in this connection.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. Do it when the argument comes to be made.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. That is all, Mr. President.

Redirect examination:

Q. (By Mr. Manager DAVIS.) Mr. Conn, you say you were informed by some person unnamed that you had redelivered this tentative draft to Judge Archbald at the time of his interview with you in March, 1912. By whom were you so informed?—A. I think Mr. Archbald, jr., made that statement when I saw the paper on Tuesday.

Q. On Tuesday last in the city of Washington?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is, Mr. Archbald, who is one of the counsel at the table?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was that statement confirmed to you by any other person?—A. I think not.

Mr. Manager DAVIS. That is all, I believe, Mr. President.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. Mr. President, this witness may be discharged.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. We agree.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The witness is discharged.

DEPOSITION OF E. J. WILLIAMS BEFORE WRISLEY BROWN.

Mr. Manager STERLING. Mr. President, we now propose to read such portions of the deposition of E. J. Williams taken at Scranton by Mr. Brown as we think contradict his statement on the examination here. I will ask the Clerk to read the part we have marked.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. Let me say, Mr. President, that we have gone over this with the manager and we agree that the passages which he has marked and which are about to be read come within the ruling which you made yesterday and they may be read for the purpose indicated, not, of course, withdrawing our contention that they are not competent. We also, of course, reserve the right, if after reading the whole deposition, we think that something else which is in it should go in in connection with it, to then offer it ourselves to make it complete.

Mr. Manager STERLING. There is no objection, I think, to reading from the printed copy.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. Not at all. I should like to have the original, if it is here, to follow the reading with.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Secretary will proceed to read.

The SECRETARY. Reading from the printed copy of hearings before the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives, page 218:

SCRANTON, PA., March 16-17, 1912.

Mr. BROWN. Will you please state to me the circumstances under which a promissory note for $500, signed by Judge Archbald, was presented to Mr. W. P. Boland for discount while Mr. Boland was involved in litigation then pending before this judge?

Mr. WILLIAMS. We had an option on 1,000,000 acres of land, and I went to see Judge Archbald about it, and talked to him about it, and he says to me, "Could I see the option?" I said, "Yes, sir"; and brought the papers there, and he looked them up. I said to him, "What do you think of them?" "They are all right, first class." "Would you like to pay some money in this, Judge?" "Yes, sir; I will tell you what I will do, I will give you a note to discount for $500." I says to him then, "I will take this note to the Bolands." "All right," he says.

Mr. BROWN. Did this suggestion to take the note to the Bolands come from Judge Archbald?

Mr. WILLIAMS. No; I suggested that to him.

Mr. BROWN. What was his reply?

Mr. WILLIAMS. He said, "Yes; you can take it to them."

Mr. BROWN. Up to the time you suggested taking the note to the Bolands for discount Judge Archbald had made no suggestions relative to the party by whom the note should be discounted?

Mr. WILLIAMS. No; he did not.

Mr. BROWN. So that the idea of having the Bolands discount the note was your own?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I suggested it, as I told William to-day about that.

Mr. BROWN. The judge approved of it?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir; he approved of it.

Mr. BROWN. To whom was the note made payable?

Mr. WILLIAMS. To John Henry Jones.

Mr. BROWN. Was Jones a partner in the Venezuelan transaction? What are the interests of the several parties to this transaction?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Each of us owned one-third.

Mr. BROWN. Each of you invested $500?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Me and the judge invested the money.

Mr. BROWN. What part has Jones in the deal?

Mr. WILLIAMS. He went down there.

Mr. BROWN. He contributed his services?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. BROWN. You and Judge Archbald contributed the money?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. BROWN. Did you know at the time you presented the note to Boland that he was a party defendant in a case pending before Judge Archbald?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Williams, will you please state to me, in detail, the circumstances which led up to the Katydid culm-bank transaction?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir. Mr. Boland said I know where there is a culm bank, but at the time he did not know it was in two parts. He knew that I knew that Robertson owned one part.

Mr. BROWN. What do you mean by one part? You mean one-half interest in the whole bank?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes; he owned one-half interest in the whole bank. I got a verbal option from Robertson, and then we went to the judge, and Robertson asked him, "Who is your partner in this?" I said, "The judge."

Mr. BROWN. Just a moment. State what occurred when you went to the judge the first time.

Mr. WILLIAMS. I went over to the judge; I said to him: "Now, I can get one-half of the Robertson control and I would like to get the other one-half from Capt. May." He says: "I will give you a good recommendation to get it." I went to see Capt. May, and he did not give it to me on the first time, but the second time he did.

Mr. BROWN. You said you went to Capt. May with the letter from Judge Archbald. What was the substance of that letter?

Mr. WILLIAMS. He recommended me as a man that could handle it all right.

Mr. BROWN. At this time had you agreed with the judge that he should have a part interest in this deal?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. BROWN. Did Capt. May so understand it?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. BROWN. The letter indicated that the judge was interested?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I told Capt. May that he was. The letter did not indicate that.

Mr. BROWN. He didn't tell you to tell Capt. May that he was interested in the transaction?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes; he did.

Mr. BROWN. You saw Capt. May, and Capt. May refused to grant the option?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes; at first.

Mr. BROWN. What did he say to you on this occasion?

Mr. WILLIAMS. He said he didn't want to sell it.

Mr. BROWN. Didn't he say why he didn't want to sell at any price?

Mr. WILLIAMS. No, sir.

Mr. BROWN. At the first conference with May you didn't discuss the consideration?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes; I did.

Mr. BROWN. Give me a statement of just what took place at the first conference with May.

Mr. WILLIAMS. I told Mr. May that I got the other one-half from Mr. Robertson, and now I was coming to see him about getting the other part. Mr. Robertson offered his to the Erie many times before.

Mr. BROWN. On what basis?

Mr. WILLIAMS. For so much money.

Mr. BROWN. How much?

Mr. WILLIAMS. The Erie refused to buy Robertson's equity.

Mr. BROWN. Did Capt. May explain why the Erie did not care to purchase Robertson's equity?

Mr. WILLIAMS. They could not handle it through their washery. The washery was out of the way.

Mr. BROWN. They didn't want to buy Robertson's equity, but they didn't want to dispose of their own equity. Didn't Capt. May intimate to you either expressly or impliedly that it was against the policy of the road to dispose of their interest in this culm bank?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes; he said he was not willing to do it.

Mr. BROWN. Didn't he give you any idea on which he based his reluctance to negotiate?

Mr. WILLIAMS. No; he was very short.

Mr. BROWN. You mean his manner was abrupt?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Very abrupt; yes.

Mr. BROWN. He didn't seem to want to transact business with you at all?

Mr. WILLIAMS. No, sir.

Mr. BROWN. You left him with the impression that his decision was final?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes; I went to the judge right away.

Mr. BROWN. What did the judge say?

Mr. WILLIAMS. The judge says, "I know their lawyer, Mr. Brownell, I will see him about it. You go back to him again and see him about it to-morrow." I went back to him, and in the meantime, as I remember, the judge met him and spoke to him about it.

Mr. BROWN. What did the judge say to you? Give me a complete statement of just what occurred when you went back to the judge after having seen May.

Mr. WILLIAMS. I don't remember exactly. The judge got excited, and he says, "Well, I will go and see Brownell; I am well acquainted with him, and I might hurt him for his refusal to give such a small thing."

Mr. BROWN. Is that all he said?

Mr. WILLIAMS. That is all. He told me, "I got some cases here now for them that I have just decided."

Mr. BROWN. Cases for whom?

Mr. WILLIAMS. The Erie Co.

Mr. BROWN. What else did he say?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I took hold of the brief and looked at it.

Mr. BROWN. Of what brief?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Of the lighter brief. Some overcharges that they had made on the lighters. I asked him what is a lighter. "It carries the railroad cars over the river," he says.

Mr. BROWN. You say the judge was preparing a brief at the time for the Erie Co.; you saw the brief?

Mr. WILLIAMS. The brief was there.

Mr. BROWN. In what form; printed or typewritten?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Printed.

Mr. BROWN. It had been completed?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. BROWN. It did not appear that the judge had written the brief?

Mr. WILLIAMS. It was there.

Mr. BROWN. Did he tell you that he had prepared it?

Mr. WILLIAMS. No; he had some cases there then, and he said, "Here is one brief," and I took hold of it.

Mr. BROWN. When he told you that he had some cases there then, what was your understanding of his statement? I want to know whether he was preparing or completing a brief for the Erie, or had he before him a case for adjudication in which the Erie was a party?

Mr. WILLIAMS. He was not making the brief.

Mr. BROWN. He was passing on the case and the brief had been prepared and filed by the lawyers for the Erie Co. Is that your understanding?

Mr. WILLIAMS. It was a printed matter.

Mr. BROWN. Your understanding was he was passing on a case in which the Erie Co. was a party, and this brief was a brief filed by the attorney for the Erie Railroad in that case?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. BROWN. Did the judge allude to this brief or refer to it in any way?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I asked him what did that mean.

Mr. BROWN. He defined what the term "lighterage" meant?

Mr. WILLIAMS. He said he had passed upon a couple of cases for them before. He said there are more cases.

Mr. BROWN. You refer to the lighterage case? What did he say about it? Did he connect the lighterage case with the culm-bank transaction? It is not necessary that you should give me the exact words of the judge, but I want the purport of his remarks to you at that time.

Mr. WILLIAMS. I said that he passed on two cases for them before. He did not tell me how he decided them.

Mr. BROWN. What did he say about the lighterage case pending before him then?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Here is some cases yet. That is all he said.

Mr. BROWN. What inference did you draw from this remark?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Well, I have no right to draw any inference; you can draw your own inference.

Mr. BROWN. I want to know what is your understanding of his remarks regarding this lighterage case. What did he mean to imply when he said he had a case pending before him, according to your understanding?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Well, I suppose he meant he had a chance to do something for them or against them.

Mr. BROWN. Were his remarks susceptible of any other construction?

Mr. WILLIAMS. No, sir.

Mr. BROWN. What did he say about Brownell?

Mr. WILLIAMS. He said he was well acquainted with their lawyer. I did not know him. I never heard the name before.

Mr. BROWN. Did he say he would see Brownell about the option?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. BROWN. Do you know whether he saw him or not?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I don't remember.

Mr. BROWN. Try to remember whether he ever told you he saw him or not, or indicated that he saw Brownell.

Mr. WILLIAMS. I can't remember whether he saw Brownell or not.

Mr. BROWN. Can you remember whether he said he was going to New York to see him?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. BROWN. What happened the second time you went?

Mr. WILLIAMS. He gave it to me—the option.

Mr. BROWN. His attitude seemed to have changed completely? You say only one day intervened between your first and second conference? Had the judge done anything other than speak to May personally?

Mr. WILLIAMS. No, sir; because he didn't have time.

Mr. BROWN. State what happened next.

Mr. WILLIAMS. I got the option. I could not say how many days after that I went to see Capt. May again, but I know the judge had met him and talked with him. I don't remember if he saw Brownell. He told me to go and see May again.

Mr. BROWN. You went to see May. Do you remember how many days had elapsed?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I could not say.

Mr. BROWN. The next time you went to see Capt. May his attitude was entirely changed?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. BROWN. What took place at the second conference?

Mr. WILLIAMS. He gave me the option.

Mr. BROWN. He seemed to be glad to grant it?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. BROWN. Did May give you any explanation for changing his decision?

Mr. WILLIAMS. No; not a word.

Mr. BROWN. You did not ask for any explanation?

Mr. WILLIAMS. No, sir; the judge told me before I went that I could get anything from him.

Mr. BROWN. How was the purchase price that you paid for the Erie equity in the culm bank fixed?

Mr. WILLIAMS. $4,500.

Mr. BROWN. How did you arrive at that amount? Did you discuss it with May?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. BROWN. What was the purport of your conversation regarding the price to be paid for this option?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I talked to him about the amount and the quantity of coal with their own engineers. I told him that I got the other half for $3,500. He brought it down. He had it up to $6,000; then he brought it down to $4,500.

Mr. BROWN. At the time did you think that $4,500 was a reasonable price for the Erie interest in the culm bank?

Mr. WILLIAMS. If the other was reasonable, it must be more than reasonable.

Mr. BROWN. Did you think at that time it was a reasonable price to pay for the Erie interest?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I thought I had some advantage.

Mr. BROWN. How great an advantage? What did you honestly believe was the value of the Erie interest in the culm bank at that time?

Mr. WILLIAMS. It was worth $10,000.

Mr. BROWN. Yet you have practically completed negotiations for selling the property for between $30,000 and $40,000? How do you account for the large discrepancy in your estimate?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I suppose it was through his influence that done a good deal of it.

Intermission.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Williams, I would like to resume your examination relative to the fixing of the purchase price to be paid to the Erie for their equity in the culm bank. You stated that you saw Capt. May, the first time he refused absolutely to negotiate with you relative to this deal; you went back to Judge Archbald and told him what happened, and the judge, as I understand it, indicated displeasure at the actions of May, and intimated to you that he would go over May's head and force him to talk business with you, and at that time he was passing on a case involving lighterage charges.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Something about lighterage, I don't remember what it was.

Mr. BROWN. In which the Erie was a party in interest?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I did not understand what lighterage was.

Mr. BROWN. You do remember the Erie was a party in this case pending before him at that time?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes; I seen it, I had the paper book in my hand.

Mr. BROWN. Judge Archbald, according to your theory, saw or communicated with somebody higher up than May in this corporation, and then he told you to go and see May again, and the second time May's attitude had entirely changed, and he was willing to talk business with you.

Will you give me, to the best of your recollection, just the substance of the conversation with May, on the second visit, with especial reference to the method whereby the price to be paid for the culm bank was arrived at.

Mr. WILLIAMS. He figured it up at 12 cents a ton, then he figured it at 6 cents. I told him, why should you ask any more than Robertson; he only asked $3,500. I think your price is high.

Mr. BROWN. What did he say?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Well, he figured it down to $4,500.

Mr. BROWN. At what rate per ton?

Mr. WILLIAMS. At 6 cents per ton.

Mr. BROWN. Isn't that a very low price for culm, in place?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes; we could get from the Laurel line 27½ cents.

Mr. BROWN. Has the price materially increased since you put through the deal with May?

Mr. WILLIAMS. It has increased some.

Mr. BROWN. To what extent?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I could not tell you.

Mr. BROWN. Well, give me an estimate. Has it increased, say, 25 per cent in value or 50 per cent, or is the increase comparatively small?

Mr. WILLIAMS. It has increased, maybe, from 5 cents to 6 cents a ton.

Mr. BROWN. So that you estimate that at the time you purchased the Erie interest in this culm bank the culm was probably worth about 20 cents a ton?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir; it is not a very rich dump.

Mr. BROWN. I want to get your estimate of the value, per ton, of that culm at the time you got this option from May, as contradistinguished from the present value of the culm.

Mr. WILLIAMS. He estimated we could get nearly $40,000 to lease it by the ton.

Mr. BROWN. You understand, Mr. Williams, I am trying to get at the reasonable value of that culm per ton in place at the time that you put through this option with May?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Well, I have leased 1,000,000 tons at 10 cents per ton.

Mr. BROWN. You mean you have purchased culm at that rate?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I leased it. I leased all he owned from Forest City to Moosic.

Mr. BROWN. It is not material what you leased culm for. I want to know what it was worth in the market, according to your best judgment, at the time the option was granted. A moment ago you stated that the value of culm has increased from 5 cents to 6 cents a ton since this transaction occurred. The Laurel line was willing to pay 27½ cents per ton for this culm. Now, the logical inference is, according to your best judgment, at the time you secured this option this culm was worth about 20 cents per ton.

Mr. WILLIAMS. I suppose.

Mr. BROWN. I want a little more definite answer than that. What is your best judgment?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Conn told me he was paying 70 cents per ton for culm at that time. Yes; he told me that.

Mr. BROWN. That evidently was higher than the prevailing market price?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir. He was paying the Erie 70 cents.

Mr. BROWN. For the same quality of coal?

Mr. WILLIAMS. It was fresh culm from the breaker.

Mr. BROWN. What difference in the value of culm would that make?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I don't know. There might be more carbon in it.

Mr. BROWN. You have had a great deal of experience in coal transactions?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. BROWN. Do you think it is probable that Mr. May could have, in a deal involving as much money, made an honest mistake in the appraisal of the value of this bank that he was about to sell for the corporation he represented?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I don't know. I believe he said the estimate was of their engineers. Robertson said that the estimate of their engineers was 140,000 tons.

Mr. BROWN. Whose engineers?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. The Erie's engineers.
 Mr. BROWN. Then you think Capt. May knew at the time that this culm was worth more than he was charging you for it? He knew that the Erie interest in the bank was worth a good deal more to the Hillside Coal & Iron Co. than he was charging for the option?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. I couldn't say. I don't think he was ignorant; he handled so much of it.
 Mr. BROWN. He was an old, experienced coal man, and was a good judge of coal values?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.
 Mr. BROWN. Who told you that the Erie engineers had estimated there was 140,000 tons in the bank?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Robertson.
 Mr. BROWN. Where did he get it?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. From their engineers.
 Mr. BROWN. Who were their engineers?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. I don't know. May told me that day that they estimated it, but I think he told me at first that it was 140,000.
 Mr. BROWN. What made him change the amount?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. I don't know; I think he told me the same as Robertson told me.
 Mr. BROWN. Told you when?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. In the office.
 Mr. BROWN. At what time?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. When I was there the second time.
 Mr. BROWN. That at the time he granted the option there was 140,000 tons? I understood you to say a moment ago that he admitted the amount of coal to be only about—
 Mr. WILLIAMS. There is a difference in the amount of coal and culm, altogether.
 Mr. BROWN. I mean the amount of culm, we are referring to culm. His estimate was based on the amount of coal, and the estimate of the engineers was based on the amount of culm?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.
 Mr. BROWN. What is the usual basis of valuation on a culm bank, the amount of coal or culm?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. The amount of coal.
 Mr. BROWN. Then what was the purpose of the estimate of the engineers that there was 140,000 tons of culm?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. We know pretty near how much the percentage of coal is. We knew by the estimate of culm the percentage of coal, after we get the estimate of culm.
 Mr. BROWN. Let us get a common basis of computation. You say May's estimate was based on the amount of coal, the engineers' estimate was based on the amount of culm. How does the engineers' estimate of the amount of culm tally with May's estimate of the amount of coal?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. The estimate of coal would not run less than 75 per cent.
 Mr. BROWN. Seventy-five per cent of the 140,000 tons of coal? You think that is a fair estimate?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.
 Mr. BROWN. May must have known that at the time the option was made?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. He ought to know; he had so many washeries themselves that would give more percentage than that.
 Mr. BROWN. What I want to get at is just this, whether or not there was a reasonable possibility of May having made an honest mistake in calculating the amount of coal or culm in this bank at the time he granted the option to you?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. I can not see how he could make a mistake—a man of his experience. With his experience and the report of the engineers of his company to inform him, I can't see how he could make a mistake.
 Mr. BROWN. Your theory is that he deliberately miscalculated the amount of coal or culm in the bank?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. It looks that way to me.
 * * *
 Mr. BROWN. Has any other action been taken with respect to this Hillside property? You are waiting the consummation of the deal with respect to the Katydid bank before taking this other property under consideration; so that in view of these conditions you believe that the price that you have put on this culm, of 27½ cents per ton, in the prospective contract with Conn, is less than you ought to be able to get for the property.
 Mr. WILLIAMS. I think we ought to get 40 cents.
 Mr. BROWN. You think 40 cents is a conservative estimate of its value to the Laurel line?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.
 Mr. BROWN. In other words, you think that the Erie Railroad Co., or rather the Hillside C. & I Co., could have sold their interests in this bank direct to the Laurel line, if they had wished to do so, at a rate of at least 27½ cents.
 Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.
 Mr. BROWN. I am speaking of their equity in the property. They could have disposed of that to the Laurel line on that basis of valuation?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes; very likely.
 Mr. BOLAND. The Erie controlled the bank on account of owning the land and the tracks, and Mr. Robertson had no right in the culm at all. He had a switch and scales, for his good will, and what he had was the personal property and improvements, so that he was claiming $3,500.
 Mr. WILLIAMS. At first Capt. May doubted his equity in the bank to me, but I would not make any dispute about it. After that the judge said he did not think Robertson had any equity; then May came to the conclusion that he did, and so did the judge.
 Mr. BROWN. At the time you got your option from the Hillside C. & I Co., Mr. May did not believe there was any interest vested in Robertson?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. No, sir. He did not know whether he had an interest or not, but after he came to the conclusion that he had.
 Mr. BROWN. Just explain your idea of Robertson's interest, just what its limitations were, its nature and extent.
 Mr. WILLIAMS. One-half interest.
 Mr. BROWN. As I understand it, it had certain qualifications to it?
 Mr. WILLIAMS. Robertson owned one-half of the culm, outside of chestnut. They did not own any chestnut in his part, if ever there was any chestnut in one-half of it.
 The most of the coal he mined came from other property. Even the Erie had not control of that property.

TESTIMONY OF RICHARD BRADLEY.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The managers will proceed with their next witness.
 Mr. Manager CLAYTON. I would call Mr. Richard Bradley as the next witness.
 Richard Bradley entered the Chamber.
 The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Give your name and address to the stenographer.
 Mr. BRADLEY. Richard Bradley, Peckville, Pa.
 Richard Bradley, having been duly sworn, was examined, and testified as follows:
 Q. (By Mr. Manager CLAYTON.) Mr. Bradley, I believe you stated that your name is Richard Bradley?—A. Yes, sir.
 Q. And that your residence is at Peckville, Pa.?—A. Yes, sir.
 Q. What business are you engaged in?—A. I am in the coal business at present.
 Q. How long have you been engaged in the coal business?—A. It will be seven years the 19th of this month.
 Q. And in that coal business have you had anything to do with the operation of culm dumps or culm banks?—A. Yes, sir. The only way that I have operated coal was through culm banks.
 Q. How many culm banks have you owned or operated within the time that you have named in nearly the last seven years?—A. I have been interested in two.
 Q. Are you familiar with the Katydid culm dump at Moosic, Pa.?—A. Yes, sir. I have been there and looked the bank over.
 Q. How many times have you been there and looked the bank over?—A. I think I make the third trip there.
 Q. Did you make a careful inspection of the Katydid culm dump?—A. I can not say that I inspected it very close.
 Q. You inspected it close enough to form what you think a pretty accurate idea of its size and its probable contents?—A. Yes, sir.
 Q. What was your estimate of its worth to the Erie Railroad Co., or to its subsidiary, the Hillside Coal & Iron Co., or its market worth?
 Mr. WORTHINGTON. I object to that question, Mr. President. I do not know how Judge Archbald is to be affected by the opinion that this witness may have had as to what this culm bank was worth to somebody else. Of course, Judge Archbald is to be judged by the knowledge that he had when he entered into this transaction; and how it can be affected by what the witness's judgment was as to the value of the dump to the Erie Railroad Co. I can not conceive.
 The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Please propound the question again, or let the stenographer read it, which perhaps would be better.
 The Reporter read as follows:
 Q. What was your estimate of its worth to the Erie Railroad Co., or to its subsidiary, the Hillside Coal & Iron Co., or its market worth?
 Mr. WORTHINGTON. If the question is confined to its market worth I have no objection.
 Mr. Manager CLAYTON. Very well, Mr. President; I thought counsel's objection to the question was broader than that. I have no objection to putting it in that way.
 Q. (By Mr. Manager CLAYTON.) What was the market value—
 Mr. WORTHINGTON. I should like to say here, Mr. President, that we do not concede that the opinion of anybody as to what the value of this dump was or is is competent testimony unless it is shown to have been communicated to Judge Archbald. But we are not making that objection, because that is a matter that can be considered when we come to the argument.
 Mr. Manager CLAYTON. I will not stop to tell the President or the Senate why I am seeking to elicit this information; that will appear in the argument; and I think it will then be shown to be perfectly competent testimony. It harmonizes with other testimony in the case which has already been adduced.
 Q. (By Mr. Manager CLAYTON.) What is your answer to this question: What was the market value or worth of the Katydid culm dump?—A. How do you mean, Judge? Do you mean to get that coal out and load it on cars, or do you mean right where it lies?
 Q. I want to know what it was worth there.—A. You mean on a royalty basis that this coal was worth for a man who—
 Q. You can use your own way in answering it. I want your estimate, in other words, of that culm dump.—A. Well, in that culm dump is different sizes of coal and every size carries a different price.
 Q. How much did you offer for that culm dump? That will, perhaps, enable you to answer the question better.—A. I offered Mr. Williams the first time I walked over the dump—
 Mr. CLARK of Wyoming. We can not hear the witness.
 The PRESIDENT pro tempore (to the witness). Speak louder.

A. The first time I walked over the dump with Mr. Williams I offered him $16,000 for it.

Q. Then, afterwards, did you offer him another amount?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. How much was the other amount which you offered him?—A. $20,000.

Q. When was it you offered him $20,000 for the Katydid culm dump?—A. It was on the same day.

Q. What was the worth of that Katydid culm dump at the time you offered Mr. Williams $20,000 for it?—A. Well, a man could have paid $20,000 for that, Judge, and yet could have made a little money on it. That was my idea.

Q. How much in addition to the $20,000 could he have made on it?—A. I thought he ought to make about ten.

Q. After having paid all operating expenses?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mr. Bradley, did you meet Mr. Williams in Scranton at any time in 1912 and have a conversation with him about this Katydid culm bank; and, if so, what did he say to you?—A. I met him there in Scranton, and he said to me that he had the dump for sale.

Q. What all did he say and what all did you say?—A. I do not know as I could repeat it all.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. May I refresh the witness by referring to his previous testimony, Mr. President?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair thinks the witness had better state as much of it as he can recollect, and then if he fails—

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. I am trying to get him to do so.

The WITNESS. I should like to go along the line as much as I can of the last evidence.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. I did not hear your answer, Mr. Bradley. Please repeat it.

The WITNESS. I say I would like to go along the line as nearly as I can with the last evidence I gave before.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. Certainly. Well, state in your own way the transaction you had with E. J. Williams with reference to the purchase of the Katydid culm dump, beginning with the beginning and stating it all in your own way.—A. Well, I went with him to the dump, and from the dump we came back to Scranton. On my way down at the dump I offered $16,000, and after I got back to Scranton we talked it over at Mr. Boland's office and I offered him $20,000. I can not remember that there was a great deal said more than making the proposition and going to see Mr. May to have the contract drawn up for the dump.

Q. Mr. Bradley, prior to your offer of $16,000 for the Katydid culm dump, did Mr. Williams say anything about another offer that he had made to him for the purchase of that dump?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. What did he say in respect to that offer?—A. There was a party—Tom Starr Jones, I think, he spoke of as the name of the party—that had offered twenty-five thousand.

Q. Twenty-five thousand what?—A. Twenty-five thousand dollars.

Q. For what?—A. For the Katydid culm dump. I think that is somewhere near the line.

Q. Did you and he leave each other without having come to any conclusion after you had offered him the $16,000?—A. No, sir; we did not. When I left him, you know, I had offered him the twenty thousand.

Q. Where was it that you offered him the twenty thousand?—A. In Mr. Boland's office.

Q. In Scranton?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, why did you offer him the $20,000 for the culm dump? Was it because you expected to make money on it by its operation?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was said in reference to Mr. May by Williams or by you in the conversation with Williams touching the sale and purchase of the Katydid culm dump?—A. Well, there was not anything said very particular about that, I do not think, until we reached Mr. May's office next morning.

Q. How did you find out that May was a necessary party to consult in the transaction?—A. Mr. Williams told me that he got the option from Mr. May.

Q. Did you and the witness go together to see Capt. May?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. When was that?—A. I do not know as I can tell you the day and date for that.

Q. Was it in March or April, 1912?—A. I think it was in May.

Q. Do you remember, if I may refresh your recollection, that you were down here testifying in May, and therefore this transaction was before you testified here in Washington?—A. Yes, sir. It might have been the latter part of April. I can not say just when.

Q. What happened when you and Mr. Williams went to see Capt. May? What did Williams say, what did you say, and what did Capt. May say?—A. Mr. Williams introduced me to Capt. May and said to him that I was the man who was going to buy the dump from him, if Capt. May was satisfied to let me have it—somewhere in those lines.

Q. What else was said, if anything?—A. I never had met Capt. May before; we were strangers, and he wanted me to give him some reference. He wanted to find out whether I was responsible enough to take hold of such a thing or pay for it, or something like that.

Q. After you saw Mr. May, or when you saw Mr. May, was there anything said or considered as to the matter of the title to the Katydid culm dump?—A. No, sir.

Q. Did you consider the title to the dump satisfactory to you?—A. I could not tell until I got the contract from Mr. May, and then I was going to take it to my lawyer and let him look up that point for me—the title.

Q. Do you not remember that before the Judiciary Committee this question was asked you:

After you saw Mr. May the matter of title was satisfactory to you, was it?

And you answered:

Well, Mr. May—yes. Mr. May explained it—how much of the bank they owned and how much Mr. Robertson and Mr. Law owned.

The CHAIRMAN. Will you please state in your own way, as nearly as you can, what Mr. May said and what you said?

Mr. BRADLEY. Well, there was not but very little said—very little. Of course, me and Mr. May were strangers to each other there, and he wanted to know of me who would I get—that is, for reference of whether I was responsible, you know, of taking the obligation; and I referred him to a gentleman in Scranton there, and he was satisfied, and we made an agreement that he would go with me down to the bank at 1.20 in the afternoon. * * * So we went down together, Mr. May, Mr. Williams, and myself.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. From what page of the record is that?

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. Page 859.

Q. (By Mr. Manager CLAYTON.) Do you remember, Mr. Bradley, having testified before the Committee on the Judiciary in the House of Representatives last spring in the manner and in the substance to that which I have just read?—A. Yes, sir; that is right.

Q. Is that a correct statement?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is the truth?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is the truth now?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. And it was the truth then?—A. Yes, sir; that is right.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. I wish you would give me, Mr. Secretary, the letter from W. A. May, vice president and general manager of this concern, addressed to Mr. Richard Bradley.

The Secretary handed a letter to Mr. Manager CLAYTON.

Q. (By Mr. Manager CLAYTON.) What happened, Mr. Bradley, between you and May and Williams after you three went down to the culm bank?—A. Mr. May and I went over the culm bank and he showed me what banks were there that he meant would be sold under this option. There was one bank there; it was a coarse bank, and he claimed that that bank did not go in with the rest.

Q. You did not understand that you were buying the one that May pointed out as not going in with the rest when you offered the $20,000 for the Katydid culm dump?—A. No, sir.

Q. Mr. Bradley, what else; were there any further negotiations that day by you and Williams in respect to the purchase of the Katydid culm dump? Have you stated all that occurred at the time of the visit of yourself and Williams and May to the Katydid culm dump?—A. I can not say; I do not know that I have left out anything.

Q. After your visit, to which I have just referred, did you get a copy of the letter or contract, one or both, from Capt. May, the vice president and general manager?—A. Yes, sir; I got the contract. The letter I never could remember. But it seems the letter came to me, but I never could recall what it is.

Q. Have you a copy of the original of that letter which you say came to you?—A. No, sir.

Q. Have you looked for it?—A. No, sir.

Q. Do you know where it is?—A. No, sir.

Q. I show to the witness, now, the exhibit U. S. S. Exhibit 8, which is a copy of a letter dated April 13, 1912, addressed to Mr. Bradley, written by Capt. May.—A. Capt. May spoke of the letter before. It seems when I gave him the contract back this letter was somewhere in with the contract, and I had never seen it.

Q. What was it that you remarked? We did not hear it.—A. It seems that that letter was in with the contract.

Q. You received this letter and the contract in the same envelope through the mails?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is that what you mean?—A. It seems that way to me. Mr. May had the letter, and claimed it was in the contract after I sent it back.

Q. That is the reason why you think you have not the original letter?—A. I have not got any.

Q. Now, Mr. Bradley, I wish you would pay attention to the reading of this letter. It is already in evidence, but I desire, in order to correctly interrogate the witness, to have it reproduced in the record at this juncture.

The Secretary read as follows:

[U. S. S. Exhibit 8.]

APRIL 13, 1912.

Mr. RICHARD BRADLEY, Peckville, Pa.

DEAR SIR: Further in the matter of the interest of the Hillside Coal & Iron Co. in the Katydid dump, referred to in mine of the 11th instant to you:

Because of the complications brought to your attention yesterday at the Laurel Line station our attorneys believe that it will be best for you not to do anything whatever in connection with the matter until you hear further from me.

Yours, very truly,

W. A. MAY,

Vice President and General Manager.

(Copy to Mr. E. J. Williams, 626 South Blakely Street, Dunmore, Pa.)

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. Will the Secretary please find the contract which is referred to in that letter?

The Secretary handed Mr. Manager CLAYTON a paper.

Q. (By Mr. Manager CLAYTON.) You have just heard the letter read. Do you think you would recognize the contract which accompanied that letter if you were to see it? Look at this [exhibiting paper] and state whether or not you think that is the paper which was inclosed with the letter. I am now referring to United States Senate Exhibit 5.

The WITNESS (after examining paper). Yes, sir; I think that is it.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. I will not ask to reproduce this in the evidence, but merely repeat what I said just now, that it is marked "United States Senate Exhibit 5," so that in the argument of the case we can very readily find it. It is a tentative deed from the Hillside Coal & Iron Co., a corporation of the State of Pennsylvania, party of the first part, and E. J. Williams, of the borough of Dunmore, Pa., party of the second part.

Now the letter which you examined a few moments ago and which has been read from the Clerk's desk you say you received, and this contract which you have looked upon, through the mail?

A. Yes, sir; but it seems the letter was with the contract. It does not seem that the letter came by itself.

Q. When you say "it seems," you mean to say that that is your best recollection?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. And what became of that letter and that contract?—A. I gave it to Capt. May.

Q. When did you hand that letter and contract to Capt. May?—A. I think it was either on the 12th or 13th.

Q. Of what month and of what year?—A. April, I think.

Q. What year?—A. 1912.

Q. Did I correctly understand you to say that the 12th or 13th day of April, 1912, is your recollection of the time when you delivered that letter and that form of a contract back to Capt. May?—A. Yes, sir; I think so. I think it is somewhere around there.

Q. Is it your best recollection that it was either on the 12th or 13th day of April, 1912, that you delivered those papers back to Capt. May?—A. I think so; yes, sir.

Q. Where was the delivery had, Mr. Bradley?—A. To the Laurel line station in Scranton.

Q. The Laurel line station is what sort of a building? What is it? Is it a railroad station?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. What railroad?—A. The Laurel line, going from Scranton into Wilkes-Barre.

Q. That is an electric railroad, is it?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. How did you happen to meet Capt. May there at the Laurel line railroad station at the time of the delivery of this letter and contract back to him?—A. Well, I wanted to go down to the dump again to look the dump over. There were some points there I wanted to see before I signed the contract.

Q. And you happened to see Capt. May at the station. Did he know before that that you were going down again to the culm bank?—A. No, sir. I do not think he knew it.

Q. Do you know how it happened that he went to the railroad station at the particular time that you met him on this day that we have talked about?—A. He is there quite frequently each day. I think that is the way he goes to his office in Scranton.

Q. Did you approach him first on the day that this letter and form of a contract were surrendered by you back to Capt. May or did he first approach you?—A. He first approached me.

Q. Please narrate as nearly as you can exactly what he said and what you said.—A. There were but very few words passed between the two of us about the subject. He said to me, "I sent you a contract," I think he said, "yesterday." I said to him, "Yes, sir; I received it." He said, "I wish you would mail me that contract back again." I did not ask him any questions why he wanted me to do that. I said, "Well, I do not have to mail it, Mr. May, I have it in my pocket," and I gave it to him. I said, "I was on my way going down to the dump, and I suppose it isn't any use," or some such remark, "of my going down." "Oh," he said, "you can go if you like." That was about all that was said between him and me at the station.

Q. When Capt. May said that he had sent you a contract, did he tell you how he had sent it—did he say that he had sent it through the mails?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did or did not Mr. May at that time say anything about the reason why he wished the contract back?—A. I think he made some remarks there that his company thought it would be best not to go any further with it until a future time.

Q. Did he say why?—A. No; he did not.

Q. Had you heard anything at that time about a rumor or anything in the shape of a rumor of an investigation into the conduct of Judge Archbald by an officer or an agent of the Department of Justice from Washington?—A. No, sir; I had not.

Q. Nothing was said by you or Mr. May at that time about that?—A. No, sir.

Q. You did not ask him to give any reason why he wanted the contract back, did you?—A. No, sir; I did not.

Q. And he volunteered none?—A. No, sir; he did not.

Q. You merely handed him back the contract; and you think the letter was in with the contract; was that all?—A. That is about all I knew about that.

Q. Did he not assign any reason whatever, Mr. Bradley?—A. No, sir; he did not.

Q. You received a letter dated April 11, 1912, from Mr. May, did you not? I will show you a copy of it. I am referring now to U. S. S. Exhibit No. 6, it being a letter addressed to Mr. Richard Bradley at Peckville, Pa., dated April 11, 1912, and signed by W. A. May, vice president and general manager. I think this letter—Exhibit No. 6—has been read into the record. We have the two letters, and that is the one, I think, which was read awhile ago.

Mr. SIMPSON. The one you read awhile ago was the letter of the 13th.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. I meant to have read the letter of April 11. That is the one I thought the Secretary was reading. The letter of the 11th, of course, is the one that inclosed the contract. Now, this letter of April 13 which has been read into the record is one that was written when Capt. May had decided not to make the contract, and I should have had that read first, before this one dated April 13.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Does the manager desire that they shall be transposed in the record?

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. Yes, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Very well.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. So the letter of the 11th, which transmitted the contract, shall appear first. Now I ask that the letter of April 11 be read.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Secretary will read it.

The Secretary read as follows:

[U. S. S. Exhibit 6.]

APRIL 11, 1912.

Mr. RICHARD BRADLEY, Peckville, Pa.

DEAR SIR: Herewith please find proposed form of agreement conveying the interest of the Hillside Coal & Iron Co. in the culm piles on the surface of lot 46, situate partly in Lackawanna and partly in Luzerne Counties, Pa.

Will you please confer with Mr. E. J. Williams, to whom I have sent a copy of this letter, in regard to the form herewith and advise whether or not same meets with your approval? If the agreement is satisfactory to you, it will be submitted to the executive officers of the H. C. & I. Co. for their consideration and approval.

Yours, very truly,

W. A. MAY,

Vice President and General Manager.

(Inclosure: Copy to Mr. E. J. Williams, 626 South Blakely Street, Dunmore, Pa.)

Q. (By Mr. Manager CLAYTON.) That is the letter, Mr. Bradley, that I questioned you about and which you said accompanied this contract?—A. Yes, sir; that is right.

Q. That is the letter you say you surrendered back with the contract we have heretofore referred to?—A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. I want the other one, dated the 13th.

The SECRETARY. That is No. 8.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. I know that letter was read to him awhile ago. So I was right and somebody else was in error, Mr. President. That letter was read awhile ago. I interrogated the witness about it. I did not think I made a mistake. Now, I desire to have read the letter of April 13.

The Secretary read as follows:

[U. S. S. Exhibit 8.]

APRIL 13, 1912.

Mr. RICHARD BRADLEY, Peckville, Pa.

DEAR SIR: Further in the matter of the interest of the Hillside Coal & Iron Co. in the Katydid dump, referred to in mine of the 11th instant to you:

Because of the complications brought to your attention yesterday at the Laurel line station our attorneys believe that it will be best for you not to do anything whatever in connection with the matter until you hear further from me.

Yours, very truly,

W. A. MAY,

(Copy to Mr. E. J. Williams, 626 South Blakely Street, Dunmore, Pa.)

Q. (By Mr. Manager CLAYTON.) Mr. Bradley, you have heard that letter read. It is already in evidence. Did you receive a letter of which a copy has just been read from the clerk's desk?—A. Yes, sir; I received that letter.

Q. When did you receive that letter?—A. I can not say just the day and date for that.

Q. Did you not receive it after you had surrendered the contract back to May?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. You saw May before the letter reached you and you gave him back the contract?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. And his former letter?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. After this letter was transmitted to you in the mail?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. You will observe that in the letter which has just been read Capt. May uses this language:

Because of the complications brought to your attention yesterday at the Laurel line station our attorneys believe that it will be best for you not to do anything whatever in connection with the matter until you hear further from me.

Now, does not that refresh your memory so that you can now tell the Senate that May did tell you something about what the complications were? And if it does so refresh your memory, tell us what he said.—A. No, sir; I would tell you. If he had said anything to me I would tell you, but he did not.

Q. You say that Capt. May did not call any complications to your attention at the station?—A. No, sir.

Q. He gave you no reason that because of any complication or for any other cause he desired not to execute the contract?—A. No, sir; he did not make any reference to anything whatsoever.

Q. Now, Mr. Bradley, for the purpose of refreshing your memory I desire to call your attention to a part of the testimony taken before the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives last spring here in Washington.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. On what page?

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. On page 859:

Is it not a fact that when Mr. May asked you to turn back that contract on account of the complications that had arisen you understood, without his telling you, that it was on account of these reports concerning Judge Archbald's connection with the transaction—

Mr. WORTHINGTON. Mr. President, I think I will object to that. It is a question which was asked this witness before the Judiciary Committee, in which he stated or undertook to state what he thought was in his mind at the time Mr. May asked him to return this contract. There is nothing that he communicated even to Mr. May much less to Judge Archbald, and we are asked to be affected now by what this witness said before the Judiciary Committee as to what he thought Capt. May thought at the time the contract was returned.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair understands that the manager is only reading it for the purpose of refreshing the memory of the witness. Is the Chair correct?

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. That is my object.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. Of course; but he wants to refresh his memory about a matter which I think is incompetent.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. May I conclude the reading and then—

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair understood the counsel for the respondent to make an objection and—

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. I had not finished reading the statement, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The manager will be given an opportunity to finish the question.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. I will await the pleasure of the Chair.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair suggested that the manager finish the question.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. I did not so understand the Chair.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. In view of what followed in the statement before the Judiciary Committee I think I will withdraw the objection.

Q. (By Mr. Manager CLAYTON.) Then, Mr. Bradley, I will read the question over again. At the time and before the committee, which I have named to you, Mr. FLOYD asked you this question:

Is it not a fact that when Mr. May asked you to turn back that contract on account of the complications that had arisen you understood, without his telling you, that it was on account of these reports concerning Judge Archbald's connection with the transaction, and that you readily returned? Is not that the truth about it? Did you not understand what the complications were, and was it not the fact that rumor and report had connected Judge Archbald with the transaction in such a way that when Mr. May called for the contract back you understood without his telling you what those complications were and willingly surrendered back a contract which would have been to your advantage if executed? Is not that the truth about it?

And then you answered:

Mr. BRADLEY. I have an idea that had something to do with it.

Now, does not that refresh your mind and enable you to answer the question that I asked a while ago?—A. Yes, sir; I remember saying that. I remember answering the question in that way. But I wish to say this: That the day I gave Capt. May back that contract I had never heard nor seen nothing in the paper about Judge Archbald.

Q. You had not seen it in the papers?—A. Oh, afterwards it came out in the paper; I could not say just how many days after I gave the contract back; and there is where I had taken the idea that that was the reason Capt. May wanted the contract back.

Q. Let us see if you will stand by that answer when I further refresh your memory by reading from your testimony given before the Committee on the Judiciary at the time I have heretofore indicated. On page 871, near the bottom:

Mr. Worthington—

The same gentleman who sits here now, you remember. You remember having seen him in the committee?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. (By Mr. Manager CLAYTON.) Mr. Worthington asked you this question:

What is your recollection as to whether anything had appeared in the newspapers about these charges against Judge Archbald, or this proposed investigation, when you had that talk with Mr. May at the Laurel Station on or about the 12th of April?

Mr. BRADLEY. I will tell you; I hardly ever read the paper.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. You do not know whether anything had appeared in the newspapers at that time or not, do you?

Mr. BRADLEY. All I could hear, once in a while somebody would speak about it.

Now, your memory being refreshed, is not that the way the matter happened?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. And is not that the truth?—A. Yes, sir; that is right.

Q. That you did hear once in a while somebody speak of the matter before you surrendered this contract back to Mr. May?—A. Well, that is a kind of a puzzle to me, that contract. When giving the contract back to Mr. May it runs in my mind—I can not say it thoroughly to be a fact, but it runs in my mind that I had never heard anything of the subject of Judge Archbald before I gave the contract back, you understand, but after I gave it back it was in the paper about Judge Archbald.

Q. Is it not a fact that you understood the complication to be this rumored investigation of Judge Archbald's conduct to be the reason why you gave the contract back without making any inquiry?—A. No, sir; that is not it; no, sir.

Q. Why did you give up a profitable contract so readily without making any inquiry?—A. Well, Capt. May wanted it.

Q. And you did it simply because he wanted it?—A. Yes, sir. You see it was not any use to me. The contract would not be any use to me with none of his name. There was nobody's name signed to it at all.

Q. And you did not care to ask him about what reason operated upon him?—A. Yes, sir; that is right.

Q. You readily, without any question at all, surrendered it to him?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did Mr. E. J. Williams tell you at the beginning of your negotiations that he had a half interest and Judge Archbald had a half interest in this Katydid culm dump?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did he tell you what they had to pay and that they had options from other people? State what he did say about that, if he said anything, as to how they acquired the Katydid culm dump.—A. That is in the sale you mean with somebody else that was after buying the dump?

Q. Yes.—A. Yes; he told me about these parties. Mr. Jones was after buying the dump.

Q. What did he say?—A. That he had offered them $25,000.

Q. And you were buying the Katydid culm dump from Williams and Judge Archbald, were you?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. But you had to ask Capt. May's consent to the transaction?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Capt. May was president of what concern?—A. Of the—

Q. Hillside Coal & Iron Co.?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. From whom Judge Archbald and Mr. Williams had acquired the property. Is that true?—A. You see Judge Archbald—I never met the judge. I had no talk with him whatsoever, more than taking old man Williams's word, and he said he had the selling of the dump, and he said himself and the judge owned the dump. Of course, I did not see the judge and had no talk with him about the matter.

Q. After this contract or paper was surrendered back to Capt. May by you did you have any conversation with Judge Archbald relative to the sale and purchase of the Katydid culm dump?—A. No, sir.

Q. Did you not go Judge Archbald and talk to him about it and make him some proposition?—A. No, sir.

Q. You did not approach him on the subject at all after that?—A. No, sir.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. Mr. President, the counsel for the respondent can examine the witness.

Cross-examination:

Q. (By Mr. WORTHINGTON.) Did anybody explain to you why it was that if Mr. Jones was going to buy this dump for $25,000 the owners were selling it to you for $20,000?—A. Well, Jim Dainty kind of made the suggestions on those points, that if I did not want the dump for $20,000 those fellows would buy it and pay twenty-five, and then we would split the difference; he would take two thousand and I would get three thousand.

Q. Did anybody besides Dainty and Williams talk to you about it or suggest your getting this bargain for $20,000?—A. Mr. Boland.

Q. Which Mr. Boland?—A. W. P. Boland.

Q. Did Mr. Boland tell you why he was mixing in it?—A. No, sir; he did not.

Q. Did he tell you he had an interest in it?—A. He told me he did have an interest in it, but he did not have any at that time.

Q. He told you he had had an interest in it, but that he had none then?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. And all these interviews, I think, occurred in Mr. Boland's office, did they not?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. And in Mr. Boland's presence?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. How did you first get informed that there was a chance to buy this dump? Who first spoke to you about it, and where?—A. Mr. Boland put me on in the first start out.

Q. Mr. William P. Boland?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where was that?—A. In his office.

Q. Go on and state what he had to do with it after that.—A. Well, he got after me to go and buy the dump, that he thought it was a very good deal for the money.

Q. Did he say anything to you about this $5,000 profit that might be made by reselling it to Jones?—A. No, sir.

Q. Was that said in his presence?—A. No, sir.

Q. You appear to have gone along pretty fast with this transaction. How soon after that first statement to you about it was it that you went to the dump and looked it over?—A. Oh, I think it was two or three days from the time we talked it over first I went down.

Q. How long after you went down to the dump and looked it over was it before you went with Williams to see Capt. May for the purpose of closing up the transaction?—A. I went down in the afternoon to look the dump over and then went to see Capt. May the next morning.

Q. Where did you meet Williams the next morning?—A. In Mr. Boland's office.

Q. In reference to the title to this dump or your idea about the title, whether you were satisfied with the title, I should like to read a little more than Mr. Manager CLAYTON read to you, and ask if this is what you said on that subject, and all you said on that subject, before the Judiciary Committee when you testified there? Reading from page 859 first, I begin a little farther back than the manager did.

The CHAIRMAN. You were satisfied with the title that Williams could give you to it?

Mr. BRADLEY. Well, to get the main points and facts and figures of this thing, I had to go and see Mr. May. I had never met Mr. May before to be really acquainted with him until on that morning.

The CHAIRMAN. After you saw Mr. May, the matter of the title was satisfactory to you, was it?

Mr. BRADLEY. Well, Mr. May—yes. Mr. May explained it—how much of the bank they owned and how much Mr. Robertson and Mr. Law owned.

The CHAIRMAN. Will you please state in your own way, as nearly as you can, what Mr. May said and what you said?

Mr. BRADLEY. Well, there was not but very little said—very little. Of course me and Mr. May were strangers to each other there, and he wanted to know of me who would I get—that is, for reference of whether I was responsible, you know, of taking the obligation.

That is all about the title.

Now, I turn next to page 873, and will read something and ask you whether you said that on the subject at a later stage of your examination.

I find I have an erroneous reference. I pass that for the present and will come back to it.

Q. You said when Mr. May showed you the bank that there was one dump or one part of the dump not included. I did not understand just what you said about that. What was it?—A. There was a dump there with lots of coarse coal and rock mixed together.

Q. What was the shape of that particular dump or part of dump?—A. It was just like a dump. The railroad run out there and dumped it out there with cars.

Q. Was that a large proportion of the whole Katydid dump or only a small proportion?—A. It was quite a chunk that laid there.

Q. Quite a chunk?—A. Yes; that is, I mean quite a quantity of stuff in that dump.

Q. You said that when you happened to meet Capt. May, when he asked you to return the contract, you were on the way to the dump again about certain points, or some points. What was that? What were you going there the second time to look at the dump for?—A. Well, the day that Mr. May was there with me the dump was very close to the Erie people's line, and there was not any room for a man to build a plant there on that piece of land, and at the end of the dump on the Erie line the D. & H. had some land leading from that; and I went there to look it over and to see the location and the lay of the land, and then go to the D. & H. and see if I could get that piece of land from them to build the plant. That was my object for that day.

Q. Did you have a plant then that you expected to remove to this place, or were you going to build a new plant to run the dump if you had gotten it?—A. I had not decided on that. I had a plant that I would be through with in the course of two years, but I had not decided on that—whether I could move it and move that dump in time enough to fulfill the contract.

Q. Now, where did you first learn of the investigation or anything about Judge Archbald—about his conduct?—A. About his conduct?

Q. Yes; these charges against him that resulted in this proceeding? How was it that the matter was first brought to your attention that such a thing was coming on?—A. Now, lawyer, I do not know whether I can answer that.

Q. Let me ask you if you did not first see it in a Scranton newspaper?—A. Yes, sir; that is right.

Q. What was that newspaper?—A. I think it was the Scranton Times.

Q. Now, up to the time that you had seen the publication in the Scranton Times had you heard any rumors or talk about the matter at all, or were the rumors and talk that you speak of after you had seen the publication in the Scranton Times?—A. No, sir.

Q. Do you mean that you had heard these rumors before or that you had not?—A. I had never heard anything about Judge Archbald until I seen it in the paper.

Q. Then when you find that paper and find the date of that publication we will know when you first had any idea there was such a thing coming on, will we?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mr. Boland rather urged you to buy this dump, did he not, Mr. Bradley?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did he not tell you that you could make money out of it?—A. Well, he thought it was a good deal.

Q. And when you offered $16,000, did he not tell you it was worth more?—A. He did.

Q. Are you not mistaken in saying Mr. Boland did not talk to you about the Jones's $25,000 option?—A. No, sir; I do not think Mr. Boland said anything to me about that. I think it was old man Williams talked with me about that.

Q. That was in Mr. Boland's office?—A. No, sir; it was on the street—the sidewalk.

Q. On the sidewalk?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. You do not remember whether there was any talk about Jones's option in Mr. Boland's presence?—A. No, sir; I do not remember that.

Q. You say Mr. Williams told you that Judge Archbald had a one-half interest in that matter with him?—A. He did; yes, sir.

Q. Did he make any suggestion about keeping that fact quiet?—A. Did he?

Q. Did he?—A. He did not say anything about it.

Q. Did anybody suggest it was a secret that Judge Archbald was connected with the matter?—A. Did anybody outside of Mr. Williams, you mean?

Q. Did Mr. Williams suggest it was a matter to be kept secret?—A. No, sir.

Q. Well, I ask, Did anybody?—A. No, sir; not to me, they did not.

Q. Mr. Bradley, from your examination of this dump did you come to the conclusion about how many thousand tons of coal you could get out of it before you offered to pay $16,000 or $20,000 for it?—A. Yes, sir; I investigated kind of like.

Q. Well, how many tons of coal did you think you could get out of it when you offered first $16,000 and then $20,000 for it?—A. I thought it was anywhere from eighty to one hundred thousand tons of coal could be gotten out of it.

Q. It is upon that you based your conclusion that you could pay $20,000 for it and still make money?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you intend to execute that contract if it had not been returned without submitting it to your lawyer?—A. Oh, no, sir; oh, no.

Q. If you had found you did not get a good title from the Hillside Coal & Iron Co. and Mr. Robertson, would you have gone on with the deal?—A. No, sir; I had that privilege from Mr. May. He would send me the contract, and then I would hunt up the title—a copy of the contract—that is what I got. If the title was right, then we would do business together.

Q. When you said that with eighty or ninety thousand tons of coal there you could afford to pay $20,000 and expected to make $10,000, did you include anything for your own services and time in managing the operation?—A. Well, at all times I do not figure that in, but I figure out what it will cost me to build my plant; then figure out what my expenses will be, and whatever is left I call it mine.

Q. Well, you did not deduct anything for your own time and services?—A. No, sir.

Q. How long would it have taken you, in the ordinary course of the operation as you expected to work it, to have finished the plant, the washing, and the delivery of the coal for sale?—A. That is, you mean how long would it take me to build the plant and wash the dump away?

Q. Yes, sir; to finish the job up?—A. Oh, I could do it in two years or two and one-half.

Q. Could you tell us what it would cost in that region to get a man who is competent to manage such a job—to run it?—A. I have got a very good man—a foreman—down at the south-side plant at Scranton. I pay him $110 a month.

Q. Well, I mean a man to take your place for the work you were going to do?—A. I don't know as I could answer that question. There is an old saying, if you ever heard it, "Of all your mother's children, you love yourself the best."

Mr. WORTHINGTON. I think that is all, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there any other question to be asked on the part of the managers?

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. This witness may be discharged, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The witness will be finally discharged.

Mr. OVERMAN. Mr. President, it is now after 4 o'clock; this is Saturday evening; few of the Senators are here; and, that being the case, I suggest to the managers that by unanimous consent we have an adjournment. If that is agreeable, I move that the Senate sitting as a Court of Impeachment do now adjourn.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. If I may be permitted, I should like to have action on that motion suspended for just a moment until I speak to the managers about a matter concerning which I have already communicated with them. There is a witness who is detained here whom I wish to call and ask a single question, and the managers have kindly consented that it may be done.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Does the Senator from North Carolina withhold his motion for that purpose?

Mr. OVERMAN. I withhold my motion for that purpose.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. It is simply an accommodation to the witness.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The witness will be called. Will counsel please indicate the name of the witness?

Mr. WORTHINGTON. He is Mr. Pryor.

TESTIMONY OF W. L. PRYOR—RECALLED.

W. L. Pryor, having been previously sworn, was recalled, and testified as follows:

Q. (By Mr. WORTHINGTON.) Mr. Pryor, I want to ask you whether you heard in Mr. Boland's office, when you were there in the spring of 1911, any conversations between Mr. William P. Boland and Mr. Edward J. Williams in reference to Judge Archbald going to any New York office?—A. There were conversations going on continually in my presence and while I was absent. Mr. Williams was a constant visitor at the office; in fact, every few hours or so.

Q. Well, I ask you specifically whether you heard any conversation between William P. Boland and Williams in reference to Williams getting Judge Archbald to go to the New York office of the Erie Co.?—A. I believe Mr. Boland requested Mr.

Williams to see Mr. Archbald and get a letter of introduction from him, I believe, to Capt. May.

Q. After that date did you hear Mr. Williams report that he had not got the option from Capt. May?—A. I think he did; yes, sir. On a subsequent time he came back and acknowledged having had it.

Mr. Manager NORRIS. Mr. President, as I understood, the Senate wanted to adjourn. Counsel is asking the witness questions that are not proper cross-examination. I have no objection, if I will be permitted to cross-examine him. Counsel is really making the witness his own witness now.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. I understand that perfectly.

Mr. Manager NORRIS. He is really offering the witness as his own at this time.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. With reference to this particular matter.

Mr. Manager NORRIS. With that understanding, I have no objection, but it may delay the adjournment for some time.

Mr. Manager CLAYTON. Mr. President, I want respectfully to submit another suggestion, and that is that this witness is now the witness for the respondent, and the counsel for the respondent is asking him leading questions. For instance, he so frames the question that the witness can answer categorically. I submit that the proper way for him to proceed, until the witness has shown an unwillingness, is to ask what was said by the parties and not to state what he wants the witness to give an affirmative answer to or a negative answer to, as the case may be.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. I think, Mr. President, it is perfectly apparent that we can not dispose of this matter in so short a time as I had hoped; so we had better not detain the Senate, if there is a desire to adjourn now.

Mr. OVERMAN. I renew my motion, Mr. President, that the Senate sitting as a Court of Impeachment do now adjourn.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from North Carolina moves that the Senate sitting as a Court of Impeachment do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. LODGE. I move that the Senate adjourn.

The motion was agreed to; and (at 4 o'clock and 8 minutes p. m.) the Senate adjourned until Monday, December 9, 1912, at 12 o'clock m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

SATURDAY, December 7, 1912.

The House met at 12 o'clock noon.

The Chaplain, Rev. Henry N. Couden, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Father Almighty, boundless the resources, infinite the mercies, plenteous the gifts poured out upon us. Help us as rational beings gifted with the power of choice to lay hold upon these things, make them ours, that we may wisely use them to the uplift of our souls and the furtherance of Thy kingdom, that peace and good will may reign supreme. In the spirit of the Lord Christ. Amen.

The Journal of the proceedings of yesterday was read and approved.

LEGISLATIVE, EXECUTIVE, AND JUDICIAL APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House resolve itself into Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for the further consideration of House bill 26680, the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill.

The motion was agreed to.

Accordingly the House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, with Mr. GARNER in the chair.

The CHAIRMAN. The House is in Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for the purpose of considering the bill, of which the Clerk will read the title.

The Clerk read as follows:

A bill (H. R. 26680) making appropriations for the legislative, executive, and judicial expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914, and for other purposes.

The CHAIRMAN. When the committee arose yesterday there was an amendment pending offered by the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. BORLAND], and if there is no objection, the amendment will again be reported.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amend, page 54, line 6, by striking out the word "photostat" and inserting in lieu thereof "photographic reproduction machines."

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. JOHNSON] is recognized.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, I desire that the gentleman from Missouri shall be first recognized.

Mr. BORLAND. Mr. Chairman, I desire to withdraw the amendment that I offered yesterday in order that the chairman of the committee may introduce an amendment covering the same ground.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Missouri withdraws his amendment, and the gentleman from South Carolina offers the following amendment, which the Clerk will report.

The Clerk read as follows:

On page 54, in lines 5 and 6, strike out the words "and the purchase of supplies for photostat."

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, I think under the appropriation for miscellaneous expenses and stationery they can supply these articles, and I move to strike out all reference to any particular machine.

Mr. MOORE of Pennsylvania. Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask the gentleman from South Carolina whether he removes the objection that was made by the gentleman from Missouri, that the photostat is a patented article.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The gentleman from Missouri did not want Congress to single out any particular machine for reproductive purposes. There are other machines by other names that do the same work.

Mr. MOORE of Pennsylvania. That seemed to me to be a proper amendment. I do not think Congress ought to legislate in favor of certain patented articles requiring that they should be purchased.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The Committee on Appropriations has no knowledge of the merits of any particular machine, and therefore we are quite willing that the language shall not designate any particular machine.

Mr. MOORE of Pennsylvania. The difference between the amendment offered by the gentleman from Missouri and the one suggested by the gentleman from South Carolina is instead of specifying the photostat we shall specify the materials used in the operation of the photostat, so that the photostat as a patented article still remains.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. We do not specify any machine; they buy the materials for use on all the machines out of the appropriation for stationery.

Mr. MOORE of Pennsylvania. Does the gentleman think that his amendment will allow any competition? Will any competitor under this bill be able to supply the department with his particular machine or is not the supply still limited to the photostat?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. No; we do not limit it to any particular article because we do not mention any particular machine. My amendment strikes out the word "photostat."

Mr. MOORE of Pennsylvania. If I understood the amendment of the gentleman correctly, it provides that instead of striking out the word "photostat" and using the term "photographic machines," as suggested by the gentleman from Missouri, the amendment of the gentleman from South Carolina simply proposes that we shall buy the materials for use.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The language of my amendment is, "on page 54, line 6, strike out the words 'the purchase of supplies for photostat.'"

Mr. MOORE of Pennsylvania. I think that prevents competition.

Mr. BORLAND. They have already the labor-saving machines under the general language of the clause which permits them to buy them. It does not specify any particular make of machines nor designate it by patented name. It is a general clause appropriating $8,000 for the purpose of purchasing labor-saving machinery. Under that they have the photostat and other machines for the same purpose. Recently the Auditor of the Treasury ruled there was some doubt about buying supplies for this machinery under this clause. He thought that they should put in additional wording permitting them to buy supplies for these machines. It appears, however, they could have bought the supplies under the stationery clause and ought to buy them under that clause. The amendment now suggested by the gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. JOHNSON] strikes the word "photostat" from the law entirely and makes no provision here for the purchase of supplies for that particular machine. That relegates the purchase of supplies to the stationery clause.

Mr. MOORE of Pennsylvania. The gentleman from Missouri made the statement yesterday that the photostat was a patented machine.

Mr. BORLAND. And now I repeat that. The photostat is not a generic term, but is a particular patented machine for the purpose of photographing reproductions. This is the only place in the law where the name "photostat" appears. It is the only clause in this law where it appears, and we now strike it out entirely.

Mr. MOORE of Pennsylvania. Under the amendment proposed by the gentleman from South Carolina could the manufacturer of another machine now compete for these supplies?

Mr. BORLAND. That is my understanding, and I agreed to the amendment on that understanding.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on agreeing to the amendment offered by the gentleman from South Carolina.

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

The Clerk read as follows:

Office of assistant treasurer at Chicago: Assistant treasurer, $5,000; cashier, $3,000; vault clerk, $2,250; paying teller, $2,500; assorting teller, $2,000; redemption teller, $2,000; change teller, $2,000; receiving teller, $2,000; bookkeepers—1 at $1,800, 2 at $1,500 each; clerks—1 $1,750, 2 at $1,600 each, 9 at $1,500 each, 22 at $1,200 each, 1 $900; hall man, $1,100; messenger, $840; 3 watchmen, at $720 each; janitor, $720; 8 money counters and handlers for money laundry machines, at $900 each; in all, $83,320.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike out the last word. May I ask the gentleman from South Carolina whether in the estimates made for the office of the assistant treasurer at Chicago there was any recommendation of an increase in the number of positions, and particularly for an assistant cashier?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. There was, I am sure, although I have not the estimates before me at this moment.

Mr. MANN. I am sure they are very much in need of an assistant cashier.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. They asked that the receiving teller be increased from $2,000 to $2,250. They asked that an additional man be employed under the name of assistant cashier, at $2,000, and then they dropped one clerk. They also asked that the watchman be increased from $720 to $840.

Mr. MANN. I was not speaking of the increases so much as the matter of authorizing an assistant cashier there, which my information leads me to believe is a place very much needed. Did the committee consider that?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The committee had before it absolutely no evidence upon that question at the last sitting. In the making up of the bill during the last Congress we did have extensive hearings. The Secretary of the Treasury attempted to reorganize the force and to classify and standardize the work. I believe that in the bill as it finally passed we left the items for the subtreasuries just as the Secretary of the Treasury had asked us, with the exception of one or two men who had been reduced at Boston.

Mr. MANN. I think the committee last year in its recommendations did very good work in reference to the affairs in the office of the assistant treasurer. Of course that was in a way somewhat tentative, although practically complete. The gentleman knows there is a very large amount of business transacted at the Chicago office, much larger than at any other place in the country outside of New York City, and while the business is not so great by any means as it is in New York City, where they have an assistant cashier, information led me to believe they are very much in need of an assistant cashier, by that title, in the Chicago office.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The gentleman will understand that the man who is designated in the estimates as assistant cashier is now carried as a clerk. They simply propose to increase the salary and give him a different designation. It does not increase the number of people in the subtreasury.

Mr. MANN. I understand that, but it increases the effectiveness of the force by authorizing an assistant cashier who can do certain work that a clerk can not do. However, if the committee has not carefully considered it, we may bring it to the attention of the committee later.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I would say to the gentleman from Illinois that inasmuch as we adjusted all of these salaries in the last Congress according to the recommendation of the Secretary of the Treasury, we did not consider it at this time, and we had no evidence whatever respecting it before the committee.

Mr. MANN. The gentleman would not see his way clear at the present time, or would he, to accepting an amendment providing for an assistant cashier there?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. We can not do that.

The CHAIRMAN. The time of the gentleman from Illinois has expired.

Mr. FOSTER. Mr. Chairman, I observe in these appropriations for the different subtreasuries that there are provisions for money counters and handlers for laundry machines. Now, is that the money that is laundered in the Bureau of Printing and Engraving Office here or are the laundry machines located in the subtreasuries?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. There is to be installed in each subtreasury, except that at San Francisco where they use no paper money, a money-washing machine.

Mr. FOSTER. So that the work will be done in the subtreasuries instead of here?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Oh, yes; there will be a money-washing machine in each subtreasury except the one at San Francisco. There is now one in the Treasury Department—

Mr. FOSTER. One here in Washington.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Yes.

Mr. FOSTER. But none in the subtreasuries at this time?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. No; but the machines have been purchased and will be installed by January.

Mr. COX of Indiana. I desire to ask the chairman how much economy will that result in?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. At least $300,000 a year. The Clerk read as follows:

Office of assistant treasurer at Cincinnati: Assistant treasurer, $4,500; cashier, $2,250; paying teller, $2,000; receiving teller, $1,800; vault clerk, $1,800; bookkeeper, $1,800; clerks—two at $1,300 each, five at $1,200 each, two at $1,000 each; clerk and stenographer, $1,000; chief watchman, $840; two watchmen, at $600 each; four money counters and handlers for money laundry machines, at $900 each; in all, $31,390.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, I reserve the point of order—

The CHAIRMAN. Against what paragraph?

Mr. FOWLER. Against the paragraph just read. I desire to ask the chairman of the committee why the assistant treasurer at Boston and at Chicago receive a salary of $5,000 and at Cincinnati he only receives a salary of $4,500. Is that provided for by law?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I do not recollect there is any law fixing the salary of assistant treasurers in the United States. The salaries as fixed in this bill have been fixed by the Secretary of the Treasury. They were fixed, in his judgment, according to the responsibility of the position. The responsibilities in Chicago and Boston, where large sums are handled, are greater than the responsibilities in Cincinnati.

Mr. FOWLER. Are the sums the same as have been carried in the bills heretofore?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. We have made no change whatsoever in any one of the subtreasuries of the United States unless it was a reduction.

Mr. FOWLER. I observe that the cashier at Chicago receives $3,000, whereas the salary paid the same position at Boston and at Cincinnati is $2,250 in one case and $2,500 in the other. Why should there be a difference made in these different offices in these subtreasury positions?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I will say to the gentleman from Illinois that Secretary MacVeagh has undertaken to reclassify and standardize the work and the salaries of all the employees in all the subtreasuries, and at the last session of Congress the appropriation bill carried the amounts recommended by the Secretary, and that was done not hastily but after investigation and inquiry.

Mr. FOWLER. I discover that you make an increase of clerks from four to five at the salary of $1,200. What is the use for the extra clerk at Cincinnati?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. There is no change in this bill.

Mr. FOWLER. Last year the bill carried a provision for four; this bill carries a provision for five.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Has the gentleman the law before him?

Mr. FOWLER. Yes.

The CHAIRMAN. The time of the gentleman from Illinois has expired.

Mr. LONGWORTH. Mr. Chairman, I desire to offer an amendment.

Mr. FOSTER. There is a point of order pending.

The CHAIRMAN. Does the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. FOWLER] reserve the point of order?

Mr. FOWLER. I did reserve the point of order, Mr. Chairman, and was trying to get the reasons for the increase of salary in certain positions.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, as I stated to the gentleman a moment ago, there is no increase. If he will examine the appropriation bill for the current year, he will find in one place four clerks at $1,200 each. Then follows two clerks at $1,300 each; vault clerk, $1,800; bookkeeper, $1,800; clerk, $1,200. This year, instead of carrying the five clerks in two separate parts of the bill, we consolidated and say five clerks at $1,200.

Mr. FOWLER. That may be true—

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. It is true.

Mr. FOWLER (continuing). That they have been combined, but I do not so discover on an examination of the bill. However, Mr. Chairman, I withdraw the point of order.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Ohio [Mr. LONGWORTH] offers an amendment, which the Clerk will report.

Mr. LONGWORTH. In line 12, page 59, strike out the figures "600" and insert in lieu thereof the figures "720."

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will report the amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amend, page 59, line 12, by striking out the figures "600" and inserting in lieu thereof the figures "720."

Mr. LONGWORTH. Mr. Chairman, I merely desire to make this very brief statement, and I trust that the chairman of the committee will offer no objection. It will be observed that the watchmen in every subtreasury, except that in Cincinnati, receive a salary of $720 a year, while in Boston they receive $850 a year. In Cincinnati their salary is only $600 a year—$50 a month. It seems to me that the mere statement of this fact carries its own argument. It is utterly absurd that these men in Cincinnati should be paid $120 a year less than they are paid in New Orleans for doing precisely the same work. If my amendment shall carry, then every watchman in every subtreasury will receive at least $60 a month. The increase is almost negligible. It will amount to only $240 a year, and yet it will pay these watchmen what I regard as a fair living wage. I trust that the gentlemen will not interpose an objection.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Chairman—

The CHAIRMAN. Does the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. LONGWORTH] yield to his colleague?

Mr. LONGWORTH. Certainly.

Mr. ALLEN. Has the gentleman concluded his statement?

Mr. LONGWORTH. Yes, if the gentleman desires to make a statement.

Mr. ALLEN. I simply wanted to say that I hope the committee will see its way clear to accept that amendment, not only for the reasons stated, namely, that the watchmen in the subtreasuries in other cities receive $720 a year, but, as I recall, in the Post Office appropriation bill last year janitors were increased on motion, I think, of the gentleman from Kansas [Mr. MURDOCK], from $600 to $720 a year, it being recognized that in this day of the high cost of living $600 was entirely inadequate for a man to take care of his family and to meet the requirements of the present time. I want to add my word in their behalf, and I hope the committee will accept that amendment, which is a small amount, so far as this bill is concerned.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. LONGWORTH], which the Clerk will again report.

The amendment was again read.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

The Clerk read as follows:

Office of assistant treasurer at St. Louis: Assistant treasurer, $4,500; cashier, $2,500; paying teller, $2,000; receiving teller, $1,800; assorting teller, $1,800; change teller, $1,600; coin teller, $1,200; bookkeeper, $1,500; clerks—3 at $1,500 each, 7 at $1,200 each, 2 at $1,100 each, 3 at $1,000 each, 3 at $900 each; 2 watchmen, at $720 each; 2 janitors, at $600 each; guard, $720; 4 money counters and handlers for money laundry machines, at $900 each; in all, $44,660.

Mr. DYER. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike out the last word. I desire to offer an amendment on line 23. I move to strike out the figures "600" and substitute the figures "720."

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Missouri offers an amendment, which the Clerk will report.

The Clerk read as follows:

Page 61, line 23, strike out the figures "600" and insert "720."

Mr. DYER. Mr. Chairman, on looking over the pay for janitors and watchmen in the different subtreasuries of the country I find that, with the exception of those in the subtreasury in St. Louis, the pay is $720 in each and every instance. These janitors at the subtreasury in St. Louis are on the same footing as watchmen. They have to do that work in the subtreasury offices, and I feel, Mr. Chairman, that in view of the policy shown by the House at the last session of Congress the increase of pay of these men to a living wage, namely, to $720, which was the minimum of the increase of the last Congress—and, in fact, they were increased up to as much as $840—I think it is only fair and proper that this change should be made. It is impossible for men to live on $600 a year—$50 a month—and properly rear a family.

Mr. MANN. Will the gentleman yield for a question?

Mr. DYER. Yes.

Mr. MANN. Why is it necessary to have two janitors at the St. Louis subtreasury? The bill already carries two watchmen and two janitors. At New Orleans there are two watchmen but no janitor, and at Cincinnati, where we just increased the appropriation for the watchmen, they have two watchmen and no janitor. What is the necessity for having two watchmen and two janitors at St. Louis?

Mr. DYER. St. Louis is a larger city.

Mr. MANN. What is the necessity of having two watchmen and two janitors at St. Louis more than at any other office? Chicago, which is reputed to be a somewhat dirty city, so far as the air is concerned, has but one janitor, and yet requires three or four times as much work as is done in St. Louis. Is more cleaning required at St. Louis than anywhere else?

Mr. DYER. I will state, in answer to the question of the gentleman from Illinois, that St. Louis is a much larger city than any he has named except Chicago, which is provided with a messenger, which is not provided for at St. Louis.

Mr. MANN. The messenger does not do janitor's work.

Mr. DYER. These janitors do substantially the same work as the watchmen in the Chicago office. There is a messenger at the Chicago office at $840, and three watchmen at $720 each, and one janitor at $720. These janitors at St. Louis do practically the same work as the watchmen. The language is used interchangeably, and there is no difference, substantially, in the work which they do.

Mr. MANN. The amount of work done at the St. Louis office is only a trifle larger than the amount transacted at New Orleans and at Cincinnati, where they get along without those four men. What is the necessity of having four men at St. Louis to do the work done by two men at Cincinnati or at New Orleans or most of the other places? They have one janitor at Chicago and two janitors at St. Louis.

Mr. DYER. Well, I explained, or tried to explain that to the gentleman, that in some places "watchmen" are carried instead of "janitors." We have only one watchman at St. Louis, and these janitors have oftentimes to do the work of a watchman, because if he goes away for one purpose or other the janitors have to do his work. These janitors are employed all the time and give all their time to this work, and they are needed. I ask for a vote, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. MANN. There is no real necessity for them at all.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, did I understand the gentleman's amendment to provide that these people should be called watchmen instead of janitors?

Mr. DYER. No; my amendment did not provide that.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. But the gentleman's amendment proposes to increase the pay only?

Mr. DYER. Yes; to make it the same as janitors are paid at other subtreasuries in the country in every instance.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, I have only this to say: That the Secretary of the Treasury has requested no increase in the compensation of these people. There is not a word of testimony before the committee that would justify the committee in making the increase. There are 450,000 people in the employment of the Government, and we can not raise salaries on the floor of the House indiscriminately without any evidence whatever. In fact, I think the best thing to do would be to strike out those two positions. They are hardly needed.

Mr. DYER. Will the gentleman yield for a question?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Yes.

Mr. DYER. When we had the Post Office appropriation bill up there were 1,400 messengers and janitors and watchmen whose salaries were increased and there had been no recommendation from the Postmaster General or anybody asking for it, and in the case of those whom we just increased a while ago, for instance, in the case at Cincinnati, there is no word from there on the subject. It is not because they are not needed.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The Secretary of the Treasury recommended the increase at Cincinnati.

Mr. DYER. Well, I will say that I have talked with the officials at the office at St. Louis and they tell me that $600 is not sufficient to pay these men to do the work and expect from them good service.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. That is all.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on agreeing to the amendment offered by the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. DYER], which the Clerk will again report.

The amendment was again read.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The question was taken, and the Chairman announced that the "noes" appeared to have it.

Mr. DYER. I ask for a division, Mr. Chairman.

The committee divided; and there were—ayes 16, noes 20.

Mr. DYER. I ask for the yeas and nays, Mr. Chairman.

The CHAIRMAN. The yeas and nays can not be had in committee.

Mr. DYER. I ask for tellers.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Missouri demands tellers. As many as favor taking this vote by tellers will rise and remain standing until counted. [After counting.] Only 12 gentlemen have arisen. It takes 20. Tellers are refused. The Clerk will read.

The Clerk read as follows:

Mint at Denver, Colo.: Superintendent, $4,500; assayer, $3,000; superintendent melting and refining department, $3,000; superintendent coining department, $2,500; chief clerk, and cashier, at $2,500 each; deposit weigh clerk, and bookkeeper, at $2,000 each; assistant assayer, $2,200; assayer's assistant, $2,000; assistant cashier, $1,800; clerks—two at $2,000 each, two at $1,800 each, four at $1,600 each, two at $1,400 each, one $1,200; private secretary, $1,200; in all, $47,200.

Mr. FRENCH. Mr. Chairman, I offer the amendment which I send to the Clerk's desk.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Idaho offers an amendment, which the Clerk will report.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, I make the point of order that the paragraph to which the amendment is offered provides simply for the mint at Denver, Colo., while the amendment undertakes to provide for assay offices throughout the country.

The CHAIRMAN. As the Chair understands the gentleman's point of order, it is that the amendment is not germane.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I think it also provides for striking out parts of the bill that have not been reached.

Mr. FRENCH. Will the gentleman withhold his point of order for a few minutes?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I will, if the gentleman desires.

Mr. FRENCH. Mr. Chairman, I think the gentleman's point of order is not well taken, but I shall not argue that question just at this time. I want to call the attention of the gentleman and of the Members of the House to that which is provided in the amendment which I have sent to the Clerk's desk. All that is provided is existing law. The language that has just been read is the language of the present law, and the bill as it has been reported by the committee proposes to abolish six of the assay offices of the United States, including the ones in North Carolina, Louisiana, Utah, Nevada, Montana, and Idaho.

The argument that was repeatedly advanced a year ago for the abolition of these assay offices, and the one that is pressed to-day, is the argument that it is necessary on account of economy and the economical administration of this branch of the Government. If there were merit to that argument, the position that the committee has taken falls short, because a year ago the committee went further and provided for the abolition of different assay offices which are not abolished in the present bill. More than that, if the argument of economy is to be regarded as the controlling factor in the consideration of this particular feature of the bill, the committee does not go far enough, because it should even abolish our mints and all the assay offices, with possibly one or two exceptions, because with possibly one or two exceptions they do not pay the expenses of their operation.

The fact of the business is that mints and assay offices are not maintained as revenue producers by our Government; and if we were to go further than that, the fact is that probably very few of the functions of the Government are exercised or maintained for the purpose of making a profit to the Government while performing a public service for the people. If you will go to the various departments, the head offices of which are here in Washington, you will find that that statement is amply borne out by that which we are doing in every session, in making appropriations for the maintaining of these various departments. Your Agricultural Department costs you every year millions and millions of dollars, and yet it is not urged that there is a profit coming to the Government from the maintenance of that department, other than the profit that comes to the people generally throughout the country through the information and development and experience that can be obtained, which are to the interest of farming and agricultural communities.

Until within the past year the Post Office Department has not been maintained at a profit, and has not even borne the expense of its own maintenance. You would not abolish that department. So it is with other departments. The people of the country do not expect that our governmental institutions shall bear the expense of their operation as a reason for their existence, providing they give service.

Here is an institution that is operated for the convenience of the people. I refer merely to the one in my own State, which may be taken as an illustration of the character of service performed by similar institutions in the other sections of the country.

We have an assay office at Boise that performs the work of assaying gold and silver to the amount of nearly $1,000,000 per year for people of a large section of the country. The service that is performed is not performed for a few people only, it is not performed for a few large mining companies, but if you will turn to the record you will find that of the 500 and more who have sent bullion to the assay office at Boise almost all has been sent by persons who have sent less than $1,000 each.

Mr. BURLESON. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. FRENCH. Certainly.

Mr. BURLESON. I would like to ask the gentleman if he is aware of the fact that during the last fiscal year the earnings of the assay office at Boise were $6,017.46 and the expenditure $14,541.14?

Mr. FRENCH. That statement is practically correct.

Mr. BURLESON. Does the gentleman think that it is a good proposition to maintain at Government expense an assay office with a net loss of $8,000 a year?

Mr. FRENCH. Postal routes are maintained at a net loss to the Government, and you would not ask to abolish them in all sections of the country on account of the expense.

Mr. BURLESON. Does the gentleman contend that there is any analogy between the two cases?

Mr. FRENCH. I contend that they are analogous. Of the 500 persons who sent gold and silver bullion to the assay office at Boise, nearly 500 sent in amounts of less than $1,000 each, and only 26 sent in an amount of more than $2,000 per individual. That represents accommodation to the people in handling nearly $1,000,000 of bullion that is assayed every year at that office. I have no doubt the same illustration could be made at every other assay office as to proportion and average. It is a great convenience to the people in the section where the assay offices are located.

Mr. BYRNS of Tennessee. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. FRENCH. I will.

Mr. BYRNS of Tennessee. The gentleman has referred to the Agricultural Department and the Post Office Department. We know that they are run in the interest of the people throughout the country. In whose particular interest are the assay offices maintained?

Mr. FRENCH. In the interest of the people throughout the country, because just as the development of agriculture and just as the development and dissemination of information through the Post Office Department are for the benefit of the country at large, so these assay offices are for the development of the mining resources. Our mining resources have developed in the last quarter of a century along these lines, so that to-day the output of gold and silver is nearly $100,000,000 every year, and yet the industry has received scarcely any encouragement.

The CHAIRMAN. The time of the gentleman from Idaho has expired.

Mr. FRENCH. Mr. Chairman, I ask that my time be extended five minutes.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Idaho asks that his time be extended five minutes. Is there objection?

There was no objection.

Mr. BYRNS of Tennessee. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. FRENCH. I will yield to the gentleman.

Mr. BYRNS of Tennessee. The gentleman surely does not mean to contend that these assay offices are maintained for any other purpose than the convenience of those who produce the gold bullion. Now I want to ask if it is not a fact that these people who now send their bullion to the assay office located in the gentleman's State could not send it other assay offices, say at Denver or Deadwood, S. Dak., which it is proposed to retain, and have the same services performed there that are performed now in the State of Idaho and save this expense to the people?

Mr. FRENCH. That is true in part, but there would be a delay in the time it would take to get a return on the bullion, and also an extra expense in the express charges that our producers would have to pay in carrying the bullion the greater distance. In the gold that is produced in Idaho to-day, 80 or 90 per cent is sent to Boise, and of the silver more than 96 per cent is sent to the assay office in Boise instead of the assay offices or mints in other parts of the country.

Mr. BYRNS of Tennessee. The only difference that would result would be that those who produce gold bullion now would have to pay a little more money to send their gold and silver to the assay offices located in other places than they do, in order to send it to the assay office in the gentleman's State.

Mr. FRENCH. That same principle could be applied to the Agricultural Department, and could be applied to the Post Office Department, and every other department that we maintain. The people could bear the expense individually which the Government now bears.

Mr. BYRNS of Tennessee. The position of the gentleman is that 93,000,000 people should be forced to pay the extra expense of something like $8,000 for the benefit of 400 or 500 people in Idaho who produce gold bullion and send it to the assay office in his State, rather than to the mint and assay office at Denver.

Mr. FRENCH. Oh, not at all; and the convenience and advantage that just a few would receive is merely suggestive of the convenience and advantage it would be to a large section of the country to have the institution there, where people may have the opportunity of sending the bullion they produce in those States to a convenient assay office, for the encouragement of the industry, for the encouragement of building up the gold and silver mining in the particular sections of the country that are tributary to these assay offices. I think the people generally, the 93,000,000 to whom the gentleman refers, will be glad to have this expense borne by the Government as an encouragement to the mining industry of the United States.

Mr. BYRNS of Tennessee. Can the gentleman then tell why it is that the Secretary of the Treasury has, without exception, year after year, recommended that the assay office in the gentleman's State and all the other assay offices except at Denver and Philadelphia be abolished in the interest of the public service and of the people?

Mr. FRENCH. The Secretary takes that position honestly, but why has not the committee followed that course they followed a year ago? If their position a year ago was correct, wherein they sought to abolish the assay office at Seattle, the mint at San Francisco, and other assay offices in the country, why do they reverse their policy and now try to abolish only a few?

Mr. BYRNS of Tennessee. If the gentleman asks me the question, I will say that the committee was in earnest a year ago when it endeavored to abolish all the assay offices, but the trouble was that when we came in here on the floor of the House we found a combination against the committee which prevented the abolishment of any of these offices. The committee now seeks by this bill to abolish only those assay offices which are a losing proposition to the Government.

Mr. FRENCH. Yes; and they are in States that are represented by but a one-Member delegation—States like Idaho, Utah, Montana, Nevada. Of course North Carolina and Louisiana must be included, but four of the six the committee is abolishing are located in States that have only one Representative on this floor.

Mr. BYRNS of Tennessee. That is because these assay offices happen to be located in those States, but I will say to the gentleman that every assay office in the South has been abolished in this bill.

Mr. FRENCH. Only two of them.

Mr. BYRNS of Tennessee. There are only two there.

Mr. FRENCH. Yes; and you have abolished four from States that have only one Member each representing them in this body, and I think it is more a question of being able, as the gentleman suggests, to prevent some such combination that the committee has prepared the bill in the way it has. If the committee were in earnest a year ago, why not fight it out along the same lines now?

Mr. BYRNS of Tennessee. Will the gentleman join us in an effort to abolish all of them?

Mr. FRENCH. No, I will not; because I believe they should be retained, not only the ones that are retained in the bill but the ones I ask to have retained in the amendment which I now propose.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, has the Chair yet ruled on the point of order?

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair thinks the point of order well taken. If the gentleman from Idaho cares to be heard upon the question, the Chair will hear him. The gentleman said he did not care to discuss the point of order.

Mr. FRENCH. Mr. Chairman, I do not think there can be any particular question on the point of order. I think the point of order is not well taken, because the amendment simply reinstates existing law. It proposes nothing new, it refers to that which is already existing law, and I think that now is a very proper time to have it considered, in lieu of the paragraph for which it is a substitute.

The CHAIRMAN. It is a well-established rule of the House, as the Chair understands it, that if any portion of an amendment is obnoxious, it makes the entire amendment obnoxious. It appears from the reading of this amendment that it includes matters other than is contemplated in the provision from line 15 to 23, on page 62. If the gentleman's amendment should come after that as a different and separate section, it might be in order; but this provision provides solely for a mint at Denver, whereas the amendment offered by the gentleman from Idaho creates a number of assay offices throughout the country. If he should offer his amendment as a separate section following the mint at Denver, it seems to the Chair that it would be in order.

Mr. FRENCH. Then, to save time, because I would simply follow the program the Chair has outlined, I ask unanimous consent that the amendment I have proposed be offered as a separate section immediately following the disposition of this section that is now pending, and also in the same sentence I will ask that we do not read it, because we are all familiar with its terms, and then it can be voted up or down as the House sees fit.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I object, Mr. Chairman.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from South Carolina objects. The point of order is sustained, and the Clerk will read.

Mr. FRENCH. Then, Mr. Chairman, I would offer this same amendment as a separate section at this time.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Idaho offers the following amendment as a separate section.

Mr. FRENCH. If the Clerk will omit the part pertaining to Denver—I want to omit that because that is taken care of—I would ask that the reading be dispensed with, because the House is familiar with it.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Idaho asks unanimous consent that the reading of the amendment be dispensed with. Is there objection? [After a pause.] The Chair hears none. The question is on the adoption of the amendment offered by the gentleman from Idaho.

Mr. BURLESON. Mr. Chairman, I demand a division of the amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Texas demands a division of the amendment. The Clerk will report the first subdivision of the amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

"MINTS AND ASSAY OFFICES.

"Mint at Carson, Nev.: Assayer in charge, who shall also perform the duties of melter, $2,250; assistant assayer, $1,500; chief clerk, $1,600; clerk, $1,000; in all, $6,350.

"For wages of workmen and other employees, $6,200.

"For incidental and contingent expenses, $3,000."

Mr. BURLESON. Mr. Chairman, I simply desire to direct the attention of the committee to the fact that last year the earnings at the Carson Mint were $3,717.93 and the expenses were $15,284.69. The aggregate expenses of the assay offices we seek in this bill to abolish are $144,673.69. The aggregate earnings are $42,180.18. The net annual loss to the Government is more than $100,000, and, in addition to this loss, for each year there is a cost for transportation necessarily incurred by the shipment of ore that is purchased which is sent to the mint for coinage purposes, aggregating thousands of dollars. The abolishment of these assay offices has been recommended by the present Secretary of the Treasury. Every Secretary of the Treasury for years with unvarying regularity, Democratic Secretaries of the Treasury alike with Republican Secretaries of the Treasury, have recommended their abolishment, declaring that they render no substantial service. It is in the interest of economy, and, Mr. Chairman, no reason can be stated why they should be continued, and they would not have been continued in last year's bill except for a combination upon the part of certain Representatives who have a selfish interest in the continuance of these particular assay offices, and I now ask that the Committee of the Whole sustain the Committee on Appropriations in its effort to strike down this wasteful extravagance. But for the combination last year these useless offices would have been abolished. I think now it no longer exists and that at last we can succeed in eliminating these indefensible items from this bill.

Mr. GILLET. Mr. Chairman, I had occasion the other day to criticize the committee and the majority of this House for introducing in this bill what I thought was the first indication of a seizure of the spoils of office. I want to be fair about the matter, and so I think I ought now to say that this proposition which they are making here shows quite an opposite spirit. I am surprised at it. I am afraid it is a spirit that will not be demonstrated very often in the progress of time, but certainly in this instance the majority of the committee is showing great self-denial and restraint of appetite in the effort to abolish these offices, which in the future would give them patronage. I think they are doing it wisely as well as unselfishly. I think it is a righteous economy which deserves the commendation and support of the House.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the subdivision amendment offered by the gentleman from Idaho.

The question was taken, and the amendment was rejected.

The CHAIRMAN. Does the committee desire the balance of the amendment voted on together?

Mr. BURLESON. We are willing to vote on it.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the balance of the amendment offered by the gentleman from Idaho.

The question was taken, and the Chairman announced the yeas seemed to have it.

Upon a division (demanded by Mr. FRENCH) there were—ayes 11, noes 49.

So the amendment was rejected.

The Clerk read as follows:

Assay office at Deadwood, S. Dak.: Assayer in charge, who shall also perform the duties of melter, $2,000; clerk, $1,200; assistant assayer, $1,600; assayer's assistant, $1,400; in all, $6,200.

For wages of workmen and other employees, $3,000.

For incidental and contingent expenses, new machinery, etc., $1,500.

Mr. COX of Indiana. Mr. Chairman, a parliamentary inquiry.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. COX of Indiana. I would like to know where the Clerk was reading.

The CHAIRMAN. Page 65, line 7.

Mr. COX of Indiana. Mr. Chairman, I do not know whether I am too late or not, but I want to move to strike out all on page 65, lines 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7; in other words, from line 1 to line 7, inclusive, page 65.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Indiana offers an amendment, which the Clerk will report.

The Clerk read as follows:

Page 65, strike out all of lines 1 to 7, inclusive.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I am quite willing.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Indiana.

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

The Clerk read as follows:

Assay office at Seattle, Wash.: Assayer in charge, who shall also perform the duties of melter, $2,750; assistant assayer, $2,000; chief clerk, who shall also perform the duties of cashier, $2,000; clerks—one $1,700, two at $1,600 each, one $1,400; in all, $13,050.

Mr. DYER. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike out the last word. I want to ask the chairman of the committee a question. Is there any more need for the office at Seattle than for the one at Deadwood, in his opinion?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Yes; there is a great deal more need for an assay office at Seattle than there is at any other point on the Pacific coast. The amount of bullion which comes down to Seattle from Alaska is very great.

Mr. DYER. While I am on my feet I would like to ask the chairman of the subcommittee a question which I wanted to ask him when we had up the matter of the subtreasury. I would like to know if the Committee on Appropriations has made any recent inquiry into whether or not some of the subtreasuries could not be abolished without injuring the public business?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. They ought all to be abolished, but this committee was not in a position to do it. They were organized under a very different condition of things than that which now obtains. We are not prepared to abolish them.

Mr. DYER. I understand the gentleman to say, then, that these different subtreasuries could practically be abolished without any injury to the public business?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I think they could. Of course we have not had any inquiries on that subject.

Mr. DYER. Can the chairman state to us whether or not it is the intention, so far as he knows now, of the Committee on Appropriations to take up this inquiry for the purpose of trying to abolish them?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I do not know who will be on the Committee on Appropriations after the 4th of March. This committee will do well to get through with the appropriation bills for the next fiscal year.

The Clerk read as follows:

GOVERNMENT IN THE TERRITORIES.

District of Alaska: Governor, $7,000; 4 judges, at $7,500 each; 4 attorneys, at $5,000 each; 4 marshals, at $4,000 each; 4 clerks, at $3,500 each; in all, $87,000.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike out the last word. I would like to inquire from the gentleman in charge of the bill, in regard to the District of Alaska, whether they need as large a force there now since Alaska was created into a Territory as they have had heretofore? Is there a large share of this legal work there to be done hereafter?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The Committee on Appropriations has no information on that subject. When we were making up the bill last year we thought that the force was too large in the Territories, and we made an inquiry of the Attorney General, and after investigation he notified the committee that the force could not be reduced.

The Clerk read as follows:

For judges of circuit courts, at $4,000 each, so much as may be necessary, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914.

[Mr. FARR addressed the committee. See Appendix.]

Mr. MANN. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike out the last word, for the purpose of inquiring of the gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. JOHNSON], in charge of the bill, whether any request or estimate was made in reference to the expenses of the Territorial Legislature for the Territory of Alaska, or whether they would properly come in this bill or in the sundry civil bill?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. They would properly come in this bill, Mr. Chairman, but no estimate was sent to us. We do provide in this bill for the Legislature of Hawaii, but as it only meets biennially it was not necessary to have any estimate on this bill. No estimates came in regard to the other.

Mr. MANN. And the matter was not called to the attention of the committee by the Delegate from Alaska?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. No. There is no estimate before the committee as to the amount needed.

The Clerk read as follows:

WAR DEPARTMENT.

Office of the Secretary: Secretary of War, $12,000; Assistant Secretary, $5,000; assistant and chief clerk, $4,000; private secretary to the Secretary, $2,500; clerk to the Secretary, $2,000; stenographer to the Secretary, $2,000; clerk to the Assistant Secretary, $2,400; assistant chief clerk, $2,400; disbursing clerk, $2,750; appointment clerk, $2,250; 4 chiefs of division, at $2,000 each; superintendent of buildings outside of State, War, and Navy Department Building, in addition to compensation as chief of division, $500; chief telegrapher, $1,800; clerks—4 of class 4, 5 of class 3, 15 of class 2, 19 of class 1, 6 at $1,000 each, 1 at $900; foreman, $1,200; carpenter, $1,200; chief messenger, $1,000; carpenter, $1,080; skilled laborer, $1,080; 6 messengers; 7 assistant messengers; 2 assistant messengers, at $600 each; telephone switchboard operator; assistant telephone switchboard operator; engineer, $900; assistant engineer, $720; fireman, 4 watchmen; 5 watchmen, at $660 each; 8 laborers; hostlers—1 at $600, 1 at $540; elevator conductors—1 at $600; 4 charwomen; in all, $148,160.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, I reserve a point of order on this paragraph. I desire to ask the gentleman why the chief clerk's salary is increased from $2,500 to $4,000.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. We have not done anything of the kind. The salary is the same now as it has been.

Mr. FOWLER. The last bill provides that the chief clerk of the Secretary of War shall have a salary of $2,500. In this bill it provides for a salary of $4,000.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. We have made no change whatever.

Mr. FOWLER. I have the statute before me.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The gentleman may have the statute before him, but we are following current law.

Mr. FOWLER. Well, as a matter of fact, does the gentleman think that there ought to be an increase in the salary simply by current law, when there is no general law for it?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. He is not merely a chief clerk in the ordinary acceptance of that term, but he is also an Assistant Secretary of War.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, there is no provision in the statute for an assistant secretary and chief clerk of war, but there is a provision for a chief clerk at a salary of $2,500. It is sought by this bill to increase his salary from $2,500 to $4,000 by marrying him to an assistant for which there is no provision of law. I therefore make a point of order against this provision in line 3 for $4,000 for the chief clerk.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, the chief clerk when the War Department was created by the act of 1789 was provided for at $600 a year. From time to time it was increased; notably in 1871 the salary was increased to $2,500. At some time previous to this present fiscal year the salary was increased in an appropriation bill to $4,000, and this committee has not increased the salary over the amount carried in the current law. There would be just as much sense in going back and fixing this officer's salary at $600, which was the amount fixed in the original statute in 1789, as there would be in going back to the year 1871 and fixing the salary at $2,500.

Mr. FOWLER. Does the gentleman contend that there has been an amendment to the statute fixing the salary of the chief clerk to the Secretary of War to $2,500?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I endeavored to state distinctly that it has been increased on appropriation bills, and we are simply following the current law as made in an appropriation bill.

Mr. FOWLER. The gentleman is well aware of the fact that merely because a salary may have been increased by an appropriation bill it is not binding at all upon any future Congress or session thereof in making an appropriation for that purpose.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, I am ready to have the Chair rule.

Mr. FOWLER. I will say to the Chair that I have before me the statute governing the question of salaries for the Department of War, and it provides for one chief clerk of the department at a salary of $2,500 a year.

The CHAIRMAN. It is the Chair's understanding of the precedents that where a statute fixes the salary of an officer a point of order against the increase of the salary is good, and that where the statute fixes no salary, then the current law is to govern in a case of that character; and for that reason it seems to the Chair that—

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Chairman, in this instance, however, there is one other point to which the attention of the Chair must be called. The statute cited by the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. FOWLER] fixes the compensation of the office of chief clerk, but that is not this office. This is a different office. It is the office of assistant and chief clerk—a different title, with somewhat different duties—and it is upon that ground that the gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. JOHNSON] has based his contention. There was a consolidation of offices and a change in the compensation, and the particular position that the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. FOWLER] now mentions does not exist.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, does the gentleman from New York yield?

The CHAIRMAN. Does the gentleman from New York yield to the gentleman from Illinois?

Mr. FITZGERALD. Certainly.

Mr. FOWLER. I desire to ask if there is such a position as Assistant Secretary of War, as contemplated by this provision of this bill?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. There is an Assistant Secretary of War at $5,000 a year, and he has an assistant and chief clerk at $4,000 a year.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair would like to ask the gentleman from New York [Mr. FITZGERALD] how the word "assistant" is going to help to make it in order unless that office is authorized by law?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. It is authorized by appropriation acts, which justify us in carrying it in the next appropriation bill.

The CHAIRMAN. But if it is an office not authorized by law, and the point of order is made against it, under the rules of the committee a point of order would lie.

Mr. FITZGERALD. There is no separate statute, as I recall, creating the office of assistant and chief clerk. If the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. FOWLER] has made his point of order on that ground that is one thing. But the only compensation fixed for the office of assistant and chief clerk is the compensation fixed in the appropriation bill.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair is inclined to think the point of order is well taken.

Mr. FITZGERALD. Against the entire clause?

The CHAIRMAN. No; against this provision of "assistant and chief clerk at $4,000." Has the gentleman from South Carolina any amendment?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. No; we have no amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will read.

The Clerk read as follows:

Office of the Judge Advocate General: Chief clerk and solicitor, $2,500; law clerks—1 at $2,400, 1 at $2,000; clerks—1 of class 4, 2 of class 3, 3 of class 2, 6 of class 1; copyist; 2 messengers; assistant messenger; in all, $26,600.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, I reserve a point of order against the paragraph. I desire to ask the gentleman in charge of the bill why the chief clerk, in this paragraph, has a salary of $2,500, whereas it ought to be $2,000?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. There is no law creating such an office. It is just simply carried in an appropriation bill. We have carried it there because the previous appropriation bills provided for it.

Mr. FOWLER. There is a chief clerk of this office?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. He is something more than a chief clerk.

Mr. FOWLER. Can you consolidate a statutory office with another office by an appropriation bill?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. A chief clerk is authorized by law at $2,000.

Mr. FOWLER. A chief clerk is authorized by law at the salary of $2,000?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Yes.

Mr. FOWLER. I make the point of order against this portion of the paragraph, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. If it is subject to a point of order, I would rather let it go.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair understands that the gentleman from Illinois says he has the statute before him, and the statute authorizes a salary of $2,000.

Mr. FOWLER. I understand the law so fixes it.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The words "and solicitor" are subject to a point of order.

The CHAIRMAN. What is the understanding of the gentleman in charge of the bill as to what the statutory law is?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. There is authority for a chief clerk at $2,000. There is no provision for "chief clerk and solicitor," but there is a law for the chief clerk.

The CHAIRMAN. Let the Chair understand just what the gentleman from Illinois made the point of order against. Will the gentleman state it again?

Mr. FOWLER. The point of order is directed against the salary of the chief clerk and solicitor provided in the bill at $2,500. There is no such office as "chief clerk and solicitor" created by the statute. There is a statutory office of chief clerk, and I make a point of order against that provision of the bill.

The CHAIRMAN. The point of order, in so far as the words "and solicitor" are concerned, is doubtless well taken. The Chair is not certain whether that takes out of the bill the entire provision "chief clerk and solicitor."

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Chairman, the provision "chief clerk and solicitor, $2,500," goes out.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair sustains the point of order.

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike out the last word. There are carried in the legislative bill a very large number of offices which have been carried for a great many years at compensations and under titles different from the compensation and titles fixed in the organic act. In a long series of years Congress, in providing for the needs of the public service, has from time to time provided additional compensation and changed titles in order to obtain the services required to carry on the public service adequately. It is a notorious fact that this bill can be taken by any studious or industrious Member of the House and completely emasculated. That is known to the entire House. We have established a governmental service in all the various departments essential for the proper conduct of the public business. The Chair will probably recall that a few years since, as a result of a somewhat partisan controversy that arose in the House, two Members of the House undertook to eliminate from the legislative bill all of the items that were not strictly in order under the rules, and they carried their work to such an extent that at the completion of the bill the House, by a practically unanimous vote, adopted a rule reinserting all the items taken out, because it would have been ludicrous to pass through the House a bill purporting to provide for the departmental service which everybody knew in effect did not do so. The gentleman from Illinois [Mr. FOWLER] can follow that practice if he chooses to do so. If he were bringing to the attention of the Committee of the Whole items in this bill that the Committee on Appropriations were at this time attempting to do in the way of increasing forces or increasing compensation, which were not in strict conformity with the rules, that would be one matter, and I do not know that I have ever criticized anyone for exercising his rights under the rules in that respect; but to sit here and take out all these various items of appropriation which are absolutely essential for the conduct of the public service can not, it seems to me, be justified upon any theory whatever. It may be that the gentleman will carry his work to such an extent that in order to preserve the self-respect of the House, at the conclusion of the bill, the committee may be compelled to ask the adoption of a rule restoring all of the items eliminated in this way.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, I desire to offer an amendment to take the place of the $2,500, which has been stricken out, and make it $2,000, so that it will read "chief clerk and solicitor, $2,000."

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I make the point of order against that amendment that it is not provided by law.

The CHAIRMAN. The point of order is sustained.

Mr. FITZGERALD. I ask the gentleman from South Carolina to withdraw the point of order.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I will withdraw the point of order. Let the amendment be reported.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will report the amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

Page 68, line 16, strike out $2,500 and insert $2,000.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Chairman, I submit that that is not the amendment that was offered. Let the Clerk report the amendment that was offered.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will report the amendment as offered by the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. FOWLER].

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, I desire to amend my amendment.

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Chairman, I demand that the amendment be reported.

The CHAIRMAN. If the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. Fowler] will wait a moment, the Clerk will report his original amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

Page 68, lines 15 and 16, insert "chief clerk and solicitor, $2,000."

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, I desire to amend the amendment by striking out the words "and solicitor."

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will report the amendment to the amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amend the amendment by striking out the words "and solicitor."

Mr. MANN. I would like to ask the reason for striking out the words "and solicitor." This man is conceded to be a solicitor.

Mr. FOWLER. I do not understand that there is any such statutory office as solicitor provided for in this department.

Mr. MANN. That is true; but this department itself is a lawyer's department. It is the office of the Judge Advocate General. While he is an Army officer he is also a lawyer and has to be; his office is the legal department, and like any other legal department of the Government it requires a solicitor. Where there is a chief clerk he needs to be a lawyer or else have a lawyer besides. It is run as a legal office and does the legal work for the Army, and occasionally has furnished information to the House and the committees of the House of an important character in legal work.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, I do not desire to hinder or delay legislation in this body in any way whatever. I feel as sensible as any other Member of this House of my weakness and newness in this body. Under no consideration would I hold up this House, in any sense of the word, in any department of the Government which would handicap it or lessen its ability to carry out the great needs of the Government of this country to the fullest extent.

I resent, Mr. Chairman, any statement made here on the floor of this House which may impute to me a disposition of that kind. I do say, Mr. Chairman, that there is a regular and lawful way to proceed in all of the business in this House. We have a code of rules which are employed for the purpose of guiding Members in the conduct of bills in this House, and we have ample laws, fixed and definite, as to what is to be done and should be done in appropriations for furnishing the Government in its various departments ample revenue for the purpose of bringing to the country its greatest welfare. I therefore offer this amendment so that the gentleman from New York [Mr. FITZGERALD] may be advised as to my position in the premises—that is, that where a statutory office is created that it shall remain distinct and apart from all other positions, and that it can not be married to Tom, Dick, and Harry without the consent of the Congress of the United States.

Mr. FITZGERALD. The gentleman from Illinois does not imagine that this marriage to which he refers was placed in this law without the consent of the Congress of the United States. It was done in the House and agreed to by the Senate. That is how it is here. I ask for a vote on the amendment to the amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the amendment to the amendment offered by the gentleman from Illinois.

The question was taken, and the amendment to the amendment was lost.

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike out the words "two thousand" in the amendment and insert "twenty-five hundred."

Mr. FOWLER. I make a point of order, Mr. Chairman, to that amendment to the amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. On what ground?

Mr. FOWLER. Because it seeks to regulate the salary of a statutory office which is fixed by law.

Mr. FITZGERALD. I call the attention of the Chair to the fact that the gentleman's amendment provides for an office that is not provided for by statute; that is legislation, and under the rules of the House any germane legislation is in order.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair understands that it is the unbroken rule that where an amendment is offered out of order and permitted to be acted on by the committee, it can be perfected in any way the committee may think best. So the point of order is not well taken. The question is on the amendment to the amendment offered by the gentleman from New York.

The question was taken, and the amendment to the amendment was agreed to.

The CHAIRMAN. The question now is on the amendment as amended.

The question was taken, and the amendment as amended was agreed to.

The Clerk read as follows:

Office, Chief, Quartermaster Corps: Assistant and chief clerk, $2,750; 5 principal clerks, at $2,250 each; clerks—15 of class 4, 25 of class 3, 44 of class 2, 85 of class 1, 50 at $1,000 each, 10 at $900 each; advisory architect, $4,000; experienced builder and mechanic, $2,500; inspector of supplies, $2,500; draftsmen—3 at $1,800 each, 7 at $1,000 each, 5 at $1,400 each; supervising engineer, $2,750; 2 civil engineers, at $1,800 each; electrical engineer at $2,000; electrical and mechanical engineer, $2,000; marine engineer, $3,500; assistant marine engineer, $1,800; sanitary and heating engineer, $1,800; blue-print operator, $900; 6 messengers; 14 assistant messengers; 12 laborers; 1 laborer, $600; 1 laborer, $480; in all, $378,670.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, I reserve a point of order against that paragraph. I desire to ask the chairman of the committee why the chief clerk's salary is increased from $2,000 to $2,750. That is on page 69, at the bottom of the page.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, the section of the bill now under consideration is the consolidated bureau resulting from the legislation in the last military appropriation bill that required three bureaus of the War Department to be consolidated.

Mr. FOWLER. Did it create any office of assistant and chief clerk, and thereby fix the salary?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. It certainly provided, Mr. Chairman, that these three bureaus in the War Department should be consolidated into one bureau. The statute itself does not fix the number of employees, and therefore under the general law we have the right to appropriate for such force as is necessary to carry on the work of that bureau. And I want to say, further, if the gentleman will permit me to give him the information—

Mr. FOWLER. That is sufficient.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. That these three consolidated bureaus for the present year are costing $425,700. By the consolidation we are able to carry on this service for $378,670, making, in round figures, a saving of $50,000. I am surprised that the gentleman should object to such economy as that.

Mr. FOWLER. There is not such a saving as $50,000. It is much less than $50,000.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. How much less?

Mr. FOWLER. I have not the exact figures, but it does not reach $50,000 by any means.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The service is costing $425,700 now. Under the proposed bill it will cost $378,670. There are 43 people less provided for, and the net saving is $47,030—in round numbers $50,000.

Mr. FOWLER. I desire to ask if the statute does not fix the chief clerk's salary for this department at $2,000?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. There is no statute fixing the chief clerk's salary in that bureau at any price.

Mr. FOWLER. I desire to call the attention of the chairman to the fact that the Quartermaster General's Corps provides for a chief clerk at a salary of $2,000.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Yes; but that is the old law. The military appropriation bill provided that these three bureaus should be consolidated. It abolishes all of the others.

Mr. FOWLER. Yes; but it does not make any change in the question of the chief clerk of the Quartermaster General's office.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. There is no such thing. It wiped all of them out of existence, and this section of the bill is prepared in accordance with the new law.

Mr. KAHN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Certainly.

Mr. KAHN. Under the last Army appropriation bill the Quartermaster's Department, the Subsistence Department, and the Pay Department were consolidated under the name of the Quartermaster Corps. The $2,000 that the gentleman speaks of refers to a chief clerk of the Quartermaster's Department. That department has been abolished. This provides for the Quartermaster Corps, an entirely new department, and the legislation that was enacted in the last Congress did not provide—

Mr. FOWLER. Was there any provision in that bill repealing the law creating the Quartermaster General's office and that department?

Mr. KAHN. By inference there was, because the Quartermaster's Department was consolidated with the Pay Department and the Subsistence Department in the Quartermaster Corps.

Mr. FOWLER. Is it not a fact that this is the Quartermaster General's Department, just the same as it has been always, and if not, what has become of the Quartermaster General and his clerks?

Mr. KAHN. The Quartermaster General does no longer exist. He is now called the Chief of the Quartermaster Corps. The office of Quartermaster General has been abolished. The office of Paymaster General has been abolished and the office of Commissary General has been abolished. They are all consolidated in the new Quartermaster Corps.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, I desire to make a point of order against that part of this paragraph, page 69, lines 24 and 25, wherein it is sought to create an assistant and chief clerk with a salary of $2,750.

The CHAIRMAN (Mr. FOSTER). The Chair is of the opinion that the military appropriation bill of last year, in bringing about a consolidation of these offices, changed the office of Quartermaster General and Paymaster General and Commissary General, and created this new office called the Quartermaster Corps, and it is under the provisions of that legislation that the committee has appropriated for this new department. In the opinion of the Chair the point of order is not well taken, and the point of order is overruled.

The Clerk read as follows:

Office of the Surgeon General: Chief clerk, $2,250; law clerk, $2,000; clerks—13 of class 4, 11 of class 3, 26 of class 2, 32 of class 1, 10 at $1,000 each, 3 at $900 each; anatomist, $1,600; engineer, $1,400; 3 firemen; skilled mechanic, $1,000; 2 messengers; 10 assistant messengers; 3 watchmen; superintendent of building (Army Medical Museum and Library), $250; 6 laborers; chemist, $2,088; assistant chemist, $1,500; principal assistant librarian, $2,250; pathologist, $1,800; microscopist, $1,800; assistant librarian, $1,800; 4 charwomen; in all, $166,358.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, I reserve a point of order against the paragraph. I desire to make the point of order against the salary of the chief clerk at $2,250, because it is a statutory office wherein the salary is fixed by law at $2,000.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, it is subject to the point of order, and I do not care to waste time over it.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair sustains the point of order.

Mr. FOWLER. I desire to amend the bill by—

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, I move, in line 14, after the words "chief clerk," to insert the words "two thousand dollars."

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will report the amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amend page 70, line 14, by inserting at the beginning of the line "$2,000."

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

The Clerk read as follows:

Office of the Chief of Engineers: Chief clerk, $2,250; 2 chiefs of division, at $2,000 each; clerks—8 of class 4, 11 of class 3, 13 of class 2, 16 of class 1, 10 at $1,000 each, 11 at $900 each; 6 messengers; 3 assistant messengers; 2 laborers; in all, $104,070.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, I make the point of order against this paragraph confined to the salary of the chief clerk, which is denominated in this bill at $2,250, whereas the statute fixes the salary at $2,000.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, it is subject to the point of order.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair sustains the point of order.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, I desire to amend by inserting $2,000 instead of $2,250.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair will state to the gentleman from Illinois that the gentleman in charge of the bill has the preferential right to recognition.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, I move to insert "$2,000" after the words "chief clerk."

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will report the amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amend, page 71, line 22, by inserting at the beginning of the line "$2,000."

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

The Clerk read as follows:

Office of the Bureau of Insular Affairs: Law officer, $4,500; chief clerk, $2,250; clerks—10 of class 4, 3 of class 3, 10 of class 2, 19 of class 1, 15 at $1,000 each; 3 messengers; 2 assistant messengers; 4 laborers; 2 charwomen; in all, $88,430.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, I reserve a point of order against the paragraph. I desire to ask the chairman of the committee why the chief clerk's salary is fixed at $2,250 instead of $2,000?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Because we thought he was worth the money and ought to have it.

Mr. FOWLER. Why make a distinction here, and in other places in this same department of the Government you fix the chief clerk's salary at $2,000, such as in the Engineer's Department?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. We fixed it at $2,250 in order to equalize him with these and other chief clerks, and the gentleman made a point of order against it.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, I make a point of order against the chief clerk's salary at $2,250.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The point of order is not well taken, because there is no law fixing the salary at $2,000.

Mr. FOWLER. I submit, Mr. Chairman, that if there is a law fixing the exact salary I have not been able to lay my hands to it; but I believe it was fixed along with the other departments. I withdraw the point of order, not being definite enough to give the proper information.

Mr. MANN. The gentleman can withdraw the point of order, but it is subject to the point of order.

The Clerk read as follows:

Contingent expenses of branch offices at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Norfolk, Savannah, New Orleans, San Francisco, Portland (Oreg.), Portland (Me.), Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo, Duluth, Sault Ste. Marie, Panama, and Galveston, including furniture, fuel, lights, works and periodicals relating to hydrography, marine meteorology, navigation, surveying, oceanography, and terrestrial magnetism, stationery, miscellaneous articles, rent and care of offices, care of time balls, car fare and ferrage in visiting merchant vessels, freight and express charges, telegrams, and other necessary expenses incurred in collecting the latest information for the Pilot Charts, and for other purposes for which the offices were established, $11,000.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, on page 82, line 23, before the word "Panama," insert the word "Seattle."

The CHAIRMAN (Mr. GARNER). The Clerk will report the amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amend, page 82, line 23, by inserting at the beginning of the line, before the word "Panama," the word "Seattle."

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Now, Mr. Chairman, in that connection I desire permission to insert in the Record certain correspondence.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from South Carolina asks unanimous consent to insert in the Record certain correspondence pertaining to the amendment just offered. Is there objection? [After a pause.] The Chair hears none.

The correspondence is as follows:

DECEMBER 5, 1912.

MR. G. F. COOPER,

Hydrographic Office, Navy Department, City.

MY DEAR MR. COOPER: It seems that the Committee on Appropriations drew the conclusion from your statement made to the committee with reference to the removal of the hydrographic office at Port Townsend, Wash., that there was no necessity for a hydrographic office on Puget Sound. I know, of course, that you did not intend that any such construction should be placed upon your statement. Will you please tell me what necessity there is for the continuance of such office on Puget Sound? I will be under obligations for an immediate reply.

Sincerely, yours,

W. E. HUMPHREY.

In number of ships, and perhaps also in tonnage, Puget Sound is the second port of the United States. Tonnage of Puget Sound in 1911, 2,857,818 tons. Of this amount 2,162,814 tons came from Seattle and was of the value of $109,407,114.

HYDROGRAPHIC OFFICE,
Washington, D. C., December 6, 1912.

HON. W. E. HUMPHREY, M. C.,

House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

MY DEAR MR. HUMPHREY: In reply to your letter of December 5, 1912, please permit me to express my great regret that the Committee on Appropriations should have placed the construction upon my testimony that they seem to have done. I had no intention whatever of conveying any impression that there was no necessity for a branch hydrographic office on Puget Sound. On the contrary, my testimony will show that the estimates requested the establishment of two offices on that Sound instead of one. The question was simply a relocation of the office now situated at Port Townsend and, if possible, the establishment of an additional office on Puget Sound. The office at Port Townsend, as I said to the committee (see p. 128, hearings on the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill for 1914), is not advantageously situated with regard to the shipping interests centering on Puget Sound. Port Townsend is a small place, and most of the shipping that centers on Puget Sound simply uses Port Townsend as a port of entry and quarantine station. The ships do not remain sufficiently long at that port for their masters to properly avail themselves of the advantages of the branch office now situated there. They are compelled to receive their information and publications by mail, and if they wish a personal interview with the officer in charge of the office it is generally necessary for them to go up to Port Townsend, leaving their vessels.

If the office is moved to Seattle, the situation would be very much more advantageous to the shipping interests. There is great necessity for a branch hydrographic office on Puget Sound. This office maintains a time ball which is dropped every day at noon. It supplies mariners with the latest information concerning dangers to navigation in all parts of the world. It has on file for their information all the charts and sailing directions of the world corrected to date. With this office taken from Puget Sound, the shipping interests centering on that Sound would be deprived of this time service and information service, which is of great use to them. Our one desire in suggesting that the office be moved from one point on the Sound to another is that it might be still more useful to the shipping interests.

I had supposed that the Committee on Appropriations would understand from my hearing that the office at Port Townsend was not as advantageously situated as it would be at Seattle. In addition to the hearing, I left with the clerk of the committee a copy of my letter to the Secretary of the Navy transmitting the estimates, which letter specifically mentioned the removal of the office from Port Townsend to Seattle.

Very respectfully,

GEORGE F. COOPER,
Commander, United States Navy, Hydrographer.

Mr. MANN. In the current law I notice Port Townsend is included as one of the hydrographic offices. Is this intended to take the place of Port Townsend and provide the office at Seattle?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Yes.

Mr. MANN. Is that satisfactory to the gentleman from Washington [Mr. HUMPHREY]?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I understand it is desired by the official heads. I have not had anything to do with the correspondence.

Mr. MANN. Is that satisfactory to the gentleman from Washington [Mr. HUMPHREY]?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Yes; the gentleman from Washington requested me to make this amendment.

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

The Clerk read as follows:

Naval Observatory: Assistant astronomers—1 at $2,400, 2 at $1,800 each; assistant in department of nautical instruments, $1,600; clerks—1 of class 4, 1 of class 2; instrument maker, $1,500; electrician, $1,500; librarian, $1,800; assistants—3 at $1,600 each, 3 at $1,400 each, 2 at $1,000 each; stenographer and typewriter, $900; foreman and captain of the watch, $1,000; carpenter, and engineer, at $1,000 each; 3 firemen; 6 watchmen; elevator conductor, $720; 9 laborers; in all, $43,640.

Mr. SMALL. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to return to page 72, lines 14, 15, and 16, and pending that, to make this statement as the basis for a motion to strike out those lines.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, reserving the right to object, I am perfectly willing that the gentleman shall make his statement as to the reason for returning to page 72.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection?

Mr. SMALL. Also a motion, unless there is objection.

Mr. CARLIN. Reserving the right to object, Mr. Chairman, does the unanimous consent carry with it the right to make the motion?

Mr. SMALL. Yes; providing there is no objection to it.

Mr. CARLIN. What is the motion to be?

Mr. SMALL. To strike out the section.

Mr. Chairman, the chairman of the Committee on Rivers and Harbors [Mr. SPARKMAN] was expecting to be present when that paragraph, on page 72, lines 14 to 16, was read, but he was unexpectedly and urgently called away from the Chamber, and has requested me to ask for this consent. This section sought to be repealed was included in the river and harbor act approved July 25, 1912. As a matter of fact, it was inserted as an amendment to the river and harbor bill while it was pending in the Senate, but it was inserted at the request of the Chief of Engineers, Gen. W. H. Bixby, upon the statement that it was necessary as an urgency measure. Section 10 of the river and harbor act sought to be repealed provides that the Chief of Engineers may, in preparing estimates in the carrying out of directions in the river and harbor act, employ such additional clerical help as may be necessary. The chairman of the committee desired, if he had been here, to move to strike out the paragraph repealing this section, and that is my purpose upon which I ask unanimous consent to return to it.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. SMALL] asks unanimous consent to return to page 72 for the purpose of making the motion to strike out lines 14, 15, and 16. Is there objection?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, it is the purpose in the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill to provide all the clerical services for the Government within the District of Columbia. It is impossible for the Committee on Appropriations to know the number of people employed and the compensation paid if, in addition to what we provide in this bill, lump sums are given by the Indian Affairs Committee and the Post Office Committee, the Rivers and Harbors Committee, and the various committees of this House which appropriate money. The rivers and harbors act, passed in July, 1912, in section 10, authorizes an expenditure for clerical services in the preparation of plans, and so forth. We carry in this bill $42,000 for that purpose. When Maj. Ladue, representing the office of the Chief of Engineers, was before the committee I asked him if he desired any larger appropriation than they have for the current year. He replied that they did not. I asked him the further question as to how many clerks had been employed under the authorization in section 10 of the rivers and harbors act, and he stated that none had been employed. So, Mr. Chairman, while section 10 of the rivers and harbors act authorized the employment of clerical service, the Chief of Engineers had not found it necessary to employ anybody, and as it is our purpose in this bill to give to this bureau, and every other bureau, the clerical force necessary I shall have to object.

Mr. SMALL. I ask the gentleman to reserve his objection for just a moment.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. And I desire to insert in the RECORD the testimony before the committee when this bill was being made up.

Mr. SMALL. May I ask the gentleman whether in the hearing there was any statement made by Maj. Ladue, or anyone representing the War Department or office of the Chief of Engineers, that section 10 was not desired?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I asked Maj. Ladue this question:

You are familiar with section 10 of the rivers and harbors act?

Maj. LADUE. For 1912?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Yes, sir.

Maj. LADUE. Yes, sir; I am.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Where did that originate?

Maj. LADUE. I am unable to say positively where it originated. It was put in by the Senate committee when the rivers and harbors bill was under consideration. I was not present at the hearings on that bill, and I have not read them. I really do not know who is responsible for the provision, but I know that is where it was put in.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from South Carolina asks unanimous consent to insert certain matters in his remarks. Is there objection?

There was no objection.

Following is the statement referred to:

STATEMENT OF MAJ. WILLIAM B. LADUE, FROM THE OFFICE OF CHIEF OF ENGINEERS.

Mr. JOHNSON. Major, your item is on page 154 of the bill. We will be glad to have you make any statement that you desire to make, if the notes are not as full as you would like them to be, in regard to these increases on page 154.

Maj. LADUE. The notes express briefly the reasons for the proposed increases. They are, first, a recommendation that the salary of the chief clerk be raised from $2,000 to $2,500, and, second, a recommendation for an increase of three in the clerical force.

Mr. JOHNSON. Is there anything else?

Maj. LADUE. As to the chief clerk, I would simply add to the notes that our present chief clerk has been in our office for 45 years. He has devoted his life to the service, and his present pay has been unchanged for about 25 years. He is a man of tact and courtesy and is an efficient and able man, thoroughly devoted to the interests of the service. He has a good deal of responsibility placed upon him. He is in charge of the general office administration.

Mr. JOHNSON. Do you mean to say that he has been a clerk there for 25 years without having any increase in pay?

Maj. LADUE. He has not been chief clerk all of that time, but he had the same salary before he was promoted to the position of chief clerk.

Mr. JOHNSON. But you mean to say that he has had no increase in 25 years?

Maj. LADUE. It is a condition that is not uncommon in our service.

NOTE.—Upon examining the office records it is found that the above statement with regard to the salary of the present chief clerk is not correct, his salary having been unchanged for 12½ years instead of 25 years as stated. An increase of $200 per annum made 12½ years ago (July 1, 1900) was, however, the only increase in his salary since July 1, 1874, a period of 38½ years. The salary of the position of chief clerk has been unchanged since July 1, 1871, a period of over 41 years, during which time there have been two incumbents of the position, the first serving from July 1, 1871, until his death on July 10, 1901, and the present incumbent serving from July 15, 1901, to the present date.

Mr. JOHNSON. The purpose is to promote somebody in increasing these clerks of class 3?

Maj. LADUE. We need an additional force to carry on our work. Our work has increased right along. An analysis of the figures showing the papers that go through the office, the increase in the number of the appropriations, as well as in the amounts of the appropriations, and in the expenditures, with the annual river and harbor bill and the general increase in all public work handled by our office, shows that this increase has been continuous, and it shows no signs of decreasing. It rather shows signs of increasing steadily. This means, of course, more work in our office in the handling of projects, plans, and estimates, looking after the execution of work, replying to inquiries, recording papers, taking care of the accounts, the examination of papers, and the preparation of financial statements, and so on. So that we have been really requiring an additional clerical force for some time. We need more men. We have recommended increases in the medium grades with the idea, of course, if the increase is allowed, that the vacancies created will be filled by the promotion of clerks in the lower grades.

Mr. JOHNSON. How many clerks in all are provided in the legislative bill for your office?

Maj. LADUE. Seventy-two in the present bill. The bill carries 83, of whom 11 are messengers, assistant messengers, and laborers, making 72 clerks.

CLERKS UNDER AUTHORIZATION OF RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

Mr. JOHNSON. How many clerks have you under the authorization of the river and harbor bill in addition to those provided for in the legislative bill?

Maj. LADUE. Last year we carried 1 chief of division and 10 clerks under that authority.

Mr. JOHNSON. You have reference, I think, to the section that authorizes the expenditure of not exceeding $42,000. I mean what clerical services you have employed under the rivers and harbors act of 1912?

Maj. LADUE. None. We have not done anything under that.

Mr. JOHNSON. I am glad to hear that, because we may not always give you what you ask, but we do try to provide for all clerical services in the District of Columbia in this bill so that we can keep a record of it.

Maj. LADUE. Yes, sir.

Mr. JOHNSON. Now, do you desire any change in the section authorizing the employment of skilled draftsmen, civil engineers, etc., the expenditure not to exceed $42,000?

Maj. LADUE. No, sir; we are asking for no change in that. We would like that to be the same.

CLERKS PAID FROM LUMP-SUM APPROPRIATIONS.

Mr. JOHNSON. In the last legislative bill there is a provision to the effect that people who are paid out of lump-sum appropriations shall not be paid a greater sum than the amounts paid for similar services during the preceding year. Has that embarrassed you any in your expenditures for this year?

Maj. LADUE. Well, it has not embarrassed us so far.

Mr. JOHNSON. Under what conditions would it embarrass you?

Maj. LADUE. The question, of course, turns entirely upon the interpretation of the words "similar services." If these words are narrowly interpreted to mean the same service that the individual man performed last year, it would, of course, as you see, absolutely bar any further promotion. We have not interpreted it that way and neither has the comptroller. It has been interpreted to permit promotions in the grades, when there are grades established, for the purpose of recognizing efficiency or increased value to the service. The place where it is most likely to worry us is in our field service. Of course the provision in the legislative act does not affect the field service, but the provision in the deficiency act, which is similar to the language in the legislative act, does affect our field service. But under our present interpretation it has not worried us, because we have interpreted it to mean that if anywhere in our field service we are paying draftsmen $1,800 a year, then anywhere else in the field service draftsmen at $1,200 can be promoted. I think that is the intent of the provision, and therefore it has not worried us. The effect of it is to put a limit on the top.

Mr. JOHNSON. Have you had a construction of it from the Comptroller of the Treasury? Have you asked for his interpretation of the law?

Maj. LADUE. We have not for our own departments, but I have seen several interpretations that he has rendered for other departments. You see it puts a limit on the top. All up through the grades we can work very well, but at the top you will find the man who will feel the pinch. If the services of the man at the top entitled him to an increase that we would be glad to give him, he would be barred by this provision.

SECTION 10, RIVERS AND HARBORS ACT.

[See also p. 88.]

Mr. JOHNSON. You are familiar with section 10 of the rivers and harbors act?

Maj. LADUE. For 1912?

Mr. JOHNSON. Yes, sir.

Maj. LADUE. Yes, sir; I am.

Mr. JOHNSON. Where did that originate?

Maj. LADUE. I am unable to say positively where it originated. It was put in by the Senate committee when the rivers and harbors bill was under consideration. I was not present at the hearings on that bill, and I have not read them. I really do not know who is responsible for the provision, but I know that is where it was put in.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

The CHAIRMAN. Does the gentleman from South Carolina yield to the gentleman from Illinois?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Certainly.

Mr. MANN. In the bill itself is contained that item, I think, that the gentleman refers to, of $42,000 from which may be paid the services of skilled draftsmen, civil engineers, and so forth; to carry into effect the various appropriations for rivers and harbors and surveys, to be paid from appropriations for this purpose, not to exceed in the total $42,000.

Now, the river and harbor section, section 10, covers the preparation for and consideration of river and harbor estimates and bills, for which there is no special emergency appropriation anywhere. Would it not be perfectly fair, with the repeal of section, to insert in this item that language so that within the limit of the $42,000 they could employ some one for the emergency work in the preparation of the estimates in bill? It will leave the control of the matter with the Committee on Appropriations, and will require them to estimate for it and give reasons for it, and it will not increase the amount.

Mr. SMALL. Mr. Chairman, if the gentleman from Illinois will pardon me, I think his suggestion ought to be accepted, because while I can not reconcile the statement of Maj. Ladue with that of the Chief of Engineers, I do know—because I heard Gen. Bixby make a statement to that effect—that in his opinion an emergency does exist every year for additional help in making up estimates.

Mr. MANN. Probably the amount would be trifling, and it would not increase the appropriations any to insert that language.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I have no objection to the language of the gentleman from Illinois because it is not our purpose to cripple any bureau of the Government.

Mr. MANN. We all understand that. If the gentleman will insert in the bill on page 72, line 7, after the word "surveys," the language, "and the preparation for and the consideration of river and harbor estimates and bills," I think it would be well, although I do not know whether that would cover it exactly or not. Probably it would need something additional. I think you had better return to that, if you want to do it.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I suggest, Mr. Chairman, that we return to this item after the gentleman from Illinois has had time to prepare the amendment.

Mr. SMALL. In answer to the gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. JOHNSON], I do not understand, Mr. Chairman, that he consents to return to the item for the purpose of accepting a motion to repeal lines 14, 15, and 16, but to insert an amendment to the provision.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. SMALL] does not object to returning to that item for the purpose of making an amendment. Without objection, that will be done. The Clerk will read.

The Clerk read as follows:

Bureau of Yards and Docks: Chief clerk, $2,250; draftsman and clerk, $1,800; clerks—1 of class 3, 1 of class 2, 2 of class 1, 1 at $1,100; 6 at $1,000 each; assistant messenger; 3 messenger boys, at $600 each; 2 laborers; in all, $20,390.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Chairman, I reserve a point of order on the paragraph.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Illinois [Mr. MANN] reserves a point of order on the paragraph.

Mr. MANN. I notice, Mr. Chairman, that there are a number of increases of salary of a number of chief clerks of the Navy Department. While my attention was engaged otherwise I see they were passed over. I supposed that my colleague [Mr. FOWLER] was going to take care of them. What is the reason for making these increases?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I will say to the gentleman from Illinois that all the chief clerks in the Navy Department were increased from $2,000 to $2,250. The recommendation was to increase them to $2,500. The committee was fairly satisfied that the work required of a man in the position of a chief clerk in any of the bureaus of the Navy Department is such as could well justify the salary of $2,250. We believed that the salaries of the chief clerks in the Navy Department were very much less than the salaries of men doing corresponding work in other departments, and we increased all of them because we believed they merited the increase.

Mr. MANN. Well, is the office of Chief of Ordnance in the Navy Department so much more important than the office of Chief of Ordnance in the War Department?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. There was not anything before us on the matter from the War Department, concerning which the gentleman has just asked, upon which we could operate. In both the War and Navy Departments wherever the estimates called for an increase for the chief clerks we allowed $250 instead of $500.

Mr. MANN. This is one of those cases, then, where virtue is not its own reward, and modesty does not pay. The Chief of Ordnance of the War Department, thinking it was not the policy of Congress to make increases of salaries, refrained from requesting an increase for his chief clerk. The chief clerk himself probably did not desire to be turned down, but wanted to comply with the spirit that he believed would be likely to actuate Congress, and therefore he did not ask for an increase for himself. He does not get an increase, although he is just as important to the Government and to the department as anybody. All those who asked for increases got them. I go on the theory, usually, that when you find a man who is doing good work and is modest enough not to be "hollering" about getting something more, you can afford to do something for him, rather than for the one who is always complaining and insisting that he ought to be better provided for.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Well, the gentleman from Illinois understands that where we are providing for 16,000 employees in this bill it is impossible for us to inquire into the merits of every employee unless they are brought to our attention.

Mr. MANN. I have no intention of complaining about the Committee on Appropriations, which does very efficient work, and I am always willing to compliment the gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. JOHNSON] on his work. And yet when the gentlemen are proposing to increase the salaries of chief clerks throughout certain branches of the governmental service, it seems to me I would not leave out one who evidently ought to have his salary increased if others are increased, because he has been modest enough not to kick about what he is getting.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will read.

Mr. MANN. What became of my point of order?

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair understood the gentleman to withdraw his point of order.

Mr. MANN. I did not; but I will.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman withdraws his point of order. The Clerk will read.

The Clerk read as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.

Office of the Secretary: Secretary of the Interior, $12,000; First Assistant Secretary, $5,000; Assistant Secretary, $4,500; chief clerk, including $500 as superintendent of buildings, who shall be chief executive officer of the department and who may be designated by the Secretary of the Interior to sign official papers and documents during the temporary absence of the Secretary and the Assistant Secretaries of the department, $4,000; assistant to the Secretary, $2,750; assistant attorneys—1 at $2,500; 2 special inspectors, whose employment shall be limited to the inspection of offices and the work in the several offices under the control of the Department of the Interior, at $2,500 each;

6 inspectors, at $2,500 each; chief disbursing clerk, $2,250; clerk in charge of supplies, $2,250; clerk in charge of mails, files, and archives, $2,250; clerk in charge of publications, $2,250; private secretary to the Secretary, $2,500; clerks—4 at $2,000 each; 13 of class 4, 18 of class 3, 21 of class 2, 24 of class 1, 3 at $1,000 each; returns office clerk, $1,600; female clerk, to be designated by the President, to sign land patents, $1,200; 8 copyists; multigraph operator, $900; assistant multigraph operator, $720; typewriter repairer, $900; 2 telephone switchboard operators; 9 messengers; 7 assistant messengers; 21 laborers; skilled mechanics—1 at $900, 1 at $720; 2 carpenters, at $900 each; plumber, $900; electrician, $1,000; laborer, $600; 6 laborers, at $480 each; packer, $660; 2 conductors of elevators, at $720 each; 8 charwomen; captain of the watch, $1,200; 40 watchmen; additional to 2 watchmen acting as lieutenants of watchmen, at $120 each; engineer, $1,200; assistant engineer, $1,000; 7 firemen; clerk to sign, under the direction of the Secretary, in his name and for him, his approval of all tribal deeds to allottees and deeds for town lots made and executed according to law for any of the Five Civilized Tribes of Indians in the Indian Territory, $1,200; in all, $275,570.

Mr. FOSTER. Mr. Chairman, I reserve a point of order on this paragraph.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Illinois [Mr. FOSTER] reserves a point of order on the paragraph.

Mr. FOSTER. As I understand, this provides, on page 91, lines 4 and 5, for an additional attorney for the Interior Department. Is that correct?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. No; there is no increase. There is a transfer.

Mr. FOSTER. Last year's bill, I think, provided for but one, as I understand it.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. There is no change in it. There is no increase whatever.

Mr. FOSTER. Last year the bill provided for an assistant attorney at $2,500. I do not find this additional attorney in last year's law. This seems to provide for two attorneys, but last year's bill appropriated for but one.

Mr. MANN. There is only one attorney provided for here.

Mr. FOSTER. In the bill I have it says:

Assistant attorneys—one, $2,500.

Mr. MANN. Assistant attorney—one, at $2,500.

Mr. FOSTER. My bill says "assistant attorneys."

Mr. MANN. That is a heading.

Mr. FOSTER. What I was getting at was whether there was a provision in the law for one and this provided for an additional one.

Mr. MANN. That is a heading which is supposed to cover what comes after.

Mr. FOSTER. My colleague may be right about that.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. If the gentleman [Mr. FOSTER] will look at the punctuation he will see that there is only one provided for at $2,500. Then we provide for other forces under that heading. There is no change whatever in the paragraph.

Mr. FOSTER. This provides for only one assistant attorney?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Yes.

Mr. SMALL. Mr. Chairman, on behalf of the chairman of the Committee on Rivers and Harbors, the gentleman from Florida [Mr. SPARKMAN], I desire to offer an amendment on page 72.

The CHAIRMAN. We have passed page 72.

Mr. SMALL. It was agreed that we should return to page 72 for this purpose.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from North Carolina requests unanimous consent to return to page 72 for the purpose of offering a certain amendment. Is there objection?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Let the clerk report the amendment.

Mr. FOSTER. Reserving the right to object, let us hear the amendment reported.

The Clerk read as follows:

On page 72, in line 7, after the word "survey," insert the following: "Preparation for and the consideration of river and harbor estimates and bills."

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. SMALL] asks unanimous consent to return to page 72 for the purpose of offering the amendment which has just been reported.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I have no doubt this amendment is all right.

Mr. FOSTER. I should like to reserve the right to object until I hear the gentleman's statement.

Mr. MANN. This is what we discussed a while ago.

Mr. SMALL. Mr. Chairman, by a paragraph of the bill on page 72 it is proposed to repeal section 10 of the river and harbor act of 1912 because of the indefiniteness of it, and because there was no limit upon the amount which might be expended. This amendment which I have offered gives to the Chief of Engineers the right to employ clerical help in the emergencies referred to in the original section of the river and harbor act sought to be repealed and removes the objectionable features, and is a satisfactory provision.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. SMALL]?

There was no objection.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will now report the amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

On page 72, in line 7, after the word "survey," insert "preparation for and reconsideration of river and harbor estimates and bills."

Mr. MANN. The word "and" should be inserted before the word "preparation."

Mr. SMALL. I ask unanimous consent to insert the word "and," before the word "preparation," in the amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection?

There was no objection.

The amendment was agreed to.

The Clerk read as follows:

For per diem in lieu of subsistence of two special inspectors, Department of the Interior, while traveling on duty, at a rate to be fixed by the Secretary of the Interior, not exceeding $4 per day, and for actual necessary expenses of transportation (including temporary employment of stenographers, typewriters, and other assistance outside of the District of Columbia, and for incidental expenditures necessary to the efficient conduct of examinations), to be expended under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior, $4,500.

Mr. COX of Indiana. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike out the last word. I would like to inquire of the gentleman in charge of the bill about this item of inspectors at $4 a day. In one place in the bill I notice that the per diem is $3 a day and in another place $4 a day. I would like to inquire as to the reason for this difference.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. There are some Government employees who are allowed $3 a day and others allowed $4 a day. Those that are allowed $3 are the inspectors who are out in the country, where their expenses are less than in the cities at expensive hotels.

Mr. COX of Indiana. As I understand, in the bill under consideration some are allowed $3 a day and others $4 a day.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Yes; and for that reason.

Mr. COX of Indiana. I would like to inquire further whether or not it is not the custom of the department in the Assistant Attorney General's Department to allow the full $4 a day?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I think they do allow the full amount.

Mr. COX of Indiana. Does not the gentleman feel that it would be just and proper to put all the per diem employees on the same basis?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. No; as I stated a moment ago, the distinction is brought about by reason of the difference in the circumstances. If a man is required to go on Government business to large cities where hotels are expensive, he is put to more expense than when he is traveling in the country, where the people are hospitable and the expenses are smaller.

Mr. COX of Indiana. I want to state to the gentleman that a few years ago the post-office inspectors were allowed $4 per day, and they used the same argument, but finally the House came to the conclusion that $4 a day was too much, and they reduced it to $3 per day. I do not remember the exact amount of the saving that it brought to the Government, but it was something like $40,000 or $50,000 a year. I am disposed to believe that $3 a day is a plenty, and I believe they all ought to be treated alike. I can not see the justice of allowing one set of men $3 a day and another set $4 a day, because I recognize that they can conjure up some sort of argument to justify the $4 a day rate.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I have stated to the gentleman the reason why some get $4 a day and some $3 a day. It was thought that those in the country had less expense than those who have their work in the cities.

Mr. COX of Indiana. Where do these men travel, as a rule, who are provided for in the Assistant Attorney General's office? What are their duties?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. There is nothing of that sort in that office. The people the gentleman speaks of are under the Secretary of the Interior himself.

Mr. COX of Indiana. That is right; I was looking at the wrong paragraph. Where do the inspectors in the Interior Department usually travel?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. They travel in all public-land States.

Mr. COX of Indiana. That is altogether in the western part of the country?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Yes; the land offices where they are required to go are located in the cities.

Mr. COX of Indiana. I understand that, but all the land offices are not located in large cities.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. No; but they are all located in cities.

Mr. COX of Indiana. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to withdraw my pro forma amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Indiana withdraws his pro forma amendment.

Mr. COX of Indiana. Now, Mr. Chairman, I move to strike out, in line 23, page 92, the figure "4" and insert in lieu thereof the figure "3," so that it will read "$3 per day."

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will report the amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

In line 23, page 92, strike out the figure "4" and insert the figure "3," so that it will read "$3 per day."

Mr. COX of Indiana. Mr. Chairman, I do not wish to be parsimonious, but I think $3 a day for these men is plenty. I realize that an argument can be made to justify it on different grounds, but at the same time I do not believe it is needed. I believe the economy which will be brought about as a result would be just, wise, and equitable to the people of this country, and I think that the amendment I have offered ought to obtain.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, these inspectors are in the land offices in public-land States. Their business takes them to Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, and a large part of their time they are obliged to travel from one city to another, living in Pullman cars, and it has not been very long since that item was increased from $3 to $4 a day because it was impossible for them to subsist on $3 a day.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Indiana.

The question was taken, and the amendment was lost.

The Clerk read as follows:

Hereafter the right of review by the Secretary of the Interior of the action of the Commissioner of Pensions in relation to claims for Army and Navy pensions, or in relation to the payment of Army and Navy pensions, shall be limited and confined to questions of law.

Mr. FOSTER. Mr. Chairman, I reserve a point of order on the paragraph. I observe this limits the appeal to the Assistant Secretary of the Interior to matters of law and prevents him from going any further in settling an appeal in a pension claim.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, the Commissioner of Pensions states that only 2 per cent of all the cases appealed are reversed on questions either of law or fact. He believes that the force in the Pension Office is better qualified to pass upon the facts in an application for pension than probably any other force that could be gotten together. There is no reason why there should be appeals upon questions of fact. The Commissioner of Pensions is deeply interested in this subject, is familiar with all the work in the Pension Office, having risen from a subordinate position to the head of the bureau, and he thinks no appeals should be allowed on questions of fact.

Mr. FOSTER. Mr. Chairman, I have very high regard for the honesty and integrity and ability of Mr. Davenport, the Commissioner of Pensions, and believe that his duties are discharged in a satisfactory way so far as he is able to oversee that work, but it has occurred to me that since they have in the department a law division as well as a medical division there is no reason why questions of law should be considered on appeal any more than medical questions, as well as questions of fact. For instance, a local medical board examines a pensioner, and that board gives him a certain rating, which is provided for in the law as a part of their duty. That finding goes to the medical board in the Pension Office. That board passes upon the case of the pensioner, and in doing so may determine from the report of the local board that examined the pensioner that he is not entitled to the amount that is recommended by the board at home, in the community where the pensioner resides. I may be wrong, but it occurs to me that on an appeal on a question of that kind the pensioner ought to have the right to have his case reviewed so far as those facts are concerned as well as on the questions of law.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The gentleman from Illinois understands that the men in the Pension Office have had years of experience and training in passing upon questions of fact of that nature, and he will understand that when an appeal is taken to the Secretary of the Interior the men who constitute the appellate court, so to speak, are lawyers, and, while quite familiar with the law, have no special fitness for passing on facts in a pension case.

Mr. FOSTER. I would suggest that if that appeal board is composed entirely of lawyers, then the board ought to be changed. There ought to be others on the board who would be able to judge more particularly of medical facts as well as matters of law.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I am told they have a medical expert as well.

Mr. COX of Indiana. Does the Secretary of the Interior recommend this legislation also?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I do not know what his views on that question are. I have stated the views of the Commissioner of Pensions.

Mr. FOSTER. It has occurred to me that the pensioner should have a right to have his case on appeal reviewed as to matters of fact. If you are going to say that the men in the Pension Bureau are more able to judge of a pension case, then why have any appeal at all? Or if he has a right to have an appeal, why not let that appeal consider all the surroundings of that particular case?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The gentleman will understand that these questions have been settled so often that there are very few appeals necessary now. Under recent legislation the difficulty of the Pension Office is a mere matter of calculating how long a soldier has served. It depends upon how long he was in the service as well as upon the question of disability.

Mr. FOSTER. I do not agree with the gentleman on that point at all, because under the pension law lately passed in one clause there is a provision for $30 a month when the pensioner is able to show by medical evidence that the disease or wounds contracted in the service are such as to prevent him from performing manual labor, regardless of age or time he served. In that case, if he is 65 years of age and served nine months or a year, then the question is whether he is entitled to $30 a month under the provisions of that law, and it seems to me if he is dissatisfied with the action of the Pension Commissioner that he should have a right to appeal his case to the Assistant Secretary of the Interior, if we are going to have any appeal at all.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I will say, Mr. Chairman, that this is legislation and is subject to a point of order.

Mr. FOSTER. I have read the hearings and know what Mr. Davenport said.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I have great confidence in the Commissioner of Pensions, and I think his judgment is of great value, and I would as soon follow him as anybody I know.

Mr. FOSTER. I will say to the gentleman from South Carolina I believe I have as much confidence in the Commissioner of Pensions as he has, and I have a very high regard for his honesty, integrity, and his judgment, and yet I submit I might have an opinion of my own in reference to this matter which would vary with the Commissioner of Pensions without doubting his ability, his honesty, or his integrity.

The CHAIRMAN. Does the gentleman from Illinois withdraw the point of order?

Mr. FOSTER. No; I insist on the point of order.

The CHAIRMAN. The point of order is sustained, and the Clerk will read.

The Clerk read as follows:

For per diem, when absent from home and traveling on duty outside the District of Columbia, for special examiners or other persons employed in the Bureau of Pensions detailed for the purpose of making special investigations pertaining to said bureau, in lieu of expenses for subsistence, not exceeding $3 per day, and for actual and other necessary expenses, including telegrams, $215,000.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike out the last word. May I ask the gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. JOHNSON], in reference to the disbursing clerk's office which pays pensions, how the cost of that compares with the present cost of paying pensions? Also as to what is to become of the clerks in the various pension agencies? Then I would also like to know, if I may, whether this provision about filling vacancies only to the extent of 25 per cent will not injuriously affect the disbursing clerk's office.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, in reply to the several questions of the gentleman from Illinois I will say that the disbursing clerk provided for here is provided for in the law that abolished the pension agencies throughout the country.

Mr. MANN. Yes; I am familiar with that. What is the cost proposed for paying pensions under the consolidated office here and the present cost of paying pensions through the various pension agencies?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The difference is $131,100.

Mr. MANN. More?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. It will be that much less under the new arrangement.

Mr. MANN. That is, it is that much more now than under the new arrangement?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Yes. Now, in answer to the question as to what becomes of the clerks who were in the various pension agencies throughout the country, it is provided that they shall be transferred to the office at Washington. There are 300 of them. Some of them do not care to come to Washington. We have provided for the number that the Commissioner of Pensions believes that he will need and all that he believes will come to Washington.

Mr. MANN. Well, can they be transferred to Washington?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Yes; the law specifically provides for that, as I understand.

Mr. MANN. The law we passed last session does the gentleman mean?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. They are in the classified service, and they will be transferred under the rules for transferring employees from one place to another. The reason for putting in the clause that only 25 per cent of the vacancies shall be filled is this: There has been for many years in the appropriation bill language to the effect that none of the vacancies in the Pension Office shall be filled, because the work was growing rapidly less. Under the recent legislation increasing pensions it was necessary to increase the force. The commissioner thought, therefore, it would be better not to allow all vacancies to remain, but to allow him to fill 25 per cent in order that there may be no difficulty in having sufficient force.

Mr. MANN. Of course there will not be any less work probably on the disbursing clerk's office. Is it contemplated, then, that the places of clerks dropped out of the disbursing clerk's office shall be filled by transferring them from the general Pension Office?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I beg the gentleman's pardon.

Mr. MANN. The work of the disbursing clerk's office is not likely to decrease very rapidly or for some time. Is it contemplated that as clerks drop out their places will be filled by transferring from other portions of the Pension Office?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The gentleman understands there are 250 people who will be brought here from the agencies throughout the country, and that those gentlemen primarily will work in the disbursing clerk's office, but it was thought that probably the disbursing would not require the full time of all of these people, and we inserted a provision in the bill that when not engaged in that work they might be employed upon the general work of the office. It is not thought that the provision that only 25 per cent of the vacancies shall be filled during the next fiscal year will embarrass the Pension Office in any way whatever. I would call to the gentleman's attention page 197 of the hearings, where the following occurred:

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Is it proposed, Mr. Davenport, to bring from the pension agencies to Washington clerks who are now employed in those agencies if they desire to come?

Mr. DAVENPORT. All that desire to come and are efficient. There are some very old clerks we would not think of bringing here.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. What proportion of the clerks in the agencies do you anticipate will come to Washington, or have you any data that would enable you to state it?

Mr. DAVENPORT. More will come than are appropriated for.

I thought he said 250.

The CHAIRMAN. Does the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. MANN] reserve a point of order?

Mr. MANN. No; I do not. I was trying to eliminate the word "dollars" from the bill. I am not quite through yet, unless my time has expired. May I ask the gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. JOHNSON] what information he has?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. If there is any danger of the force in the disbursing office being impaired by reason of that clause of the bill, I am willing to transpose lines 13 to 21, so as to precede the disbursing clerk's section, and let it apply to the other portion of the force only.

Mr. MANN. And insert the word "above."

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent at the end of line 3, page 97, to insert the language beginning on line 13, page 97, and ending on line 21, page 97, as an amendment.

Mr. MANN. And insert after the word "herein," at the end of line 15, the word "above."

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. And insert after the word "herein," at the end of line 15, the word "above."

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. JOHNSON] asks unanimous consent to return to page 97 and offer an amendment, which the Clerk will report.

The Clerk read as follows:

Page 97, after line 13, insert the following:

"During the fiscal year 1914 not more than 25 per cent of the vacancies occurring in the classified service of the Bureau of Pensions herein above provided for shall be filled except by promotion or demotion from among those in the classified service in said bureau. And the salaries or compensation of all places which may not be filled as herein above provided for shall not be available for expenditure, but shall lapse and shall be covered into the Treasury."

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection? [After a pause.] The Chair hears none. The question now is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. JOHNSON].

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Now, on page 97, beginning with line 13, I move to strike out down to and including line 21.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from South Carolina offers an amendment, which the Clerk will report.

The Clerk read as follows:

Page 97, strike out all of lines 13 to 21, inclusive.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

The Clerk read as follows:

For necessary traveling expenses of the commissioner in studying educational systems, visiting educational institutions, and attending meetings of educational associations, societies, and other organizations for the purpose of collecting and disseminating information respecting educational conditions, $1,500.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Chairman—

Mr. FOSTER. Mr. Chairman, I reserve a point of order on this paragraph. I would like some information. I refer to the top of the first paragraph on page 101.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The Commissioner of Education desired the committee to give him $20,000 for the purpose of paying the traveling expenses of himself and his experts throughout the country. It is necessary that the Commissioner of Education and those representing him should do some traveling, and we allowed $1,500 for that purpose. There is legislation pending in both branches of Congress which would probably largely increase the activities of that bureau, and we did not feel disposed to anticipate the action of Congress.

Mr. FOSTER. The gentleman's committee was very kind in giving him one-twentieth of what he asked.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Fifteen hundred dollars is more than one-twentieth of what he asked.

Mr. FOSTER. Well, it seems to me if we start on this sort of work there will be no end to the amount of traveling the Commissioner of Education will do over the United States.

Mr. BYRNS of Tennessee. This limits him.

Mr. FOSTER. But it limits him and those under him to the extent of $1,500. He does not have any agricultural colleges to visit. I believe I shall insist on the point of order.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. It is subject to a point of order.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Illinois [Mr. FOSTER] makes a point of order, page 101, lines 1 to 6, inclusive. The point of order is sustained. The Clerk will proceed with the reading of the bill.

The Clerk read as follows:

Postal Savings System: For the following, now authorized and being paid from a general appropriation: Director, $5,000; assistant director, $3,000; 2 chiefs of division, at $2,500 each; 2 assistant chiefs of division, at $2,000 each; clerks—10 of class 4, 15 of class 3, 25 of class 2, 50 of class 1, 50 at $1,000 each, 20 at $900 each; 2 messengers; 4 assistant messengers; 3 laborers; 3 pages at $480 each; in all, $229,980.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Chairman, I raise a point of order on that paragraph.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Illinois [Mr. MANN] raises a point of order on that paragraph.

Mr. MANN. I notice, Mr. Chairman, as to the postal-savings banks, that there is provided a specific salary for the director at $5,000, which may or may not be too much. It may be too little, for all I know. But it is the only $5,000 position in the Post Office Department, I believe, where the incumbent is not an assistant to the Postmaster General. I suppose this office is under one of the Assistant Postmasters General.

Wherever they create an office and pay its employees out of a lump sum they usually pay much higher salaries than anywhere else in the department. In this case the office was payable out of a lump-sum appropriation, and the salary of the director was fixed at $5,000. A $5,000 salary for this office is not at all on a plane with the other salaries in the Post Office Department, either of those superior to this office or on an equality with this office or inferior to this office. The purchasing agent of the Post Office Department is fully as important as the director of the postal-savings banks. There are many other places in the Post Office Department that are equally important. I suppose the committee did not care to assume the responsibility of changing the salary and so took it the way it was.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The gentleman from Illinois has already stated that when the postal-savings law was passed a lump-sum appropriation was made to carry on the work. Under that lump-sum appropriation this division was created by the Postmaster General, who fixed the salaries.

The salary of the director was placed at $5,000. In order that this committee might know the number of people employed and the salaries paid, we directed that they should furnish us with a list of the employees and of the salaries, and that they should be carried hereafter on the statutory roll. In accordance with that law they made their estimates this year. We took the force they had, and we did not feel justified in changing this salary, because while it looks as though $5,000 is a large sum for the head of a division, we realize that the deposits now amount to $28,000,000, I believe, and they will grow from year to year.

Mr. MANN. Well, that is probably true. A big man ought to be at the head of every division. In the Division of Money Orders the superintendent gets a salary of $3,500 a year. I believe the money orders amount to several hundred million dollars a year—close to a billion dollars a year. I do not know whether this salary is too small or whether the duties are much more onerous with reference to the director of the postal savings banks. I do not say that the salary of $5,000 is too much, but it is too much in proportion to the other salaries that are paid in the Post Office Department.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. If it is, it simply demonstrates what some of us have all along believed, that lump-sum appropriations ought not to be made, but that the employees ought to be provided for specifically, as we try to do in this bill.

Mr. MANN. Yes; but it is inevitable to make lump-sum appropriations under certain circumstances, like those surrounding the postal savings-bank establishment. Then the question is, when the matter comes to be fixed by Congress, what Congress will do, because Congress is not bound by what the department does in regard to it.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will read.

The Clerk read as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike out the last word. I notice that the examiners in the Division of Investigation have been reduced. That is the division, I believe, that does the secret-service work.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. It is simply a transposition. There is no change. The Department of Justice made no request for any increases or decreases. They simply have current law, and wherever it appears that any change is made it is due to the fact that somebody has been transferred.

Mr. MANN. Where has this item been transferred to?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. We put them in the Division of Accounts, because the last legislative bill provided that in the Division of Accounts an administrative audit should take place.

Mr. MANN. You have transferred an examiner at $2,500 to the Division of Accounts, with three clerks?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Yes.

Mr. MANN. I would not desire to have the Division of Investigation unduly interfered with, because I noted the other day, with considerable interest and some pride, that under the so-called Mann white-slave act there had already been 335 convictions.

If there is anybody on earth who deserves to receive a penitentiary sentence it is some designing chap who has monkeyed with the buzz saw and violated that white-slave law.

The CHAIRMAN. The clerk will read.

The Clerk read as follows:

To enable the Secretary of Commerce and Labor to provide and pay for the medical examination of employees of the United States receiving compensation for injuries under the provisions of the act of May 30, 1908, as directed by section 5 of said act, and for clerical assistance in its administration, and for subsistence, transportation, and traveling expenses of officers and employees of the Bureau of Labor while traveling on duty away from their homes and outside of the District of Columbia while engaged in the investigation of claims arising under the provisions of said act, $3,000.

Mr. COX of Indiana. Mr. Chairman, I desire to inquire of the gentleman in charge of the bill whether or not there is any schedule of fees fixed by the department for the payment of these doctors?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. No, sir; I do not think so; but it was thought that under certain circumstances it was best that a medical examination should be made promptly, and we allowed the small sum of $3,000 for that purpose.

Mr. COX of Indiana. Was this item carried in last year's bill?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Yes.

Mr. COX of Indiana. What I wish to know is if there is any schedule of fees regularly fixed for the payment of physicians when they make these examinations?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. No; not so far as I know.

Mr. COX of Indiana. Can the gentleman tell how they are paid, how the amount is arrived at?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The doctors make the examination and make their charges.

Mr. COX of Indiana. How much was appropriated last year?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Three thousand dollars.

Mr. COX of Indiana. Was the entire sum used last year?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I do not know whether there was any of it turned back into the Treasury or not. Last year we asked for all of these items, but this year we have not received them. I will say to the gentleman that we had to make up this bill before many of the reports required by law to come to Congress had been printed.

Mr. COX of Indiana. I am not criticizing the gentleman's bill. On the contrary, I am commending it.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. When we made up this bill last year we knew in every case whether all of an appropriation had been used or any of it had been turned back into the Treasury, but we do not know this year.

Mr. COX of Indiana. Does the gentleman know how much of the appropriation for this fiscal year has been used up to this time?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Only between $200 and $300 of the $3,000 has been used up to this time, and they have paid out under that law approximately a million of dollars for injuries.

Mr. COX of Indiana. I withdraw the pro forma amendment.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike out the last word for the purpose of making an inquiry. I desire to ask the gentleman in charge of the bill whether it is the object of these medical examiners to get information concerning these injuries for the purpose of relieving the injured, or is it for the purpose of aiding the Government?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. The purpose is to ascertain the facts, so as to determine whether or not the Government is liable under the law.

Mr. FOWLER. Without any reference to relief for the injured?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. We have provided by law for relief to the injured, and this medical examination is to determine our liability and the extent of it.

Mr. FOWLER. But not for the immediate or temporary relief of the injured.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. No; because we have no doctor right on the spot.

Mr. FOWLER. I desire to say to the gentleman that I am asking for information. I desire to know if the medical examiner, in going to visit the injured person, does so for the purpose of examining him so as to give him medical relief?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Oh, no. There are only two men employed under this appropriation. Where the department, for reasons satisfactory to itself, wants some additional information besides what it has, and believes there ought to be some investigation made, one of these doctors is sent to investigate the particular case, and this $3,000 is appropriated for that purpose. A very small part of it has been used so far during the present fiscal year, but it may be needed.

Mr. FOWLER. Do these examiners go to every injured person or only in special instances where they are directed by the department to go?

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. I think they go only where they are directed by the department.

Mr. FOWLER. I thank the gentleman for the information.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike out the last word. I fear the gentleman in charge of the bill, the gentleman from South Carolina, has not kept track of the calendar. I would like to suggest to him that this is the seventh day of the week, and that we have been in session quite continuously all of these days, working hard. I think for the first time in my recollection we really began to work on the second day of the session and kept it up until nearly 6 o'clock at night. In other words, this is Saturday evening, and there is no quorum here.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Well, Mr. Chairman, I am at the mercy of the gentleman.

Mr. MANN. I do not think we can get through with this bill to-night. I think in justice to the Members of the House that the gentleman in charge of the bill who always wants to get through ought to be willing to waive his personal convenience in the interest of the rest of the Members. Last night we worked until after 5 o'clock, although it was understood that we would quit at 5. We can not finish the bill to-night anyway.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Chairman, of course it is perfectly obvious that no quorum is present, and while I was anxious to complete this bill this afternoon, it seems impossible, under the circumstances, to do it, and I now move that the committee rise.

The motion was agreed to; accordingly the committee rose, and the Speaker having resumed the chair, Mr. GARNER, Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, reported that that committee had had under consideration the bill (H. R. 26680) making appropriations for the legislative, executive, and judicial expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914, and for other purposes, and had come to no resolution thereon.

MEMORIAL TO THOMAS JEFFERSON.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has received a letter of great interest to the House, and does not know what to do with it, except to have it read and referred to a committee. Without objection, the Clerk will read the communication.

The Clerk read as follows:

DECEMBER 5, 1912.

The SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

SIR: With the approval of Congress conferred by the sundry civil act of March 4, 1909, the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Co. has erected upon the World's Fair site at a cost of $450,000 a memorial to Thomas Jefferson in commemoration of the acquisition of the Louisiana Territory. The statue of Jefferson will be unveiled and the memorial structure will be dedicated on the one hundred and tenth anniversary of the signing of the Louisiana purchase treaty, the 30th of April, 1913. The trustees respectfully request the presence and participation of a committee of the House of Representatives.

Respectfully,

DAVID R. FRANCIS, President.

The letter was referred to the Committee on Industrial Arts and Expositions.

INDIAN APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. STEPHENS of Texas, chairman of the Committee on Indian Affairs, by direction of that committee, reported the bill (H. R. 26874) making appropriation for the current and contingent expenses of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, for fulfilling treaty stipulations with various Indian tribes, and for other purposes, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914, which, with accompanying papers, was ordered printed and referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union. (H. Rept. 1265.)

Mr. MANN reserved all points of order on the bill.

Mr. STEPHENS of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I desire to give notice that I will call up this bill immediately after the disposition of the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill.

Mr. MANN. Will the gentleman from Texas state whether any arrangement has been made with reference to calling up the contested-election case next Tuesday? The gentleman from Ohio gave notice that he would call up a contested-election case on that day.

Mr. STEPHENS of Texas. I was not aware of that.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will inquire if any arrangement has been made about debate?

Mr. STEPHENS of Texas. None whatever.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I now move that the House adjourn.

The motion was agreed to; accordingly (at 4 o'clock and 33 minutes p. m.) the House adjourned until Monday, December 9, 1912, at 12 o'clock noon.
